CANVASSING THE COUNT

The Board of Supervisors Handles the Election Returns.

SLIGHT CHANGES ARE MADE.

Increased Majorities Show Up for Some Candidates.

MANY POLITICIANS ON HAND.

The Proceedings Are Being Watched With Much Interest.

The canvassing of the election returns by the Board of Supervisors today was a notable event and attracted a large throng.

Among the politicians present were Frank Leavitt, Thomas Wells, Con Brosnahan, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, Leo Park, Rod Church, Charles Roeth, Thomas F Garrity, J. J. McDonald, James McManus, T. W. Harris, N. J. Manson, J. H W. Riley.

Attorney Garrity represented the interests of Wells, and was on hand in case of a possible contest.

County Clerk Jordan was assisted by his deputies who were John Cook, and Charles Arnold. The District Attorney's office was represented by District Attorney Snook and Deputy Lin Church. Joseph Racine, upheld the dignity of the Sheriff's office and a number of the politicians had representatives on hand.

Supervisor Church was named to occupy the chair and he took the stand by the side of Supervisors Pelouze, Johnson, Con Brosnahan for the Democratic Committee, Rod Church for the Republican Committee and W. J. Manson for the Populists.

THE CABLE CONFERENCE.

Meeting of the Delegates at the Colonial Office.

The Earl of Selborne Entertaining the Host of Visitors.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

(Copyright 1896 by Associated Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Pacific Cable Conference resumed its sessions at noon today in the rooms of the Earl of Selborne, Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Colonies, at the Colonial Office.

The Earl of Selborne presided.

W. Hepworth Mercer acted as Secretary.

All the delegates were present.

After an hour and a half of informal chat, during which the routine of the subject and the order of witnesses were discussed, it was decided to begin with technical questions.

The first regular working session will take place Thursday evening next.

The Earl of Selborne will entertain the delegates at dinner.

Secretary Mercer said to a representative of the Associated Press: "The conference will now get to work in earnest.

"Two meetings have already been held, one in June and one in July last.

"At the June meeting, it was found difficult to arrange for immediate subsequent sittings, owing to the Australian delegates being obliged to go to Buda Pest to attend Congress.

"At the July session, a change of Government having taken place in Canada, the Canadian delegates felt some delicacy about going ahead until the attitude of the new Canadian Ministry was ascertained. This necessitated an adjournment until autumn.

"These two meetings were little more than formal. Still, matters were gone into and considerable ground cleared.

"It is not, however, permitted to say just what took place, as the Government cannot, of course, make any public statement until the conference is over and the results arrived at communicated to the Government colonies interested."

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Frank A. Leach Says He Has No Desire to Be Postmaster.

The following statement has been made by F. A. Leach of the Enquirer regarding the rumors of his candidacy for the post office:

"Enterprising journalists who are announcing the disposition of all the Federal offices would do well to remember that some of them will not be vacant for a long time yet. The postmaster of Oakland has two years or more to serve, and, as McKinley's is to be a civil service reform administration, Mr. White will not be disturbed till the end of his term. Six years ago the appointment to the Oakland postoffice was offered, absolutely and without qualification to Frank A. Leach, and he declined it because he thought that newspaper publishing and Federal office-holding did not go well together. And he does not want a post office any more now than he did six years ago."

TAKEN BY TSCHICH.

A Remarkable Turn Taken About the Otten Child.

MUCH TROUBLE IS AHEAD.

The Courts Are Inclined to Frown Down His Claim.

A SCANDAL IS REVIVED.

It Looks as If a Play Is Being Made for Money.

The infant child of Peter Otten, deceased, is having a stormy time early in life and this is the case simply because its father happened, when he died to have acquired about $5,000.

The fight over this waif has, on several occasions been conducted in Judge Greene's court and the matter came up there today and was continued until January, because a new phase had been interjected into the matter. It was the announcement that a man named Tschich of Alameda had adopted the child.

This is the second time that the little one has been adopted, its first foster parent being a Mrs Baumer, a boarding house keeper in San Francisco. As soon as Mrs. Baumer adopted the child she sent her son to George W. Reed, the father's attorney in this city, with a request that he turn over to her the $5,000 which it is said is comprised in Otten's estate.

As the estate has not yet been administered upon, Mr Reed declined to comply with the cheerful request of the self-sacrificing foster mother. Mr. Reed further told Mrs. Baumer's representative that she was not entitled to the money simply because she had adopted the child She would have to be appointed guardian of the little one, he said, before she could be entitled to handle any of the money.

Accordingly Mrs Baumer filed herself to Judge Wallace's court in San Francisco to be appointed the child's guardian

Judge Wallace learned that the case had an arm in the courts of this county and threw the matter out of his department until it should first have been disposed of by Judge Greene.

Now that Tschich has adopted the child, the result of that act will be awaited with interest, especially when the matter comes up before Judge Greene.

Tschich will most likely receive a considerable amount of his honor's attention, because, in taking hold of Otten's child he is doing what Judge Greene has declared he would not do and was not fit to do for his own children.

The inquiry into Tschich's case which was made by Judge Greene was at the instance of Mrs. Prescott of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Mrs. Prescott found Mrs. Tschich living in almost bestial squalor on lower Broadway. She had with her her two children and the infant child of Otten of which she was the mother, although she had not been married to its father. The child had been born to her after she had been deserted by her husband Mrs Tschich said that her husband had not contributed to her support and she was unable to provide for her children in any more satisfactory manner than that in which she was found by Mrs Prescott.

Tschich testified that he had $700 in bank and that he was engaged in the lock business in Alameda.

Judge Greene scored him for his neglect of his wife and children and said he was unfit to have children. He also said that he would place the children under the guardianship of Mrs. Prescott and that Tschich would be obliged to pay for their care.

Mrs. Prescott has since discovered that Tschich had $1,100 instead of $700 in bank and that he has diverted it in such a manner that she can get none of it to pay for the support of Tschich's children.

Mrs. Prescott is satisfied that Tschich's motive in adopting the Otten child has a golden tint to it and it is not likely that when he fails to care for his own children he will be allowed to care for the children of others.

AN EXCITING BLAZE.

Stores Are Burned and Asylum Patients in a Panic.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 9—At Spencer, West Virginia, last night, thirty-nine stores and houses were burned.

The fire started over Simmons & Co's general store and swept along the main business street.

People were thrown in a panic.

The fire started at 11.04 last night and and burned until late this morning.

The loss is estimated at $200,000.

The asylum building being across the creek was out of danger, but the fire could be seen by the inmates and the attendants had their hands full controlling the patients who were error-stricken.

THE HARBOR WORK

A Special Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow in Alameda.

Joseph F. Forderer, John T. McLean and William R Poyzer, the Alameda Committee on Harbor Matters, have called a meeting for tomorrow evening in the Alameda City Hall. The citizens of Alameda, East Oakland, Fruitvale and San Leandro have been invited to be present.

The object of the meeting is to discuss harbor improvements and take some action in regard to the improvement in accordance with the original plan, which includes the completion of the tidal canal.

A GLUT OF GOLD.

Eastern Banks Feeling the Effect of Restored Confidence.

THE TREASURY SAFE NOW.

Specie Payments Are to Be Resumed by the Financiers.

THE OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING.

McKinley's Election Has Had a Wonderful Effect Already.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The banks are contemplating the resumption of the specie payments which they suspended in February, 1892, by refusing to supply gold for export and for the payment of Government dues.

That action threw the burden of supplying gold upon the Treasury, and eventually forced the issue of bonds by the Government which aroused so much complaint.

Since election the metal has been coming into the banks in such a flood that they see the way clear to what can be termed a resumption of specie payments.

By this action of the banks, gold will be put into circulation and no reason whatever will exist for hoarding it.

They will also resume the task of supplying gold for export and thus relieve the Treasury of the great strain.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The initial prices on Wall street were irregular, changes were slight, aside from Bay State Gas which advanced 1½ per cent. Trading was in large volume and the market displayed a sagging tendency.

An easier tone was imparted by further advances of foreign exchange quotations in which posted rates were marked up half a cent.

The market at 11 displayed an aggressive strength under the leadership of coalers.

The improvement in the financial and business situation encouraged operations for long account, aided by the expectations that the New York City loan of $16,000,000 will be largely over-subscribed.

Realizations with a drive against some specialties, resulted in general concessions after 11 o'clock. Sugar was the most conspicuous. The general market was unfavorably affected by the decided strength of foreign exchange, the rates being further advanced, some drawers asking 4 and 6 1-4 for demand sterling. Posted quotations also stiffened to 483½ and 487 for long and short bills.

The continued ease of money facilitating large remittances to Europe in the settlement of mercantile obligations and for our stocks and bonds recently bought abroad, together with heavy covering in exchange and payments by gold importers, cause a firmness in the exchange. There were large transactions of hitherto neglected shares.

Toward midday a better tone developed. Manhattan rose 3 per cent to 102 1-4, railway bonds continued to improve.

Atchison, Colorado and Pacific firsts rose 6 1-2 to 55 1-2.

Silver is 65 and lead $2.60.

ALL FAIR AND SQUARE.

Supervisor-Elect Wells Talks About the Count at Pleasanton.

Tom Wells of Dublin, who possesses the distinction of being the only Democrat in Alameda County who achieved victory on Tuesday last, is in town today watching the canvassing of the votes. Mr. Wells was, by the unofficial returns elected Supervisor in the First District by forty votes over the Republican candidate, F. C. Jarvis, of Newark, and there have been rumors of a contest principally on the ground that in Pleasanton No. 2 Jarvis received only twenty-two votes while the Republican strength there was over 100.

"I can account for that easily," said Mr. Wells to a Tribune man today. "Pleasanton No. 2 is practically my home precinct, being only six miles from where I live at Dublin. I did not get many votes in the precinct where Mr. Jarvis lives and I don't think he ought to be surprised at not getting many where I live. I have been told that the count was absolutely correct and straightforward in every way and I want to say right here that if I couldn't get an office honestly, squarely and like a man I wouldn't take it at all. Mr. Downing, who was present at the count as one of the officials, tells me that every vote went in just as it appeared and as there were Republican officials on the board as well as Democratic, I don't see how anything unfair could have been effected in the manner charged."

GET THE QUESTIONS.

How Frauds Are Perpetrated in the New York Police.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Frauds in the examination of applicants for the police force are alleged to have been discovered which may affect many persons connected with the civil service branch of the department.

For months it had been noted that men below average intelligence successfully passed the examination, while their superiors in education failed to obtain the required percentage in rating.

The fact led to an investigation, which showed that many of those taking examinations were supplied beforehand with a list of the questions to be asked them.

They are said to have paid $300 each for this list.

A POPULAR SELECTION.

The New Lord Mayor of London Is Formally Installed.

A Magnificent Procession Through the Heart of the City.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Associated Press.)

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In bright, crisp weather today the time-honored "Lord Mayor's Show" took place.

The new Lord Mayor of London, Mr. Faudel-Phillips, was formally installed in office, succeeding Sir Walter Wilkins.

The established custom showed a little sign of becoming obsolete and owing to the popularity of the new Lord Mayor and some unusual features of the street parade, the occasion was the most interesting in recent years.

The committee having charge of the arrangements wisely determined to eliminate certain absurd features from the parade.

In place of the triumphal cars representing some allegorical or historical subject upon which numerous young women shivered in the November wind, the cars were occupied by groups showing various conditions of London's industry during the last century.

The procession started from Guild Hall at 10:30 A. M.

Along the route the usual bunting and decorations were displayed, being particularly noticeable on Cheapside and Newgate street.

A new particularly pleasing feature of the parade was the maids of honor who accompanied the lady Mayoress. The ladies who officiated in this capacity were Misses Faudel-Phillips, Stella Faudel-Phillips, Wingfield, Churchill, Walrond, Fitz-George, Evan and Walter. For the first time in history these parades of the maids were attended by groomsmen.

Another feature of the procession was the military display. The Scots Greys furnished the escort.

Several lines of regiments also marched. The boys of the ships Arethusia, Chichester and Warsprite attracted much attention and were supplemented by a division of the Gordon Boys' Orphanage.

The fire brigade also made an interesting showing.

The advance which has been made in locomotion during the century was demonstrated by one of the most perfect motor cars in contrast to the old style, each equipped with coachman and attendants in old-fashioned liveries which followed.

The new Lord Mayor is the younger son of the late Sir Benjamin Samuel Phillips, who was alderman from 1857 to 1868, and who served as Lord Mayor in 1866.

He was born in 1840, succeeded his father as alderman in 1888, having three years previously filled the office of sheriff of London and Middlesex.

He has for three years been chairman of the special committee on corporations, appointed to defend the rights, privileges and existence of the city, under the present conditions.

He holds high decorations from Belgium, Servia, Persia and other countries.

He is the fourth Lord Mayor of the Jewish persuasion, his father having been the second.

Hungry Men Shot Down as They Skirmish for Food.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Wheat broke the record for the season this morning by selling at 80⅛ December, two cents over Saturday's close.

The advance was not attended by any great excitement

A few open orders to take profit on long stuff at an even figure brought only a temporary set-back.

Outside markets were particularly strong.

The visible report showed an increase of only 1,243,000 bushels.

The threatened crop damage in Argentine, doleful rumors of an unsatisfactory fall of seeding in Russia and France and large seaboard clearances were the chief factors which contributed to the success of the bulls.

Corn, oats and provisions participated in the advance proportionately.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Business at the Baltic in wheat opened steady and quiet. On Mark Lane wheat was firm, about 1s. 6d. higher than Friday.

Business at the Baltic closed very quiet, but holders adhered to opening prices.

The Mark Lane Express in a long article on crops says: "The deficiency in India is now known to be very serious, but it is not likely that large wheat imports will occur. Although the prices only range from 26s. to 36s. per quarter, the extreme poverty of the Indian populace renders anything over 30s. almost prohibitory, and 15s. to 25s. is the usual range

"Owing to the failure in India and Australia, a deficiency of 2,033,500 quarters has been created in Great Britain's usual supply, which must be made up from other sources and is a change in the situation which, itself, is sufficient to uphold the recent rise.

"The quantities of wheat in passage to the United Kingdom November 7th were 2,045,000 quarters, of which Russian wheat amounts to 400,000 quarters, North American 300 000, South American 100,000, Californian 1,220,000 and elsewhere 25,000."

Routine Matters Come Before the Board of Supervisors.

Preparations for a Bridge Across the Arroyo Valley Creek

The Board of Supervisors was called to order this morning at half-past 9 o'clock. Though the principal business of the meeting was to canvass the election returns, the customary audience was not in attendance Later, however, many of the interested ones dropped in

Before commencing the big task, some routine business was transacted

Supervisor Talcott asked that some action be taken in regard to Hopkins street, which is in a bad condition, owing to the lack of drains He asked authorization to go ahead and have drains put in and by a unanimous vote this was so ordered.

Bassett Bros asked for a slight amendment to their contract for building the bridge over Sausal Creek Supervisor Talcott was empowered to take charge of the matter

G F Hawk, Emeryville, applied for a permit to sell liquor and his bond was approved

Supervisor Pelouze reported that he had assisted 150 indigents during October at a cost of $264

Permits to obtain liquor licenses were given to J P Greer, Park street and Hollis avenue, Manuel Silva, Centerville, J. Dignier, San Pablo and Park avenues

J Reichert was granted a free peddler's license for six months upon the filing of a satisfactory petition.

Supervisor Johnston offered a resolution ordering the Clerk to advertise for bids for the construction of a brige across Arroyo Valle creek, at the intersection of the Wetmore and Crane properties

Supervisor Church wanted to have the character of the bridge specified and it was then decided to make it a combination of wood and iron.

Supervisor Talcott did not know whether the location was a good one, and to straighten matters out, Supervisor Church moved that the County Surveyor, acting in conjunction with the Supervisor of the district, find a suitable location for it This was adopted, though not by a unanimous vote The whole resolution was then laid on the table for one week.

The Board then started canvassing the returns.

THE "COTTAGE" IN COURT

Watson's Lessee Complains of the Way He Was Treated.

He Says the Liquor License Was Seized Contrary to Agreement.

An interesting case was taken under advisement by Judge Ellsworth this morning in which the resort near the Twelfth street dam, known as the Cottage Saloon, plays a prominent part

The plaintiff in the case is Fleury Gommet, and W M Watson the liquor dealer on Washington street, is the defendant

Gommet asserted that on the 21th of March of this year the defendant sold him the stock of liquors and cigars and all the fixtures of the place including as he alleged a liquor license of the City of Oakland, which he said had eleven months to run The price paid was $67 of which amount $500 was for the stock and fixtures and $100 was for the license Gommet further said that it was represented to him that he could conduct a liquor and restaurant business at the 'Cottage' and that he proceeded to do so until, on the 24 h of the following April he was compelled to desist selling liquors on the order of the Chief of Police on the ground that no license was in effect at the resort and the petitioner would not be granted a license by the Council.

Watson contended so far as the payment of $100 for the license was concerned, the only person authorized by law to receive such payment was the City Treasurer He also contended that he had nothing to do with the order of the Chief which closed up the saloon He also held that the plaintiff should have known that he could not run a saloon in this city without first procuring a license from the city authorities authorizing him to sell liquor

Gommet sued for $875 and Judge Ellsworth will determine as to whether or not the claim is a valid one.

FIGURED AT $1.10.

The City's Clerical Staff at Work on the Taxes

The City Assessor and Tax Collector have taken time by the forelock in the matter of taxes and figuring upon the $1 10 ordinance going through, despite the veto of the Mayor, which is being prepared today, will be ready by Wednesday morning to receive money and give receipts

For the past week the Assessor has had an extra force of clerks at work and all of his computations on the $1.10 rate were finished Saturday night The rolls were turned over to the Tax Collector this morning and an extra force is at work today making the extensions on the tax bills This will be completed tomorrow night.

The ordinance has been with the Mayor since Friday morning, but he did nothing with it until today. This makes it too late for a special meeting of the council to be called for this evening, but one will probably be summoned tomorrow night, at which time the measure will be acted upon.

Caused by Despondency.

The Coroner this morning summoned a jury and held an inquest on the remains of W. B. Payne, who hung himself to his baby's swing Saturday. No new facts were developed by the testimony and the jury found that death was intentional and caused by despondency brought about by business reverses.

STRIKERS ARE PARDONED.

President Cleveland Sends a Message About the A. R. U.

He Thinks a Forcible Lesson Has Been Given the Workmen.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov 9.—The President has pardoned W H Clune, Isaac Ross and Philip Stanwood of California sentenced December 6, 1896, to pay a fine of a dollar and be confined in Los Angeles county jail eighteen months for conspiracy, the offense being committed in the railway riots at that time general throughout the country.

The President wrote the following endorsement on the application. "These convicts have suffered more than nine months' imprisonment under their sentences I am bound to assume they were guilty of an offense most dangerous in its character and in the commission of which they aided and encouraged an unlawful defiance of authority which threatened most distressing consequences

"I am convinced however, that these men are not criminals, but laboring men swept into the violation of law by first listening to the counsels of disorder

"Others besides themselves are suffering humiliation and deprivation on account of their wrong doing, and I am led to believe the purposes of punishment, as far as the effect on the prisoners is concerned, have been fully accomplished.

"I am also convinced that the imprisonment already suffered by these prisoners will be an ample warning to thousands equally guilty though unpunished, and to those who may be hereafter tempted that laws enacted to insure peace and order must be obeyed."

A SAILOR RUN DOWN.

Gus Nelson of the Fishing Bark "Electra" is Injured.

He Was Struck by the Alameda Local on First Street.

Gus Nelson, a Swede who lives in San Francisco, was seriously, if not fatally, injured by being struck by a train yesterday afternoon

Nelson lives with Fred Showers, on the corner of Pacific and Drumm streets, is 34 years of age and is the mate of the fishing bark Electra.

He came over to Oakland yesterday to spend his Sunday and during the afternoon drank enough to make him reckless

At about 4 o'clock he attempted to cross First street at Broadway. The Alameda local was just coming along and although the engineer saw Nelson and reversed the brakes applied the air brakes, blew the whistle and otherwise tried to get him off of the track, he was unable to do so and Nelson was struck and knocked several feet away

He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, and Drs Johnson and Olmstead were summoned It was found that he was terribly bruised and bleeding, but the worst wound was a fracture of the skull which could plainly be seen through an ugly laceration in the side of his head

He remained unconscious during the night but this morning regained reason He gave his name and address but could not recall anything that had transpired just prior to the accident. He seemed to be suffering a great deal, but is in a half dozen condition The captain of the Electra called this morning at the hospital and said he would remove Nelson to the German Hospital in San Francisco as soon as his condition warrants it Dr Johnson says that if Nelson continues to recover as fast as he has during the last twenty-four hours, he will soon be out of all danger

DEMANDED THE MONEY.

Alex Rosborough's Bondsmen Receive a Formal Notice.

A demand was made today on the bondsmen of Alex Rosborough, late County Tax Collector, to pay into the County Treasury the sum of $591.10, which it is alleged Rosborough collected as taxes but failed to surrender A similar demand was made upon Rosborough several weeks since but thus far has not been complied with.

Rosborough's bondsmen are W W. Foote, J. T. Glenn, John R. Glascock, P. E. Dalton, R. M. Turner, R. M. Fitzgerald, J. West Martin, John M. English, J. C Martin, A. A Moore and Thomas Moran.

CYCLISTS BEWARE.

The Police Have Landed a Hundred in Jail Already.

Chief of Police Lloyd is continuing his efforts to keep the city in pin money until the tax rate is fixed and taxes fill the coffers. The raids on the bicyclist who transgresses the law goes on and this morning the police judge fined fifty-five of them $1 each. There are more names on the prison register which will come up in court tomorrow and all told the police had arrested just 100 wheelmen up to noon today.

WEYLER SETS OUT.

The Captain General Takes Charge of the Army.

HE STARTS AFTER MACEO.

A Crisis Is at Hand in the War in Cuba.

LARGE REINFORCEMENTS MOVE.

Denial That the United States Has Issuec a Statemen.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

HAVANA, Nov 9 -- Captain General Weyler has taken the field in person against the insurgents under Antonio Maceo in the province Pinar del Rio.

Reliable news received from the front indicates that the Spanish columns are approaching close to the enemy.

From Mariel it is understood he will go southward by highway to Artemiset and along the line of the trocha

Strong reinforcements are being embarked to support the Captain General in his operations against the insurgents.

Marquis de Ahumada remains in charge of the Captain General's office here, with Col Ramon Dominguez as Chief of Staff.

The Committee on National Defense has passed a resolution requesting the Government to finish the rebellion by the use of the army and without political interference.

RUMORS DENIED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The State Department officials say the story published today that Ramon Williams, ex-United States Consul General to Cuba, was sent to Spain as a secret agent of the Government in an endeavor to secure the consent of the Spanish Government to a project to sell Cuba to the insurgents, the United States to guarantee bonds in payment therefor, is a pure invention.

Williams has no connection with the State Department, either open or secret.

There also is said to be a lack of foundation for the story that the Spanish Minister promised the President that if the Spanish troops are unable to subdue the insurrection within sixty days the island will be abandoned.

Nothing has been heard here regarding the reported outrage on the family of an American sugar planter named Crayeroft.

ACTIVITY REIGNS.

Many Ships Are Looking at the Edson Adams Wharves.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT, Nov. 9.—There is considerable business being done at the wharves today. Both the city and Adams' wharves are receiving considerable coal and lumber and each presents a scene of activity

The steamer Bonita is in at the foot of Webster street with 400 tons of Coos Bay coal This steamer has been engaged to ply between Coos Bay and this city in place of the lost Arago.

The schooner Enterprise came down yesterday with 250 000 feet of Oregon pine consigned to the Oakland Lumber Company.

The steamer Homer finished discharging a cargo of Wellington coal at the Taylor bunkers and departed at noon today

The Alliance was towed from the city wharf to the Edson Adams wharf last week where she will receive her coats of paint without injury from coal dust

The Annie Gee is also docked at the Adams wharf, where she is discharging 200 000 feet of lumber from Portland, which is consigned to the Washington Lumber Company

The Joseph and Henry has finished discharging her cargo of coal and will depart tomorrow

Foreman Weisensel of the Adams wharf expects a large whaleback vessel She will discharge a cargo of coal in the enormous new bunkers lately erected by John L. Howard.

SECURED MUCH BOOTY.

Burglars Successfully Loot the Residence of L. W. Kinney.

During the absence of the family burglars broke into the house of Ralph W. Kenney at the intersection of Telegraph and Webster and stole nearly everything in sight The family has been traveling in the East for some time and Mr Kenney has been living down town. Yesterday he went to his home to see if everything was all right and discovered the burglary.

The matter has been reported to both the police and sheriff's office, and efforts are being made to recover the plunder, which is valued at about $300.

A Different Man.

The P. J. Cunningham who was treated at the Receiving Hospital for an acute case of alcoholism Friday, is not Mr. Cunningham, the dry-goods man, who lives at Seventh and Franklin streets The man treated at the hospital was a stranger in this city, having just arrived from Denver, Colorado.

CANNOT BE COMPENSATED.

The Supreme Court Decides the Transportation Case.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov 9—The Supreme Court handed down a decision today in the case of the Central Pacific Railroad Company against the United States involving the right of the company to compensation for carrying post office inspectors

The Court held that the Company had waived any right of compensation that might exist.

The Government's right to secure transportation on bond-aided roads was not directly covered as the decision turned on the point that the railroad had freely given transportation not putting in the claim until long afterwards.

A SHIP ASHORE.

A British Boat Is in Trouble North of Gray's Harbor.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PORTLAND, Nov 9—Word has been received from West Point Washington, that a British bark had gone ashore two miles north of Gray's Harbor.

Tugs cannot reach the vessel

A life saving crew has gone to the scene.

SANTA CLARA'S VOTE.

The Canvass Will Not Change the Presidential Figures.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 9—The Board of Supervisors, as a canvassing board began a count of the votes today.

At noon only two precincts had been footed.

It is not believed the figures will differ materially from those already published, which give McKinley a plurality of 1,062.

The People's Party and Democratic vote will be footed separately.

The People's Party and Democratic vote are totalized in these figures.

CONCEDED TO M'KINLEY.

Close of the Contest About the Blue Grass State.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, Ky, Nov 9—The headquarters of both the Republican and Democratic Campaign Committees are closed, it being conceded now that on the face of the official returns from 115 of 119 counties McKinley carried the State

The official returns of the missing counties will not alter the general result

Chairman Roberts figures McKinley's plurality at 444

The Courier-Journal figures the plurality at 498; the Times makes it 576.

GRANTED A DIVORCE.

The Quinan Case Is Disposed of by Judge Ellsworth

William R. Quinan was granted a divorce from his wife, Caroline B DeWitt Quinan on the ground of wilful desertion this afternoon by Judge Ellsworth The plaintiff is the assistant superintendent of the Powder Works at Pinole This is the second time the case has been tried On the first hearing the petitioner was unable to prove desertion The defendant's attorney, after the decree had been made, asked for permission on the part of Mrs. Quinan to resume her maiden name. The request was not objected to by the petitioner, but Judge Ellsworth refused to grant it. He claimed that the defendant was advanced in years and had borne children who bore the name of her husband It was proper, therefore, that the defendant should continue to bear her name in marriage Besides, it was the fault of the woman alone that the divorce has been occasioned, because she deliberately left her home and, although she returned to it later, she refused to act as a wife or even to take charge of the home The family resides at Twelfth and Filbert streets.

KILLED BY A RANGER.

A Noted Colorado Outlaw Comes to Grief in Texas.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER, Nov. 9—The Federal officers today received a telegram saying Miguel Reville was killed near Childers, Tex, Saturday, by a Texas Ranger, when resisting arrest.

Reville was the leader of a gang of outlaws who infested Southern Colorado for years.

The Trinidad officers claim to have proof that Reville and his gang killed Billy Green and Billy Kelly, members of the Sheriff's posse, who captured Pedro Baca and Leandro Martinez about a year ago.

This pair are serving forty-five years' sentence for the murder of Charles Allen in a Trinidad saloon a year and a half ago

Holt, Nobie and Romero, who were hanged for the murder of Officer Solomon in Trinidad, were members of Reville's gang.

OAKLAND OFFICE

Gas, Light and Heat Company,

N. W. Cor. of Thirteenth and Clay Sts.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 30, 1896.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We want to interest you in the matter of Gas Stoves. We can sell you a stove which will do all your cooking, for a less sum than you can buy either a wood or a coal stove, and the price of gas will make it cost you less per month than any other fuel you can buy.

You must have heard of the stoves from your neighbors for more than 1000 are in use in this territory.

They boil, roast, broil and fry. They don't heat the kitchen. They are clean.

If you use 1000 feet a month you get gas at $1.75 per thousand—We sell a stove for $12 placed in your house, and you are instructed in its care and management. It don't cost you anything for all time to keep it in repair and condition, as we do that for you free of expense.

We have stoves with waterback attachments, and a variety of patterns of stoves ranging in price from $12 upwards.

We trust that you will find time to call and investigate the conveniences and advantages attending the use of gas for fuel. Heating stoves of all kinds from $1.50 upward. Yours very respectfully,

JOHN A. BRITTON,
Secretary.

Julia Marlowe-Taber Tonight In "Romeo and Juliet."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Will Be on at the Oakland Theater.

Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber will play an engagement of three nights at the Macdonough Theatre, beginning tonight and the theatre goers of Oakland may be assured a series of delightful and inspiring performances will be offered them.

Julia Marlowe-Taber's genius is now greatly recognized as belonging to the highest rank. Her portrayals of the gentle heroines of Sheakespeare's comedies have long been recognized as possessing a singular charm, and her Juliet has been pronounced the most convincing and appealing interpretation of the character known to the modern stage.

Robert Taber is regarded as one of the most capable and artistic legitimate actors in the profession. The productions being given by Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber are all receiving high praise for their completeness and artistic worth, and their Company is one adequate to the presentations of high class performances. They will give "Romeo and Juliet" tonight; "Twelfth Night" on Tuesday night and "As You Like It" Wednesday night.

The staging and appointment of the show form one of the great features of the attractions Everything is artistic and of the highest order and the public will see productions that have never been excelled at the Macdonough Theatre. There has been a big advance sale and as society does not mind the rain there will undoubtedly be a crowded and fashionable house when the curtain goes up.

A critic writing of her characterizations says: "Miss Marlowe's Juliet comes closer to the great poet's ideal Italian girl than that of any recent actress. She is not altogether the conventional Juliet, for she refuses to adhere to some of the long accepted readings and situations. She shows us a Juliet within the scope of our modern conceptions—a fair girl changed from child to woman almost in an instant by the subtle force of love. She makes us see childish playfulness and fancy charmingly joined to the womanly instinct of complete devotion to a heart's idol. Mr. Taber's Romeo is praised highly by the leading critics, Boston saying that he is incomparably the best that city has ever seen during the last decade. Mr. Taber creates a Romeo who is a lover according to the good, old-fashioned, romantic school—a lover who will not grow obsolete until human nature changes much more radically than it has changed during the last three thousand years. "Romeo and Juliet" will be handsomely staged, Mr. and Mrs. Taber making what are called special productions of the six plays they produce in this city."

CLEVER JIM SWINNERTON.

He Has Issued a Calendar Typical of His Style.

James Swinnerton, the clever cartoonist and artist, who has made the California bear such a feature of his illustrations, has illustrated a calendar for 1897. The calendar is printed on heavy tight-brown paper of heavy quality and comes in an attractive box ready for mailing.

Swinnerton did most excellent work in the illustration, and shows a delicate humor in his treatment of the characteristics of each month. From the little January bear shivering over his fire to the December bear muffled in a high collar, the variations of the season are shown. The stormy seasons of the spring are depicted by the little bears suffering from various dilemmas of the storm, wind and rain. His May bear is poised sentimentally over a rose inhaling its perfume. June is a delicious satire on the "summer man" at the seashore, for Swinnerton has made the quaint little bear express every whim of that individual, in his expression, dress and gait.

The month of July will recall a pleasant reminiscence of summer days, when the heat bids one seek comfort and coolness in sea bathing. In this picture, Swinnerton has the little bears acting in the most human manner, from the one who hesitates on the plank till another pushes him over to the little cub shivering with cold. It is a typical scene at a bathing resort.

August and September are cleverly illustrated. October with its football players will appeal to many as a good take-off on the heroes of the gridiron.

The anxiety of politicians is reflected on the expressive countenance of November's bear, who is laboring diligently with a Populistic bear, while the polling place looms up in the background.

It is with regret that one views the last bear shivering beneath the cold blasts of December, and whose grotesque figure marks the end of Swinnerton's clever work

Orders for the calendar may be left with William J. Drew, general agent, at Clark Wise & Co.'s store, 1106 Broadway.

Deaths From Typhoid.

Two nine-year-old children died from typhoid fever yesterday. The first was little Elsie Lange, the daughter of Theodore Lange of Grove and Benton streets, Lorin, and the other George Kelley of 1412 Fourth street, Berkeley.

Several cases of typhoid have been reported to the Health Office of late, but an epidemic is not feared.

A Small Burglary.

MONDAY.....NOVEMBER 9, 1896

It appears from a recent dispatch sent from London that the Spanish bankers have come to the aid of the Treasury of Spain when it was evident that a great financial crisis was approaching. The loan to be made to the Government by Spanish bankers amounts to 400,000,000 pesetas (about $80,000,000.) nominal, redeemable in eight years and bearing five per cent interest. Of this amount 20,000,000 pesetas will be used to pay the Spanish Transatlantic Steamship Company the arrears due it for transporting troops to Cuba; 50,000,000 pesetas will be devoted to the reimbursement of the Bank of Spain for its latest advances; 63,000,000 pesetas for the reimbursement of the Banque de Paris et du Pay Bas, and the remainder for war expenses in Cuba. Senor Canovas del Castillo, the prime minister, in announcing the success of the loan, said the issue would be made in December, and would be guaranteed by the customs. The Government hopes to issue later a loan of a thousand million pesetas guaranteed by the tobacco monopoly.

The London Saturday Review voices an odd complaint, inspired by the fact that the first and only short story written by Du Maurier is now being printed in England: "The bitterest enemy of a great man or great woman of letters is the creature who brings to light a writer's discarded work. 'His best he gave, his worst he kept;' it ought to be left to a literary man or woman to say which, and how much, of his or her products shall be given finally to the world. There should be some respect for the dead. The fact that a writer leaves manuscripts behind him is no reason why they should be printed and circulated. They may be utterly unworthy of him, and tend to minimize his fame and influence. 'When a famous author dies there is a strong desire to make commercial use if his unpublished works. Frenquently members of his family dig up manuscripts and sell them to the publishers. More frequently perhaps the publishers themselves rake them up for the money that there may be in publishing them. Has any author in this country been treated in this respect worse than Hawthorne?

A Buffalo man has a new electric device which according to the Pittsburg Dispatch he proposes to attach in the shape of a small dynamo to the axles of steam cars so that when they are running down hill enough electricity will be generated to cary a train up the grade, or to take most of the pull from the locomotive. Mr. Warner has experimented with his models, and, although he had no locomotive, he found by a register attached to a pulling contrivance that the electricity generated going down one hill was sufficient to equalize the resistance occasioned by a heavy adverse grade of equal length. He thinks that the saving of coal alone and the increased capacity of locomotives would more than pay any big railroad company for the expense of equipping their coaches with the device in less than a year. He does not think that the trolly system will ever prove a success on standard roads moving a heavy traffic, but says that in less than ten years all the big roads will be using auxiliary motors on their coaches, especially on through trains running at a high rate of speed, which demand the heaviest of engines at present, and even then can scarcely make schedule time.

According to the New York Sun twenty ounces of tea is the average annual consumption for each individual in the United States. England's average for the same period has been eighty ounces for each inhabitant, or four times greater. Tea drinkers as a rule use more sugar than coffee drinkers do. Tea-drinking countries are the greatest consumers of sugar. In Spain, where chocolate is more popular as a drink than tea and in France where coffee is proverbially popular, and supposedly best made, sugar is relatively less used. The annual consumption of sugar in the United States is now 2,100,000 tons, which is about 65 pounds a person. Of the total the United States produce 350,000 tons, 1,800,000 being imported. The United States pay annually over $103,000,000 for foreign sugar and $20,000,000 for the domestic article. The American product of sugar has increased 50 per cent in twelve years. The English consumption of sugar is at the rate of 70 pounds per capita, the average of Holland and Denmark being 30 pounds and of France and Switzerland 23 pounds. The expression "enormous" often erroneously used by statisticians intent upon establishing a proposition or destroying an adverse contention, is correct in the case of Holland as a coffee-consuming country, for the total consumption of coffee in a year amounts to 40,000 tons, and the total area of Holland is 12,000 square miles—less than half the size of West Virginia. On the basis of the population the coffee consumption of Holland is 378 ounces yearly for each inhabitant, and the other countries with which a comparison is made have the averages following: United States 150; Germany, 90; France, 70; Austro-Hungary, 35; Italy, 17; Great Britain and Ireland, 15; Spain, 9, and Russia 3.

McKinley in Congress.

Senator Morgan in his recent explanation of the defeat of his party, extracts a little comfort from the declaration that McKinley voted in Congress for free silver, and therefore he will go into office with similar opinions. He will do nothing of the kind. In the first place his free silver leanings, if he ever had such in fact were at a time when that question was not a direct issue. Many members of Congress voted tentatively in that way who when the question was made a national issue, took the other side. A Republican President has been elected on a National platform which declares for a gold standard, but favors at the same time the largest use of silver consistent with that standard. Now there can never be but one standard. To say that there can be two contradicts the financial history of the world for the last two centuries.

Not only was a Republican President elected on a platform expressly declaring for a gold standard, but nearly every Republican who has been elected to the next Congress expressly avowed his adherence to that platform. Neither the President nor his Republican Congress will go back on this declaration of National faith. That includes a revision of the present tariff so that it will secure enough revenue to meet the expenditures of the Administration and incidentally to secure a moderate amount of protection. These issues have been settled by the recent election. There is not the least prospect that either will be obscured by the incoming Republican Administration.

About Municipal Charters.

It is now well settled by the courts that a municipal charater may be adopted at a special election. The charter of San Francisco failed although the vote was taken at a general election. Whether a new charter would have any better chance at a special election in that city is an open question. But another effort will be made to adopt a new charter which probably would not take effect before the expiration of two years or more, as it would not now be framed and submitted to the people in season to send to the present Legislature.

It will be noted that the Amendments to the Constitution, numbers four and five have been adopted by popular vote. These with other clauses of the Constitution practically give cities a good degree of independence provided they are organized under general laws. This independence is confined solely to municipal affairs. But some further legislation seems to be necessary before such organizations can safely be made. Amendment four specifies that the Legislature by general laws shall provide for the incorporation and organization of cities and towns. And those heretofore organized or incorporated may become organized under general laws. Some such laws are now in force, but the plain inference is that other general laws are to be enacted for the purpose by the incoming Legislature.

Republicans in Southern States.

The largest Republican vote ever cast in a number of the Southern States was that cast at the recent election. There is Kentucky, for instance, which four years ago gave Cleveland a plurality of 40,000. There were also 23,000 Populists at that time. In the recent election there was a fusion of Democrats and Populists. According to the latest report, McKinley has a plurality of 500 in Kentucky. That is the change that has been brought in four years.

Maryland, "my Maryland," went over to the Republicans for the first time in her history by a rousing majority. Sound money was in the lead there from the start. Then Delaware came into line. Virginia also ought to have been there, but Barbonism after getting some hard knocks, prevailed. But West Virginia, the home of Wilson, the father of the present tariff who was defeated for Congress two years ago, came up handsomely for the Republicans.

There is no Solid South. One after another these States have either gone over to the Republicans, or shown a strong tendency to go in that direction. If the next Republican Administration is satisfactory to the country, as it probably will be, most of the Southern States will cease to be counted in the Democratic ranks.

The Miners in Convention.

The Miners' Association of the Pacific Coast will meet in San Francisco tomorrow. These annual meetings are of surpassing interest. While a majority of the members are from California, and the interests of this State take the lead. Arizona, Nevada, Oregon and even Alaska will probably be represented. It is too early yet to make up the statistics of gold mining for the year in California. There has been a considerable increase in the output of gold believed by many to range from one to two millions over the product of last year. The gold product of Alaska will show a very large increase over any former year. Arizona, according to recent authentic reports, has increased her gold product this year by more than a million of dollars.

The Miners' Association has become a very influential organization on the Pacific Coast. It has turned aside some unfriendly legislation, and has secured for mining industry an amount of protection which never could have been secured without a compact organization. Mining titles were never so secure as they are now. The meeting of an Association that represents a productive industry only less than that of agriculture, will be one of the most important events in these closing months of the year.

The Hitch About the Affiliated Colleges.

The Attorney General has refused to sign the contract for the construction of the Affiliated College buildings on the ground that the contract includes the use of Folsom granite. By means of that clause it was supposed that about ten thousand dollars would be saved, and only in that way could a contract be let for the construction of the buildings which would come within the limits of the appropriation.

The refusal of the Attorney General to approve of the contract because the Folsom stone is quarried by convict labor, will probably make an end of any construction of the contemplated college buildings this year. Governor Budd took an active part as one of the Regents, in shaping this contract. He is also a member of the Board of Examiners who pass upon all contracts for public buildings. He evidently saw no valid objection to the use of Folsom stone in the rough as an economical measure. The contract probably did not specify that the quarrying of granite should be by convict labor. That is the inference of the Attorney General whose little finger appears just now to be heavier than the whole Board of Regents.

Highest of all in Leavening Strength.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Here is an account that comes all the way from Philadelphia. "A bad report of the sailing qualities of the battle ship Oregon comes from San Francisco. She met heavy weather on her trial trip and is said to have rolled so badly as to endanger not only the safety of her crew, but even her own. Apparently her metacentric height is too great. She is top heavy and when a ship is in that condition there is always danger of her "turning turtle" and going to the bottom, with all on board, as several vessels of foreign navies have done. It is not probable that the Oregon will be accepted unless this defect is remedied, and whether it can be remedied without virtually rebuilding her, is yet to be ascertained." It may be noted that this account, which appears in the Ledger, is published close to Cramp's ship yard and at a time too, when there is great rivalry between that concern and the Union Iron Works of San Francisco. Does that account for the milk in the cocoanut?

The orange season is just about to open in California. From the reports that have come to hand it is believed that the crop will turn out to be one of the best that has ever been produced in this State. There is gold in the orange crop and a great deal of it. It will probably be one of the most satisfactory crops of the year. It looks now as if the market would be a fair one for all the citrus growers.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Not many years ago, according to the annals of the India Office, a Queen's messenger, or some other inferior official, was robbed, though not injured in any way, on his road to Cabul, and the British government, of course, wrote to complain of it. No reply was received for months; but at last the Emir wrote: "The matter you mention has been thoroughly investigated, and not only have the robbers of your messenger been put to death, but all their children, as well as their fathers and grandfathers. I hope this will give satisfaction to her majesty the Queen."

W. J. Green, a Pittsburg grocer, having had his supply of city water shut off, as the result of a dispute with the rate assessor, bethought himself of a well in his yard, and a tank on his roof. To fill the one from the other seemed to necessitate a lot of work, done either by Mr. Green or his coal heap but, after prolonged study of the situation, he rigged up a swing over the well, connected it in some subtle manner with the pumphandle, and then invited the children of the neighborhood to come and have lots of fun. They came, had it, and the tank keeps full all the time.

One of the bright remarks made during the recent political campaign was one made the other day by a little tot, less than 4½ years old, living in Central New York. She had a small cavity in her tooth, and the mother took her to the dentist to have it filled. The little thing got into the chair, and the dentist began his work. The mother, who was standing by, watching the operation, asked him what he was going to use for filling. He replied: "Silver." With this the little girl straightened herself up, and, throwing aside the operator's hand, said, with great earnestness: "I will not have my tooth filled with silver; I am for McKinley."

A friend of Dr. Nansen's says that the most hairbreadth escape from death the explorer had was once, when out shooting with the doctor of the expedition, a huge polar bear came suddenly in sight, and with a fierce growl made for them. At that instant the ice floe on which the two men were standing broke in two and separated them. Nansen raised his gun to fire, when to his horror he found something had gone wrong with it, and it was useless. He called to the doctor to "shoot," but as he was standing exactly between his friend's gun and the animal, that was impossible. On came the beast, plunging into the water and placing his huge paws on Nansen's floe. Death seemed inevitable, when, by some miraculous chance, the animal slipped off, sending the floe spinning round and round, and so enabling the doctor to get a clear shot at him and kill him.

The Chicago Times-Herald quotes the following story which Governor Cumback of Indiana uses with good effect in his campaign speeches: "Two tramps went around to the back door of a house to beg for a meal," says Governor Cumback; "on their way there they met a big, powerful dog. The tramps stopped and eyed the dog carefully. Finally one of them said to the other: 'Bill you go and ask for the grub. Don't yer see he is waggin' his tail?' 'Yep, I see him waggin' his tail all right,' replied Bill, 'but I also see him growlin' with his mouth, an I don't know which end to believe.'"

Papa's Amazement: "The old gentleman went into the parlor the other night at the witching hour of 11:45 and found the lights out and his daughter and a dear friend enjoying a tete-a-tete in a corner of the window. "Evangeline," said the old man sternly, "this is scandalous." "Yes, papa," she answered sweetly; "it is candleless because times are hard. Lights cost so much that Ferdinand and I said we would try to get along with the starlight." And papa turned about in speechless amazement and tried to walk out of the room through a panel in the wall paper.—Fairview, Kan., Courier.

UP-TO-DATE TEAGOWNS.

They Rarely Fulfill the Function for Which They Were Intended.

The teagown is rapidly changing its position in society. On most occasions when it is the privilege of my lady to pour tea, the assemblage is mixed, and the teagown would be in bad taste. Occasionally, at a club meeting or when friends have met to discuss some charity, the hostess may don her teagown and display its beauties before the eyes of her admiring friends.

The teagown, while loose and flowing, should suggest the lines of the figure in front and be tight fitting in the back.

It should combine all the latest fashion traits in one garment, bewitching in texture and coloring.

Of course brocaded satin may always be used, but a gown if much cheaper material can easily be secured and will be equally charming.

A gown of deep violet cotton crepe such as you can buy for 15 cents a yard, is most effective. It opens in front with lace in a bluish tint that falls from the neck, but is slightly fastened at the waist with violet velvet. The sleeves are small in themselves, are made enormous by the addition of immense shouder puffs of bluish white tulle, and puffs that hang below, concealing the lower arm and making the hand of fairy-like dimensions.

The neck is finished with a stock collar and balloon-like rosettes. The waist is made trim in appearance by a similar device.

What Is Good Housekeeping.

At a recent afternoon tea, where there were a goodly number of intelligent men and women assembled, the conversation turned upon good housekeeping and one of the guests was asked to define the term.

After a moment's hesitation he answered:

"Good housekeeping is that sort which embodies order, neatness, promptness and an average amount of good temper. Allowing that the members of the human family are by no means angelic, one must not look for too much, and it is therefore a part of the philosophy of life to avoid great expectations."

"Good housekeeping," said another member of the party, "is to have a clean house, wholesome food at regular meal hours, and that restfulness that is never found where the presiding genius of the establishment is fussy, irritable, worrisome and given to fretting about trifles."

"Keeping a house in order," remarked a veteran, "is not so difficult if one only adopts a systematic course and sticks to it."

"But, my dear," said a venerable mother in Israel, "have you ever kept house on a system and lived up to it? I have been trying it for threescore years, for I began early, and I assure you that there is no fixed law about housekeeping except the law of uncertainty. I have many a time planned my work for the day, and when everything was arranged, and I saw clear sailing ahead of me, word would come up that the preserves were working, or the bread had turned sour, or Dick had dropped the egg basket, and there wasn't a thing in the house to make cake with, or the range wouldn't work, and nobody could tell why, or any one of the thousand and one things that beset every housekeeper who tries to do things clear up to her lights on all these subjects.

"The best definition of good housekeeping that I ever heard was that given by a little slip of a boy, who, after listening for a long time to a very learned discussion from some of his mother's club associations, on the best way to order a home, was asked: 'Well, my little man, what kind of a house do you think is best?' A beautiful light came into the child's eyes. He tossed back his yellow hair and shook his head. 'I don't know much about it. Just the only kind that I like is the home that isn't nice to go to.' And when all the philosophy, theory, science and wisdom of the subject had been exhausted, the women there assembled had to agree that the very best home, after all, was the home that—it was nice to go to."—New York Ledger.

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

Valuable Opportunity to Obtain Furs, Etc., From a New Establishment.

The winter season is upon us, and the minds of many women, no doubt, are revolving the question of winter furs and wraps. The establishment of a new fur house in San Francisco is a matter of much importance to those contemplating purchases in that line, for the following reasons: Adolph Kocour, at 5½ Kearny street, first floor, San Francisco, for many years experienced as a practical furrier in both the old world and the new, has opened an establishment where opportunities are offered not equaled by any other similar house in the city. Mr. Kocour was born in Bohemia, but at an early age removed to Leipzig, Germany, where he learned the manufacturing fur trade. After completing his apprenticeship in Germany with the thoroughness that is demanded in that country, he became employed by Revillon Freres, recognized the world over as one of its leading furriers, where for six years he was cutter and practical furrier. He then removed to the service of a prominent London firm, and subsequently came to the City of New York, where he spent several years in the business. Deciding upon San Francisco as his permanent home, he has, as above stated, opened an establishment of his own, and now offers to the ladies of this coast the advantage of his experience acquired by years of labor under the tutelage of the largest firms in this line in the world.

Mr. Kocour carries a large stock of both domestic and imported furs, and is prepared to do all manner of repairing and remodeling below the prices of any furrier on the coast. His stock comprises all the latest domestic and foreign styles, and full satisfaction to every patron is Mr. Kocour's first business principle in the conduct of his new enterprise.

EASTWARD THROUGH THE ROCKIES.

The traveler, tourist or business man is wise when he selects the Rio Grande Western Railway "Great Salt Lake Route" for his route to the East. It is the only transcontinental line passing directly through Salt Lake City, and in addition to the glimpse it affords of the Temple City, the Great Salt Lake and the picturesque Salt Lake and Utah Valleys, it offers the choice of three distinct routes through the mountains and the most magnificent scenery in the world. Double daily train service and through Pullman and Tourist sleeping cars between Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver and Chicago. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, Pullman Tourist cars are run from Los Angeles to Boston via Chicago, without change.

AN EVENING OF REJOICING.

Enthusiastic Republicans Sound Paeans of Praise Over the Election of McKinley.

A SPLENDID PARADE THROUGH THE TOWN.

Brilliant Exercises Enjoyed by a Huge Throng at the Tabernacle.

SOME SOUND SPEECHES.

The Return of the Banner Signalizes Alameda County's Great Victory.

ALLIANCE MEN AS HOSTS.

A Sumptuous Banquet, Clever Toasts, and Enthusiastic Addresses.

Saturday evening's demonstration was a fitting finale to a glorious campaign. From 7 o'clock in the evening until 3 o'clock in the morning the Republican hosts were busy celebrating their victory and right gloriously did they do it.

The street parade was a great affair in itself and fully 15,000 people were on the streets to view the pageant.

Nearly everybody has a horn or some instrument with which to make a noise and these were brought into play continuously all along the line. Skyrockets and quantities of red fire lit up the night, while occasionally a booming cannon or bomb added to the din.

The parade was well managed and moved with remarkable punctuality.

At its conclusion the Tabernacle claimed attention and there the visiting Angelenos returned the much-coveted banner to the Alliance Club for safe keeping.

The large audience was enthusiastic almost to a fault, yet the good-natured Republicans had no inclination to crow over their defeated opponents. The cheers were for McKinley and a renewed National honor, coupled with Alameda County's great contribution at the polls.

The banquet which brought the festivities to an end, was in every respect an excellent affair, and do the Alliance Club much credit is due. The Los Angeles guests were entertained in a creditable manner and they take home with them a glowing opinion of Alameda hospitality.

And now that it is all over, party lines will for the time being again be lost and the good citizens are prepared to settle down to the enjoyment of that prosperity which, with their ballots, they helped to re-establish in the United States.

THE PARADE.

A Splendid Pageant Witnessed by an Enormous Throng.

By way of novelty in the formation of processions, Grand Marshal Varney Gaskill massed his forces last Saturday night north of Fourteenth street, a fact which was greatly appreciated by the people and business men of that part of the city. The divisions assembled on the streets between Fourteenth and Eighteenth leading into San Pablo avenue, and, when the order to march was given, the right of the line advanced along that avenue toward Fourteenth street, the first line of the kind to take the initiative in that section of the city.

Like the march to victory of McKinley, the column of jubilating Republicans moved forward without any of the inconveniences which generally harass public parades and greatly tax the patience of the on-looker. Credit for this is in a great measure due to Chief Lloyd and his representatives and at the same time to the good sense of the thousands who thronged the streets. There was everywhere manifested a disposition on the part of the spectators to remain out of the way of the column of marchers and those who required to be reminded of the wish, in that direction of the Chief of Police, readily moved back to the curve when the mounted officers, charged with keeping an open thoroughfare made their appearance along the route.

Among those who did good work in this respect were Captain Wilson and Sergeant Hodgkins, both of whom were resplendent in uniforms of blue and gold; and the "Mayor of Piedmont," P. J. Keller. The times in the past when Keller did not appear at the head of a mounted force of yeomanry in a public procession in this city, cannot be recalled. Saturday night, however, at the request of Chief Lloyd he aided in the work of clearing the way and did it like a gallow-glass who had served his time at the business.

In the lead there were several wagons which sent forth clouds of red light, which, at intervals dispelled the darkness with a glare that was weird and fascinating. There were also wagons loaded down with huge perpendicular engines and boilers which emitted intermittent shrieks of joy over McKinley's election, which could be heard in San Francisco. The biggest of these shrill sirens was the contribution of the Oakland Iron Works.

Following the glare and the din, rode Varney W. Gaskill, the Grand Marshal. Mr. Gaskill was astride a finely groomed mount as black as ebony. He wore the pretty uniform of the Republican Alliance with the addition of a fine badge of McKinley and broad scarf of gold silk which set off to advantage both the apparel and form of the rider. Mr. Gaskill rode well in advance of his aides many of whom advanced in a couple of platoons. Among them were noticed Chief of Aids Cal Ewing; Frank H. Mason, E. W. Roberts Jr., D. C. Brown, Daniel Doody, Fred Boquet, J. Slavich, A. W. Pattiani, J. W. Harris, E. R. Pearch, A. M. Baerrott, Victor Remmell, Henry Watkinson R. S. Kitchener.

Then came the feature of honor, the banner of the Republican party, rescued from Los Angeles County, around which were grouped some of the men who had returned it to Alameda County, whence it shall nevermore be taken. There were also around it, some of the men who were instrumental in establishing the standard as a beautiful symbol of loyalty to the Republican party. In the carriage in which the standard was erected were Senator Eli Denison, the unflinching Republican, and one of the three men who suggested the banner; Chairman Fletter of the Republican County Central Committee; Senator-elect Stratton and a representative of Los Angeles County, who had escorted the trophy home. This carriage was followed by others containing other members of the Los Angeles delegation. The beautiful banner, stood with its colors clinging to the pole because there was not sufficient breeze stirring to break its silken folds or to agitate the pennants on which was recorded its travelings between the County of Alameda and Los Angeles, and, at the same time, the part it has played in the Republican history of the State. The flag shone well in the electric light. It was everywhere greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

FIRST DIVISION.

Captain W. R. Thomas was the Marshal of the First Division. He was assisted by W. Mackay, A. H. Trathen, A. M. Benham, Ben Ferris and C. K. King.

The Fifth Infantry Band followed and after it came the Republican Alliance. Heroes of many a political campaign and leaders in many a political victory as they are, the members never appeared to greter advantage nor celebrated a more unquestioned and memorable victory. They were under command of Lieutenant Lester Herrick, acting Captain in the absence of Varney W. Gaskill, who appeared at the head of the column. The honors of command rested easily on Mr. Herrick's shoulders and he was further ably assisted by Lieutenants W. Chipman, Sol D. Rogers, and G. R. Lukens. At the right of the company was the ever-present Alliance globe-bearer George Collins, who for years has monopolized the grateful task of twirling in public the lighted sphere which has become so generally recognized as the symbol of the organization. The standard of the Alliance was borne by stalwart John W. Harris. The right and left guide lights were borne by Bob Boyer and Harvey Sloper respectively, the bearing of which has been a coveted honor with those gentlemen for some time. The buglers were H. P. Carleton, H. Farr, Charles Wheaton, D. Belden and H. P. Travers. Whenever they winded their horns, the torches of the blue jacketed marchers behind them sent heavenward a flame which turned the darkness of night into the brightness of morning.

Colonel Little who has long been identified with the Alliance was on hand as usual and occupied an honored place in advance of the organization and by his side walked George P. Morrow, President of the association.

Nearly all of the members wore roosters rampant on their caps illustrative of their sentiments on the occasion. They marched with an easy and swinging gait.

After the Alliance came the Sound Money League, the Real Estate and Insurance Men, a large number of Republican lawyers and a fine delegation of High School boys, many of whom blew horns with a great deal of pertinacity.

SECOND DIVISION.

The second division was under the command of Marshal G. W. Stark. His aides were H. W. Watkins and A. M. Barrett. First in line was the First Ward Republican Club and then advanced one of the finest, and if not really the finest, certainly one of the largest aggregations of men which has ever taken part in a procession in this city.

This organization comprised the railroad employes of West Oakland. They were all in line from Division Superintendent to call boy. They must have numbered a thousand. They were headed by a banner formed after the style of an American flag hung with the starry field dependent from a cross bar. The banner was made of silk and gleamed in beauty under the glare of the lights and torches. Each of the marchers in this division bore a Japanese lantern which was suspended from a long pole which extended over his shoulder. Many of the men were in their holiday clothes while not a small fraction of the marchers seemed to have come from the work bench in their tradesmen's apparel.

At the head marched in a platoon, Division Superintendent A. D. Wilder, Master Mechanic McKenzie, Resident Engineer Palmer, Master Car Repairer W. B Ludlow and J. C. Wilder.

This great body of mechanics and superintendents of mechanics was in command of Harry W. Watkins, himself a mechanic who for years has been associated with a number of the men and officers over whom he acted.

Midway in the line of this division was a finely-constructed representation of a locomotive and a passenger car both mounted on horse-drawn vehicles. The locomotive and car represented the Presidential trip to Washington of McKinley. The design of both car and engine was excellent and the idea was carried out in a manner which was both accurate and artistic. The car was filled with brighteyed and light-hearted misses, daughters of the railway employes, and they in every manner, illustrated the satisfaction which McKinley's election had afforded their parents.

In this division also, there was a bicycle float, belonging to the railroad men, setting forth the sentiment that the men had voted as they paraded. There were also about twenty transparencies in the line each containing either an historical fact or giving expression to a patriotic sentiment. The last feature of this body of workmen was a frame borne by four men on which was perched a live eagle whose eyes darted rays of defiance at the brilliant lights which surrounded him and whose whole demeanor was that at once of a symbol of the nation's desire for sound money and freedom.

Then came a number of the merchants of the First Ward with a float in favor of sound money.

THIRD DIVISION.

The third division was marshaled by George H. Mason. Mr. Mason rode a magnificent horse and rode it also like a man pre-ordained to rule in the saddle. He was assisted as aides by J. L. Kosciolowski and Don F. Miller. This division comprised the Republican clubs of Eden, Murray and Washington Townships. The Republican clubmen of Haywards were out in large numbers there being fully 200 in line. They were headed by a wogan containing an immense horn from which came forth blasts like those of the fog whistle on Angel Island. The club was under the command of H. W. Meek.

FOURTH DIVISION.

The fourth division was commanded by Dr. J. A. D. Hutton, who was assisted by H. M. Waterbury, George H. Phillips, A. Smith and James Kenney. There was a band and following it came the University Republican Club and other organizations and citizens of Oakland Township. At the head of all the organizations walked County Recorder Charles Spear, wearing a golden chrysanthemum as large as a sun flower.

FIFTH DIVISION.

Major J. F. Hayes was in command of the fifth division. His aides were W. J. Dorney, J. F. Vaughn, I. I. Cavasso, H. D. Cushing, H. N. Garl, M. F. Bosworth and T. J. Fish. In this division were the Colored American Republicans, the Second, Third, Fifth and Seventh Ward Republican clubs.

SIXTH DIVISION.

George C. Hunt commanded the sixth division. His aides were Abe P. Leach and W. J. McDonald. Behind the officers was driven a barouche containing Ed Thayer, Charles Shear, Davie Nash and William Rupert. Mr. Thayer from time to time agitated the air with thunderous blasts from an immense horn the bell of which rested in the rear of the conveyance. Each of the occupants wore a roosted on his hat. Two of them, Nash and Rupert, being Democrats, wore their roosters with heads cast down while Messrs. Thayer and Shear wore birds rampant.

Then came a float illustrating "Protection." The principal figure in the tableau was Miss Davetta Manning as Goddess of Liberty, who was accompanied by Mrs. Daventorf, Goddess of Music, and her young lady friends Miss Puck, Miss Maggie Scott and Millie Nelson. The gentlemen were Fred Manning, Albert Manning, Thos. Madden, Milton Fairbanks, Bryan Davenport, Frank Gunn and Albert Hans and they represented the trades.

Then came the National Republican League 200 strong at the head of which was carried a flag from the pole of which streamers depended which were held by members on either side of the standard.

SEVENTH DIVISION.

Ex-Supervisor D. W. Martin of Alameda was in command of the seventh division. He had as his aides H. W. Dunton J. J. Lerri, W. A. Mitchell and R. Flemming of Oakland and Gus Smiley, Arthur Burns, Bert Fisher, Charles Fischer, Charles Mebus, J. Longfet and J. Hadwick. Marshal Martin was mounted on an excellent charger and was greeted all along the line by his many friends. This division comprised the Alameda Drill Corps, the Republican clubs and citizens of that town. The Drill corps marched with military precision and presented a fine appearance.

EIGHTH DIVISION.

Colonel J. E. McElroy was in command of the eighth division and his aides were Giles H. Gray, E. W. Woodward and H. W. Richardson. The Young Men's Republican League were in the advance and went through a number of street evolutions as they proceeded. They were followed by the Army and Navy Republican League which turned out in large numbers. The League bore a number of transparencies which were made expressly for the occasion, among them being the following: "The soldiers voted in 1896 as they shot in 1861;" "Sound money and sound heads were our salvation;" "Business men make good politicians;" "Oakland Alliance met no frost in Alameda County;" "Army and Navy League ballots were as effective as their bullets;" "We've had a silver jag' and have taken the 'gold cure';" "Where is the 'crown of thorns?' Who's got it? Ask J. L. Lyon;" "Under no consideration would I accept a second term.—W. Jennings B.;" "J. Aubrey Jones—Bryan will get 311 electoral votes. Nit! Nit! Nit! When?"

NINTH DIVISION.

The ninth division was in charge of Councilman William Watkinson whose aides were H. Bercovich, W. D. Heltmann, Albert Kayser and A. J. Snyder. It comprised the Forty-eighth Assembly Drill Club, the Fourth and Sixth Ward Clubs and a number of unassigned organizations. This division brought the procession to a close.

The line of march was from Eighteenth street down San Pablo to Fourteenth street, to Washington, to Eighth, to Broadway, to Fourteenth, to Webster, to the Exposition building.

The streets through which the procession passed were thronged with people whose enthusiasm found vent in continuous cheers, even as that of the marchers found expression in the din which can be created by the simultaneous tooting of thousands of horns.

A number of the business houses along the line were decorated and made a fine appearance in parti-colored lights in which at times they were enveloped.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

Ringing Speeches Made by Many Representative Patriots.

Good nature and enthusiasm reigned supreme at the Tabernacle. As the marching clubs entered the hall cheer after cheer went up for McKinley and prosperity, and each club was given a separate ovation seldom equalled in this city.

Hundreds of people were turned away at the doors, being unable to find standing room. American flags were in abundance and almost every man, woman and child in the dense throng waved one. The size of the crowd was only excelled by the tremendous noise that increased as the evening advanced.

The speakers' platform presented a wonderful sight. The Alliance, 150 strong, resplendent in white and gold, was there sounding its slogan on every available occasion. The following members of the Republican County Central Committee, each carrying a new broom, were also on the platform: Charles Mautalen, W. W. Morrison, R. W. Chuchr, J. W. Evans, A. H. Breed, F. J. Fletter, J. H. W. Riley, B. C. Hawes, T. W. Harris, A. Archibald, J. Striker, J. L. Palmer, and T. L. Robinson.

Senator Eli Denison bore the Republican banner and was escorted by William E. Hale, of the original Banner Committee.

The Los Angeles delegation wore long yellow badges marked "Los Angeles." They also occupied chairs upon the platform and were: B. W. Lee, R. N. Bulla, F. T. Flint, W. H. Flint, R. B. Treat, G. H. Stewart, F. S. Munson, J. T. Francis, Tom Goss, John Burr, E. A. Davis, C. T. Sloan, Geo. L. Arnold, F. G. Teed, C. E. De Camp, John Lynch, E. P. Johnson, C. E. Slosson, C. A. Gardiner, E. P. Clarke, W. W. Seamans, H. A. Osborne, R. E. Wiraching, T. E. Hayes, Ralph Hogan, Captain T. Norton and G. D. Compton.

William R. Davis of the National Republican League, acted as chairman of the evening and as he entered the hall he was greeted with prolonged cheering. Others who were received with cheers as they took places upon the platform were: Fred S. Stratton, State Senator-elect; Congressman Hilborn, Major J. P. McElroy of the Army and Navy League and George P. Morrow of the Republican Alliance.

Chairman Davis opened the meeting with requesting three cheers for McKinley and Hobart and then six cheers for Alameda County. Cheers were also given for Los Angeles, the Alliance and the other Republican organizations.

When quiet was again restored Mr. Davis read the following set of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We deem it proper that those who have assisted in securing the glorious victory achieved last Tuesday should be properly recognized; therefore,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Republicans of Alameda County are due to those citizens of the Democratic party who so nobly rose above party affiliation and with a display of patriotism worthy of all emulation cast their ballots in the late election for the honor and integrity not alone of Alameda County, but of the State and Nation, thereby assisting to save the country from the dire calamity by which it was so seriously threatened.

Then Senator-elect R. N. Bulla, on behalf of Los Angeles County, returned the beautiful banner which was wrested from Alameda four years ago.

"It is with no feeling of jealousy," said he, "that I return you this banner. You have been truer to the doctrines of Republicanism than we have in the south, and I feel proud that you have by your tremendous majority, saved the State from the disgrace which would have fallen on it had she not declared in favor of sound money and national honor. We return to you this banner feeling sure that while it is in the keeping of the Republicans of Alameda County it will remain pure an untarnished."

SENATOR FRED S. STRATTON.

The banner was received by Fred Stratton on behalf of Alameda County.

"On behalf of the Republicans of Alameda County," began Mr. Stratton, "I receive from the Republicans of Los Angeles County this beautiful banner with all its associations and recollections.

"I do this, not, however, with any feeling of elation, but rather with a sense of profound gratitude, that in a generous contest grand old Alameda County has asserted her claim to the proud distinction of having not only saved the State, but of having shown her pre-eminent devotion to Republican principles, and to the cause of McKinley and Hobart.

"I am glad that this emblem is the flag of the Nation, for it typifies Republicanism in that it represents patriotism; it represents National honor; it represents devotion to country and proclaims through its stripes and starry folds that as a party we know no East or West, no North or South, but standing for all classes, and standing for all interests we are for the Nation, one and inseparable. It further declares to the monarchies of Europe the eternal success of Republican institutions, and that government by the people shall not perish from the earth.

"This victory which we celebrate tonight was not achieved without untiring labor and effort, and let me here accord to those men who gave their time and their industry to the cause some slight recognition of appreciation for their work.

"This flag is ours because we in Alameda County have earned it. For this we are indebted to many factors, and I pay a tribute to the Republican Committee of this county, to Chairman F. J. Fletter and his associates, for the remarkable zeal with which they performed their labors, and with the ability with which they conducted this campaign.

"The thanks of this county, of Los Angeles County, and of this State are due also to the Republican State Central Committee with their splendid Chairman, Major Frank McLaughlin.

"But others have assisted in this work. We owe much to these marching clubs for the enthusiasm which they have imparted to this campaign. I refer to the Young Men's Republican League. I refer to that club from the Fourth and Sixth Wards, the Republican club of the Forty-eighth Assembly District. I refer to the National Republican League of Alameda County; I refer to the Business Men's Sound Money League. I refer to the Italian Republican Club. I refer to the colored McKinley League, the Woman's Republican League, the Carmen's Republican Club, and to those various ward and outside organizations. I refer to that club whose reputation has extended not only over the State, and through the Pacific Coast, but beyond the Rockies as well, the Republican Alliance of Alameda County, and lastly, I pay but a feeble tribute to those grand men who fought for this flag, who saved this noble heritage for us, who standing shoulder to shoulder in 1861, still stand shoulder to shoulder in 1896. I refer to the Republican Army and Navy League.

"But let us remember that our victory would have been incomplete, we might have had no victory unless there had come to the standard of Republicanism those who left their party from high motives, and also those who joined us from questions of principle and whose sacrifice and assistance we ought never to forget. I refer to the independent voters and Gold Democrats who thronged to our cause and secured to us the possibility of this great demonstration tonight.

"Even to our adversaries we will accord the generous tribute of sincerity, and let us say to them that we go forth from this day, not as Republicans, but as Americans, pointing to the star of hope for American labor, for American commerce, for American industries, and for the completed grandeur of the American nation as a whole.

"While I shall always regret that the success in public life of one man defeats the ambition of another, still let us remember that as a Republican party we are committed by this victory to great principles. We have promised much, and our duty commences now to perform our promises, and to do as the Republican party has done in the past,—have our declarations pass into precedents, have our platforms pass into history and find their way into constitutional amendments and statutory enactments.

"I receive this beautiful banner from these grand men of the South, and I ask you to bear back to Los Angeles County the message that this State is not only one and inseparable as a State, but that we of the North love your sunny land, and your magnificent people, and that we are with you only citizens and Republicans, united against a common danger, standing upon a common platform and advocates of a common cause.

"And I present this banner to the splendid Republican Alliance, a club for which I cherish old and affectionate remembrance. Its beginning was small, but its career has been long, continuous and glorious.

"In keeping it, you and I will be mindful of the fact that we are charged with a high trust. That we hold it as Republicans, and on behalf of the Republican party. That we hold it for a party that stands for decency; that stands for stability, a party that is the very Gibraltar of liberty without license. No other organization has ever accomplished so much for liberty and progress in so short a time. The Republican party has for over thirty years redeemed every promise. Its every prophecy has been fulfilled, and it stands today before the nation, and before civilization with its integrity unquestioned. It represents new issues, it represents prosperity, it represents progress, it represents confidence, it represents open mills and the ability to earn an honest dollar, it represents sound money, reciprocity and protection, typified for the next four years in that statesman, that man of the people, that magnificent embodiment of American integrity, William McKinley."

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed during Mr. Stratton's speech of acceptance. He was frequently interrupted by ringing cheers and uproarious applause.

George P. Morrow, president of the Alliance, made a short speech upon being given the custody of the banner. He was followed by Congressman Hilborn, who made a short congratulatory address.

The appearance of Frank McLaughlin, chairman of the State Central Committee, was the signal for further deafening applause. He made only a few remarks, saying that he was more of a worker than a talker.

GENERAL BARNES.

Following McLaughlin came General W. H. L. Barnes, who was also given an ovation.

"I have always liked Alameda County," said he. "Now I love it. I have always said in every one of the many campaigns that I have made that the best audience I had ever seen in this State was an Oakland audience. It had an aspect of thorough intelligence and complete comprehension of the questions discussed on the stump. When I see the magnificent majority this county has made for good government, protection to American labor, sound money and the American flag, I know I was right.

"In our joy now we are apt to forget the evils that lately menaced our land. Perils to business, to homes and to government were involved. Now there has been an almost unanimous voice where the people had a right to a voice in the power, strength and glory of Republican principles. This tremendous demonstration is sounding for joy and glory. There is not a business man in the United States who does not breathe freer—not a man who labors with his head or his hands who does not rejoice. How different would have been the picture had this man from Nebraska with the Altgelds, Tillmans, and all those wild creatures had been put in power. This country was never intended to become the prey of lawless desperadoes, vicious anarchists and socialists. If this war we have been waging against individual and national dishonesty had been lost it would not have been many years before this nation would have been sunk under the blows. Our nation would have lost its life the day it lost its honor. There is not a man or woman in the United Statet today who cannot look up tonight and thank God from the bottom of a grateful heart that this nation stands unimpaired, honest and truthful, worthy of respect at home and abroad."

F. X. SCHOONMAKER.

F. X. Schoonmaker was next introduced. He came all the way from New Jersey to work for the Republican party in this State and he has been much appreciated wherever he has gone.

"I am glad that I came from New Jersey to witness a California demonstration," he said. "It is the greatest I ever witnessed. It seems incredible that such a demonstration could be given in a city registering only 7,500 voters. I have been given an explanation. Alameda County is said to be the most thoroughly American county in the most thorough State in the Union. This election means much for America. It means that our Government shall not be run from London. It means that the wants of the American people shall be supplied from American hands.

"This election means that no nation that has a just claim shall be denied a hearing.

"I asked a friend of mine, the chief engineer of one of the greatest vessels of the navy, if he would celebrate this victory. 'No,' he replied, 'I shall wait until the next Fourth of July, when we will hoist again the flag that was pulled down on one of the islands of the Pacific.'

"Another thing we must do. If Canada wants our markets she must pay for them or keep out. Another thing. England has had a party in this country for years. Four years ago free trade was handed her on a silver platter. Her two greatest silver slaves are China and India, and she wanted to drag the United States into the depth. She failed. Now, I want to thank you for what you have done. Accept my congratulations on this wonderful victory, and may God bless you!"

The meeting closed with a short address by George W. Pierce of Yolo. He said he could not begin to outline his feelings in five minutes' time. The very hint of Republican success, he declared, had set the great pulse of the nation throbbing with increased vigor.

The meeting closed with nine cheers for McKinley and Hobart.

THE BANQUET.

The crowning feature to the evening's jubilee was the banquet tendered by the Alliance Club to the visitors and a number of their friends. It took place in Elite Hall and was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the campaign.

The hall, the present home of the club, was brilliantly decorated. From the chandeliers and gallery rails evergreens and yellow ribbons intermingled with the national colors, while the windows were draped with bunting. The stage decorations were as unique as they were artistic. An allegorical curtain filled in the background. On this Alameda County was represented by a little cupib bearing in one hand an Alliance torch, while in the other a large flag was upheld. A large oak tree in one corner bore the inscription "Los Angeles County." From this had broken down a large limb, which was labeled "Popocrat." In the center underneath a rising sun was painted, "1896 Alameda's majority 5278." Above the whole were two locked hands, captioned "Welcome, shake."

In front of the curtain the newly won banner was placed, while other flags and souvenirs of former campaigns were appropriately displayed. Cut flowers, green and bits of yellow ribbon, brightened up the proscenium arch, while streamers on which were painted campaign mottoes were given prominence.

Over the door at the entrance, a large banner bore the motto: "With the Republican Family All Around, Blest Be Those Feasts with Simple Plenty Crowned."

Among the many other legends displayed were: "The Alliance honors itself by honoring 1894 Republican champions." "Now, good digestion, wait on appetite and health on both;" "Protection for twenty-nine years has dignified and prospered American labor."

Directly across the hall, in front of the stage, the head table was located, in the center of which rested the Alliance floral pyramid. Five more large tables were spread at right angles to the head one. They were all laden with dainty edibles in the line of cold meats, salads, fruits and cakes, while numerous floral designs brightened up the board.

In the gallery the Fifth Regiment band was comfortably quartered and at intervals livened up proceedings with popular selections.

It was half past 10 o'clock before the Alliance Club and its guests entered the hall. When they did so every one of the 300 covers were necessary. The brilliant costumes made a fine showing and the scene was a pretty one.

At the head table were seated, George P. Morrow, President of the Alliance Club, W. H. Hamilton, W. Steppacher, John A. Britton, Senator-elect R. A. Bulla, Colonel R. B. Treat, Hugh Craig, Joseph Scotchler, M. R. Milham, Noble Hamilton, C. E. Slosson, Charles A. Gardiner, J. C. Lynch, C. H. Klag, Warden Hale, Frank Leavitt, Varney Gaskill, Sol Rodgers, B. L. Lee, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Committee; General W. H. L. Barnes, Senator Carpenter, F. X. Schoonmaker, Chairman Frank McLaughlin of the Republican State Central Committee, Senator George C. Perkins, Congressman S. G. Hilborn, W. R. Davis, Senator-elect F. S. Stratton, F. J. Fletter, Chairman of the Alameda County Republican Central Committee; Mayor John L. Davie of Oakland; William Hamilton, Colonel L. L. Bromwell, Varney Gaskill, Commander of the Alliance; M. R. Higgins, Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee; Paris Kilburn, the Treasurer, and Jake Steppacher, the Assistant Secretary.

Among the other visiting guests were: C. E. De Camp, Frank P. Flint, F. G. Teed, Thomas Goss, J. H. Morton, C. L. Compton, F. B. Hayes, J. F. Francis, R. B. Carpenter, R. E. Wirsching, G. L. Arnold, General E. P. Johnson, H. Z. Osborne, F. S. Munson, E. P. Clark, John Burr and W. H. Flint.

Scattered about at different tables were many of the city and county officials; the County Central Committee, and a number of the newly elected officers. As soon as all were seated attention was paid to the delicious menu and nearly an hour was spent in its enjoyment.

The evening hours were fast approaching morning when George P. Morrow, as Master of Ceremonies, rapped for order to announce the toasts.

"I am not here to make a speech to you," he said, "but I cannot help expressing my pleasure at receiving back that glorious banner. This gathering, in more ways that one, is a ratification meeting. We are here celebrating the return to Alameda County of our glorious banner and likewise the magnificent majority that was given the ticket for McKinley that enabled us to secure it once more. I extend to our Los Angeles friends a hearty welcome."

Much applause followed and then the band played a patriotic air.

GENERAL BARNES.

General W. H. L. Barnes, who is an honorary member of the club, was then introduced to respond to a toast to "Our Country." The applause which greeted his appearance was both loud and long. In the course of his remarks General Barnes said:

"I wondered what would be the result of this great political campaign. I wondered as we stood at the Western gate of the greatest century the world has even known. If, in this last hour of the dying sun of 1800, we were to see the greatest nation on earth given over to repudiation, anarchy and misrule. I wondered if that chance production of the Chicago Convention would have his ideas impregnated on this people.

"The silver heresy had gained some adherents, because the other side had not been presented. Then the campaign of education was commenced. So far as I am concerned, I never believed nor uttered a single expression on the silver question that I have not said during this campaign. I said I believed a silver dollar could be held so closely to a man's eye as to blind him to everything else.

"The more I studied this question the more I became convinced that the Republican enunciation was right. The man who doesn't love this country doesn't deserve to live in it. Our country! What a nation it is! Nowhere else on earth are such opportunities to be had for man, woman and child.

"Here our fertile soil raises everything that is needed. We are particularly blessed and now with a restored confidence we can close the century with prosperity that shall mark it in generations to come as the greatest one for the greatest people on earth—Americans."

General Barnes forcible speech was greeted with much applause. After quiet had resumed Chairman Morrow introduced F. X. Schoonmaker of New Jersey, who has stumped the State for McKinley. He received a very flattering reception and it was some minutes before he was permitted to speak.

F. X. SCHOONMAKER.

"I have always wanted to make a campaign speech," he said, "but until I came to this great State I had not had the honor gratified. My theme tonight will be Bryan's declaration that he proposes to devote the next four years of his life to the propaganda of silver argument. Now you Californians have a magnificent State. It took courage and bravery to populate this State. That is why this is the LEADING DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT IN ALAMEDA CO.

Sickness is a burglar who is continually trying to break into human life. His most usual tool is constipation. This one, seemingly unimportant thing is the primary cause of nine-tenths of all human ailments. When the bowels fail to act, impure, poisonous matter is retained in the system, is absorbed by the blood, and carried to every part of the body. All the digestive organs are affected, and particularly the largest and most important of them—the liver. Constipation causes biliousness and bilious headaches; retards digestion in the stomach causing fermentation—sour stomach, flatulency, and feverishness, a feeling of fullness, heart-burn, and other disagreeable symptoms. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They afford immediate relief, but it is not merely a temporary relief. You do not become a slave to the use of the "Pellets." They gradually restore the healthy, natural action of the digestive organs and you may stop using them until some indiscretion in eating again makes them necessary. Doctors are supposed to know more about health and sickness than anybody else, and when the doctor comes, the first thing he does is to find out if the bowels are in good order.

"A Word to the Wise is Sufficient."

The more one knows about health and disease, the easier it is for him to be healthy. NOTES FROM OAKLAND.

A Correspondent's Ideas as to Our Local Progress.

Stray Shots and Gossip Gathered in a Walk Around Town.

Here is what a correspondent of the Oakdale Graphic writes regarding this city:

Oakland has made wonderful growth in the last fourteen years. Its stores are large and stocked with goods of finest grade. San Francisco has no larger or handsomer stores than those which line Washington street in Oakland. Its markets, too, are equal to the best on the other side of the bay. Its homes extend for miles east and north, away out over the hills. And these homes are not of the shanty order, either, but are neat modern cottages, some of them palatial, but most of them appearing like buildings owned and occupied by mechanics and workingmen.

It is possible for a man whose occupation demands his presence in San Francisco by the first boat, to live two or three miles east of Lake Merritt. The lines of electric railway traverse these hills in all directions, where a few years ago were hay fields and dairy farms. The transit is rapid and the fare a nickel.

There does not appear to be much progress in transferring manufacturing establishments from the west to the east side of the bay. Of course the stores and shops in Oakland give employment to many people, but the great majority of the residents earn their bread and butter over on the peninsula, crowding the cars and boats morning and evening.

Church spires are seen everywhere. The various denominations vie with each other in securing the best locations and erecting the grandest structures.

And yet the people are so intensely religious that there are not churches enough to accommodate all, and several halls are utilized for holding religious meetings.

On the front of one half, a few blocks east of Seventh street a sign is nailed above the doors, in large letters, "The Apostolic Church. Preaching, Teaching and Healing by the Holy Ghost." How many other blasphemous institutions—or institutions that appear to take on that character—exist in Oakland no man can tell—at least, a visitor to "Athens" cannot tell.

Of course there are some devout congregations meeting in halls, and no word would be uttered concerning them save in praise, at least not in these columns.

Besides its stores, its electric cars, its lovely suburban homes and its multiplicity of religious edifices, Oakland has a number of commodious school buildings. So manifold are its educational facilities that it has long carried the name "Athens," and as yet no other city on the Pacific Coast has contested its right to that distinction.

The public library is well supplied with books, embracing all lines of human learning almost. The rooms are open twelve hours each day, except Sunday, and on Sunday for three hours in the afternoon. All the stores are closed on Sunday.

Perhaps the busiest place in the city is the Central Telephone office, where, if the girls don't exactly raise "Ned," they succeed in raising everybody else, though it takes a lot of clicking to do it. They are civil there, too, and strangers notice such trifles.

We can't say as much for a young man on one of the trolley cars, for on being asked how far east his car run he said he couldn't tell, for he never measured the distance. Perhaps he may come to a period in his life where he will appreciate the value of politeness, or at least civility.

But Oakland is not a fast town, for somewhere we observed a man trimming a lawn with a pair of common scissors.

Hugh Baker of Oakdale, a student at the University of the Pacific, spent Sunday in Oakland.

There are very few buildings to let in the residence portion of the city, and those few are near to the business center, and probably the rents are too high and the locations not so desirable as in quieter streets distant from the rumble of trains and the electric cars rushing hither and thither in their endeavor to distribute the human tide ever on the ebb and flow.

The streets of Oakland are hard, smooth and clean as a rule.

There is no great activity in building, but still a few new houses are going up.

Blair Park is the great Sunday attraction. Thousands go there. It is at Piedmont.

The traveling public no longer encounters the nuisance of free riders between stations on the local trains. Platform gates shut them out. If you get on, you pay your fare to San Francisco—10 cents. There was a time when rides between stations was a convenience indispensable to the people of Oakland, but that time is past. The electric cars furnish a better means of transit, and if the young folks don't like that kind of a coach, why, there's the bicycle.

DINED BY DEMOCRATS.

Senator Denison Collects a Wager From Charles Lainer.

One Hundred Guests Enjoy the Repast at Leona Heights.

A political discussion between Senator Eli S. Denison and Charles Lainer of San Francisco, which occurred before the election had its result yesterday in a dinner for over one hundred guests, and for which the San Franciscan settled.

During the discussion the wager on the outcome was laid. Lainer lost and with the best of grace took his guests to Leona Heights to settle the score. The party was mostly from San Francisco, Senator Denison only inviting W. M. Rank, Ruedy Crist and A. N. Wieland.

The meal began at 2 o'clock and four hours later "small bots" were reached. Of course all of the time was not spent in eating, for political toasts were things of necessity and "joshings" for the Democrats matters of course.

Another election bet of the same character was also paid in same cafe at the same hour. At this Captain Pohlman, formerly of the Oregon, had the honor of being the host.

DROWNED IN THE ESTUARY.

Frank Douthitt Died Before the Eyes of Cowardly Men.

Frank Douthitt, the twelve-year-old son of Frank L. Douthitt of Seventh and Filbert was drowned yesterday in the estuary at the foot of Webster street. His companion, Alfred Wilkinson, son of a butcher in the employ of Fred Becker, also fell into the water, but was rescued just in time to save his life.

The two lads were playing about on the wharf and got on to the slippery apron. Douthitt began to slide toward the water, Wilkinson tried to save him and they both fell into the bay. There was a crowd of men on the wharf and a little courage would have saved both boys. It was not forthcoming, however, and not until Mate Joe Duffen of the Bonita and George Wolff were attracted by the shouts was anything towards a rescue made. They got a rope to Wilkinson and he was safely drawn onto the wharf. By this time it was too late to save Douthitt for he had gone down for the last time. His body was recovered late and it now lies at the Morgue.

An Old Timer Gone.

Anthony Milton, an old and highly respected citizen died yesterday at his residence, 1215 San Pablo avenue at the advanced age of 73 years. Mr. Milton had been in poor health for some time and his death was caused by fatty degeneration of the heart. The deceased leaves a son, Dr. J. L. Milton, and a daughter, Miss Marietta Milton. The funeral services will be held Tuesday morning from the St. Francis de Sales church.

Knew What He Wanted.

A sallow individual in a faded brown overcoat sat down on a stool at one of the railway lunch counters the other morning and said to the proprietor.

"Give me a cup of coffee and one of your expurgated sandwiches"

"What kind?" asked the proprietor

"Expurgated," rejoined the other "One of those vacuum sandwiches for which your establishment is justly celebrated."

'I haven't any kind but those under that glass cover"

'That's all right That's the particular variety I want"

He helped himself to one of them and lifted off the upper lid.

"That is what I call a sandwich all right" he observed, eyeing it critically, yet approvingly. "There's nothing superrogatory about it It's one of these hiatus sandwiches. It's a sandwich with an alibi, he added, replacing the lid and studying the outer surface of it intently 'It's an absent sandwich. It's a sandwich that has failed to arrive I have seen times when I would have given worlds to—"

'Say,' interrupted the proprietor, 'if you don't like that sandwich you needn't eat it. That's all there is about that"

"Who said I didn't like it? Didn't I call for it? I generally know what I want For this particular occasion and for this specific luncheon I happen to want one of your negative sandwiches—one of your shadowy, deflated dream sandwiches, and like a man, sir, I call for it Anything wrong about that?'

'You needn't get gay," grumbled the man behind the counter "Did you order coffee?'

'I did Give me if you please, a cup of your best suppositious coffee'

I've only got one kind of coffee," replied the sulky caterer

'That's the kind I want A cup of your universally admired, non-existent coffee—your famous nullification coffee Accompanied, if you please, by a small pitcher of your vague phantasmal visionary, depopulated cream. I am fasting to-day"

And while the man in the faded brown coat munched the sandwich and sipped the coffee in a slow, absent-minded way the proprietor stared at him, and breathed hard and longed to throw him out of the window—Chicago Tribune.

THE BATTLE FOR RELIGION.

Rev. James Small Tells How We Must Be Armed.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE SOUGHT.

Episcopalian Bishops in a Somewhat Novel Role.

Rev James Small preached on "The Great Unseen Battle' at the Christian Church last night. He said "A man has lived to very little purpose in life who does not realize that this world is a great theatre of moral conflict Life is a battle We are forever on the watch against our enemies, we are forever guarding ourselves and our lives, and forever watching our chance for attack on the enemy So, we all live if we are earnest men We feel like what the boy said, it is the body under and the soul on top

"In a battle there are the belligerent forces If we ask who they are the answers are many The men who are engaged in the mines, the sailor on the sea, and the farmer, are battling with the forces of nature Then comes the merchant, he is battling with his competitor Then comes the legislator, he is battling against corruption and bribery Then comes the philanthropist, he is waging warfare against ignorance and wrong Everywhere there are men fighting with their fate

"The world is full of these ideas of battle But here comes Paul and says in the language of the text 'For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities against power against the rulers of the darkness of this world against spiritual wickedness in high places" But to be more explicit There is the battle with self Every man has a battle for himself and with himself Himself the hostile enemy and himself the prize There are verses enough in Paul's epistles which let us see that the struggle with himself was going on all the time, underneath the struggle with the men at Jerusalem and at Athens While the foreign war was raging the home country was all up in arms Is not the great conquest after all with self? Was not Luther right when he said 'I fear no Pope only pope self, for I have within me that great pope."

But the two must go on together For the man who is totally wrapped up with the war within him, the war with self for his own life, grows selfish and morbid and discouraged The two must go together Each keeps the other healthy and true

"Fight with your own sin, and let that fight keep you humble and full of sympathy when you go out into the world and strike at the sin of which the world is full Fight with the world's sin and let the needs of that fight make no aware how much is wrong, and make you eager that everything shall be right within yourself

There is the battle with poverty A man told me the other day 'I am absolutely too poor to be a church member It takes me all the time now to keep the wolf from the door" The first obstacle religion has to encounter is not infidelity, nor depravity, but it is to get a hearing Christ requires a hearing This brings it into competition with everything else that wants a hearing One of its most determined rivals is to get a living Ninety per cent of the human race have to labor for that day's bread Much of the time the occupation is uncertain, and the toiler has to carry burdens and his own insurance by diligence and hard work And when it is all over one man in 200 dies worth $1 000 So that a living which can not be put off to a more convenient season is a powerful competitor of religion.

There is a battle against evil habit One thought at our Springfield Convention was the salvation of the young Reformation is good Salvation is better Save them from bad habits when young.

There is the battle against associated evil There is nothing stronger Bad books and bad companions will lead a young man down quicker than anything else In youth we are like the tree frog that acquires the color of every thing it adheres to We partake of the nature of those with whom we associate The waters of a river may be sweet and pure before they reach the city, but after they have kept company awhile with drains and sewers, instead of purifying the drains and sewers they themselves have become poisoned and contaminated

"There is a battle against aimlessness Most of the youths growing up do not know why they are here or why they go to school They who aim at nothing are certain to hit it

"The secret of victory is in this battle Make up your mind that the flesh can be conquered There is a significant Scripture in Exodus XIV 30 "And Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea shore" So it is with our enemies We are not condemned to struggle with our Egyptians in desperate fight always but we hope to see them some day dead like the Egyptians on the sea shore The Egyptians that are tormenting us must die This is the assurance which is possessing the heart of every true man and woman

"If you really want to conquer you must form an alliance with the Son of God You must be made a partaker of the divine nature Christ in you is the only hope of your deliverance You must possess His strength, His thought, His conception of things His life, and this will surely enable you to come off victorious Confess your weakness and go to him tonight for strength Love for Christ that is the secret The love that will bind you to God will be stronger than the allurement from without"

At the close, Mr Small presented the claims of the Y M C A and urged the young men of his congregation to join the Association.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman Presents Forcible Arguments.

Rev. E S Chapman pastor of the Market Street Congregational Church espoused the cause of woman suffrage in a most eloquent manner during his sermon last evening. In commenting upon the defeat of the Sixth Amendment, Dr. Chapman said: "Good men, of course, voted against the measure, because if the good people had been for it it would have carried beyond any doubt. What shall we do now in this struggle for equal rights' In the words of my text 'Be ye not afraid of men' "The cause of woman suffrage is a just, noble and righteous one. In the language of Speaker Reed a few days ago "There is no argument in favor of the right of men to vote which does not apply with equal force to that same right for women There is nothing to be afraid of Why should we be discouraged when we know we are in the right Many of those who oppose our cause admit the justice of it And no power can success fully contend against right and truth'

A LINE OF BISHOPS.

Rev. Marshall Law Advances a New Theory.

At the Church of the Advent last evening Rev V Marshall Law delivered a sermon upon the subject "From St. John of Ephesus to Bishop Nichols of California,' in which he declared that the Episcopal Church was connected by an unbroken line of bishops to the days of John, Paul, Peter and James. In proof of his assertions Dr Law displayed a map which he had made of the geneological tree of the Episcopal Church 'This tree he declared, showed that the Church of England was no more indebted to the Romanists for their episcopal succession than were the United States indebted to Magna Charta for the Constitution of the United States St. Augustine was not a bishop of the Romanist succession, and please salt that it down where it will stay remember Those red lines over on the right show where the Roman line tapped the English line seventy-two years after St Augustine arrived in England, at which time the Roman Vitalian was present at the consecration of English Theodore At that time the Roman stream united with the sturdy English line, which up to this time had never been in episcopal contact with the Roman line"

greatest State in this nation, and that is why you have mental and physical superiority Your progenitors were men and women of remarkable vigor

"Mr Bryan has said he would give this four years to silver The South is for free trade That's where Chairman Jones said he had 152 electoral votes and needed only a few more The South had its black slave labor and became free trade because it did not dare to do anything else They did not dare have a factory near the blacks because they might have learned that their labor was worth something England took advantage with her usual astuteness, of the situation Every penny of reduction you make in the tariff is a bonus to the foreign manufacturer On the 2200 things that pay a duty labor has received a wage plus that duty and a great deal more"

Mr Schoonmaker then launched into the tariff question and urged his hearers not to cease preaching protective tariff whenever the opportunity presented itself He declared that in the face of circumstances, the carrying of California by the Republicans was as remarkable as it was pleasing

'Now for four years the capital of the East has been itching to come here," the speaker continued, "but it feared Populism I talked in Illinois where the Prince of Anarchists dwells. An anarchist is a man who wants to blot out everything from the American flag except the red. This man in Illinois made his reputation pardoning anarchists.

'Now since California has decided to remain on the side of national honor and integrity and that money invested in California is as safe as it is in New York money will flow here so fast that you cannot use it.

'My friends, you having voted for McKinley and an American policy, you say that every man who has labor to sell shall be paid dollar for dollar in good money You have also decided to undo the awful wrong of forcing the pensioners of the nation to take their pensions from the hands of those who made them pensioners.

Let me say there is nothing in this silver business but an appeal to the discontented Imagine Mr Bryan as President with Altgeld as his chief adviser Think of what we have escaped There isn't a nation in the world that wouldn't put on sackcloth and ashes over McKinley's election except Russia —That's what is meant by President-elect McKinley"

When the applause had died away, Chairman Morrow rose and said

'Fellow members of the Alliance Club I move that we make Mr Schoonmaker an honorary member of our club All in favor, say aye

The loud chorus of ayes which followed testified to Mr Schoonmaker's popularity Then the Alliance slogan resounded through the hall and the boys were emphatic in announcing that Schoonmaker was "all right"

Mr Shoomaker responded feelingly "I thank you, he said, " for the unexpected yet very welcome honor It is indeed flattering to be a member of such a fine organization as the Alliance Club and I shall always remember this testimonial as one of the most pleasant features of my trip

"I hear that you boys intend to go on to Washington I'll be there too and I guarantee that you will be gloriously treated McKinley will be proud to have such a splendid body of loyal soldiers by his side and when I see him, I will tell him that the Alliance is "all right" as you say.

In the course of his remarks Mr Schoonmaker paid a glowing tribute to the newspapers of the coast and to their workers

"I am a newspaper man myself,' he said, "and can appreciate the hardships and duties which fall to the lot of my fellow workers To them much credit must be given, for to a large degree they help to mould public opinion Newspapers are always right and newspaper men are good fellows The California papers have helped much this campaign and have demonstrated themselves equal to the best in the land.

"I tell you, you Californians should be proud of yourselves and your beautiful country I am in love with it and with you I have said before that if my wife were only here with me I would never think of going from you"

Again and again the "Hip! hip! rah!" echoed and re-echoed through the hall and the band joined in with a lively tune

Mayor Davie then gave the key of the city to the visiting Angelenos The key was the same one received by the Oaklanders in Los Angeles two years ago, though it then was garnished with silver This time is was resplendent in a covering of gold and bore the following inscription "Key to the Gate of the Affections of the Pacific Presented to California's Noble Sons"

The Mayor made the tender to Colonel Munson of Los Angeles and in doing so said the duty was a great pleasure and that he hoped the visitors would make themselves at home He called attention to the "handwriting on the wall 5278 majority" and continuing, said

"I have been a protectionist all my life, and with some mental reservation am in sympathy with Mr Schoonmaker's remarks I have studied for years the coal industry The Wilson bill reduced the tariff Was the price lowered to consumers? Not one cent I believe in developing our own mines and placing a prohibitory tariff on foreign coals, wherever brought from I have tried to do my duty but I have been harrassed on all sides by reformers who have nothing to reform"

LOS ANGELES REPLIES

Colonel Munson then rose and on behalf of the Los Angeles visitors thanked the Mayor.

I am glad to receive this key" he said "and I am thinking of the sport we will have two years from now, when we return it to Oakland The splendid demonstration of tonight is cause for gratification and on behalf of my fellow visitors I want to thank you for our entertainment"

'I feel sure that we will be ready to guarantee a trip to Los Angeles at the close of the next campaign I wish many more of our people had been here tonight to see and enjoy this great enthusiasm It would make us thousands of votes and the workers for the cause would have been increased by the hundreds"

W. R DAVIS

Chairman Morrow then introduced William R Davis as one of the men to whom Alameda County owed much for the handsome majority given the Republican ticket.

GAL THRDIE—BANQUET noag

In the course of his remarks Mr Davis said "We have been talking for sixty days and nights all the time for the physical and moral benefit we are to gain by this election, but man and not property is the thing Money is the means to an end. It ought to be thus called It is nothing else This great California University at Berkeley is a part of the great system beginning with the barefoot boy who trudges over the dusty roads to his little schoolhouse. This is the beginning of the great American school system"

The speaker traced the growth of American institutions, and in conclusion declared that the development of man was the greatest of American industries

Then several others spoke, among them being R N Bulla, Judge A. L. Frick and Frank P Flint

The feast of reason and flow of wit continued through the early hours of the morning, and when the gathering dispersed the visitors took with them, not only an excellent idea of Alameda County's hospitality, but a growing impression of the Alliance Club—the crack political military organization of the whole State.

A pleasant feature of the proceedings was the election of John Britton, manager of the Gas Company, as a member of the Alliance Mr Britton who, as one of the leading organizers of the Sound Money League has done splendid work during the campaign, was in an interesting position He has always been a Democrat, but this time worked and voted for McKinley During a toast to which he responded during the course of the banquet, Mr Britton said that his change of heart had been caused by the platform adopted at Chicago by the Bryanites He could not stand the anarchistic sentiments expressed, so he took off his coat and worked for the Republican candidate

At the conclusion of Mr Britton's speech it was proposed to elect him a member of the Alliance, and the suggestion was received with tumultuous applause Mr. Britton was thereupon unanimously declared a full-fledged member of the club

Regarding the proposed trip of the Alliance to Washington, it was stated during a conversation at one of the tables that a banker of this city had declared himself willing to raise $5 000 towards the expenses of the trip.

THE TRUST AT AN END.

Wind-Up of the Legal Issues in the Merritt Case.

Proceedings Handled With Celerity in Judge Frick's Court.

The long drawn out litigation affecting the claims of James and F. A. Merritt upon the estate of their uncle, the late Dr. Samuel Merritt, was brought to a close in the Superior Court before Judge Frick last Saturday afternoon. It consisted in knocking out what is known as the Knowles trust, which, it is claimed, has operated with severity upon James Merritt and F A Merritt, and, as a consequence $500,000 worth of property goes to the Purrington heirs. There is no doubt, however, that an agreement has been effected between those heirs and the Merritt nephews by which the latter will come into immediate possession of a large amount of property, which will afford a reasonable and satisfactory income

The action was brought by H P Merritt and the heirs of Stephen Purrington, comprising J S Haskell, May J Dalton, William L Haskell C May Haley, Harriet S Smith, James W. Cone, F J Lovell, Willis M Brown

It was brought to declare the trust null and void because of the contest of Mrs Garcelon's will by James and F. A Merritt, and as a consequence to have the property included in the trust go in equal parts to H. P Merritt and the Purrington heirs.

The history of the case goes back to the death of the late Dr Samuel Merritt, who left an estate valued at $2 000,000 This estate was bequeathed to his sister, Mrs Catherine Garcelon, the doctor's nephews, James and Fred A Merritt, being permitted to select from the doctor's home simply a pair of family portraits, a privilege of which they declined to avail themselves Mrs Garcelon, however, decided to act a little more generously toward the young men She gave them a trust deed to property valued at $500 000 and $125,000 in cash In the deed J N Knowles was named as trustee By the terms of the deed the nephews were to enjoy the income from the property and at their death the income was to go to their wives and children A condition was imposed that the nephews at the death of Mrs Garcelon should not contest their will In the event of such a contest the trust was to be declared void and the property was to revert to the estate of Mrs Garcelon Within a year Mrs Garcelon died, bequeathing $500 000 to Bowdoin College and $600 000 for a hospital in this city.

The nephews brought suit to break Mrs Garcelon's will, on the ground that at the time she made it Mrs Garcelon was of unsound mind, and the case was tried in the Superior Court and later was passed on by the Supreme Court, and in both instances a decision was given against the contestant The will of Mrs Garcelon was further sustained by Judge Hawley in the United States Circuit Court

In the early part of the present year Trustee Knowles died, and Attorney Emil Nusbaumer succeeded to the position

That was the condition of the case till late last Saturday, when the plaintiffs and defendants alike appeared before Judge Frick The complaint was filed a couple of demurrers were made and overruled, and then an answer was filed in a very brief space of time The voluminous record in the case before Judge Ellsworth was submitted to the court Findings were waived on both sides, and then the decree was signed declaring the trust, late ly discharged by Mr Nusbaumer, as null and void

James Merritt was represented by A. A Moore, Fred Merritt by George M. Williams the Purrington heirs by H C Campbell, Harry P Merritt by C H Lovell and Trustee Nusbaumer by George W. Reed

A Tribute to Irish.

The Sound Money League of Oakland is figuring on a testimonial banquet or public meeting in honor of Col. John P. Irish, who has returned after his Eastern trip in behalf of the gold standard. He camped on the trail of Bryan and did good work for the cause.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache, Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

The Earl of Selborne Entertaining the Host of Visitors.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

(Copyright 1896 by Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov 9—The Pacific Cable Conference resumed its sessions at noon today in the rooms of the Earl of Selborne Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Colonies at the Colonial Office

The Earl of Selborne presided

W Hopworth Mercer acted as Secretary.

All the delegates were present.

After an hour and a half of informal chat, during which the routine of the subject and the order of witnesses were discussed, it was decided to begin with technical questions.

The first regular working session will take place Thursday evening next

The Earl of Selborne will entertain the delegates at dinner.

Secretary Mercer said to a representative of the Associated Press "The conference will now get to work in earnest

'Two meetings have already been held, one in June and one in July last

At the June meeting it was found difficult to arrange for immediate subsequent sittings, owing to the Australian delegates being obliged to go to Buda Pest to attend Congress

"At the July session, a change of Government having taken place in Canada, the Canadian delegates felt some delicacy about going ahead until the attitude of the new Canadian Ministry was ascertained This necessitated an adjournment until autumn

'These two meetings were little more than formal. Still, matters were gone into and considerable ground cleared

'It is not, however, permitted to say just what took place as the Government cannot, of course, make any public statement until the conference is over and the results arrived at communicated to the Government colonies interested"

TAKEN BY TSCHICH.

A Remarkable Turn Taken About the Otten Child.

MUCH TROUBLE IS AHEAD.

The Courts Are Inclined to Frown Down His Claim.

A SCANDAL IS REVIVED.

It Looks as If a Play Is Being Made for Money.

The infant child of Peter Otten, deceased, is having a stormy time early in life and this is the case simply because its father happened, when he died to have acquired about $5,000

The fight over this waif has on several occasions been conducted in Judge Greene's court and the matter came up there today and was continued until January, because a new phase had been interjected into the matter It was the announcement that a man named Tschich of Alameda had adopted the child

This is the second time that the little one has been adopted, its first foster parent being a Mrs Baumer, a boarding house keeper in San Francisco As soon as Mrs Baumer adopted the child she sent her son to George W Reed the father's attorney in this city, with a request that he turn over to her the $5,000 which it is said is comprised in Otten's estate

As the estate has not yet been administered upon, Mr Reed declined to comply with the cheerful request of the self-sacrificing foster mother Mr Reed further told Mrs Baumer's representative that she was not entitled to the money simply because she had adopted the child She would have to be appointed guardian of the little one, he said, before she would be entitled to handle any of the money.

Accordingly Mrs Baumer hied herself to Judge Wallace's court in San Francisco to be appointed the child's guardian

Judge Wallace learned that the case had an arm in the courts of this county and threw the matter out of his department until it should first have been disposed of by Judge Greene

Now that Tschich has adopted the child, the result of that act will be awaited with interest, especially when the matter comes up before Judge Greene

Tschich will most likely receive a considerable amount of his honor's attention, because, in taking hold of Otten's child he is doing what Judge Greene has declared he would not do and was not fit to do for his own children.

The inquiry into Tschich's case which was made by Judge Greene was at the instance of Mrs Prescott of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children Mrs Prescott found Mrs Tschich living in almost bestial squalor on lower Broadway She had with her her two children and the infant child of Otten of which she was the mother although she had not been married to its father The child had been born to her after she had been deserted by her husband Mrs Tschich said that her husband had not contributed to her support and she was unable to provide for her children in any more satisfactory manner than that in which she was found by Mrs Prescott

Tschich testified that he had $700 in bank and that he was engaged in the lock business in Alameda.

Judge Greene scored him for his neglect of his wife and children and said he was unfit to have children He also said that he would place the children under the guardianship of Mrs Prescott and that Tschich would be obliged to pay for their care

Mrs Prescott has since discovered that Tschich had $1,100 instead of $700 in bank and that he has diverted it in such a manner that she can get none of it to pay for the support of Tschich's children

Mrs Prescott is satisfied that Tschich's motive in adopting the Otten child has a golden tint to it and it is not likely that when he fails to care for his own children he will be allowed to care for the children of others.

THE OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING.

McKinley's Election Has Had a Wonderful Effect Already.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

NEW YORK, Nov 9—The banks are contemplating the resumption of the specie payments which they suspended in February, 1893, by refusing to supply gold for export and for the payment of Government dues

That action threw the burden of supplying gold upon the Treasury, and eventually forced the issue of bonds by the Government which aroused so much complaint.

Since election the metal has been coming into the banks in such a flood that they see the way clear to what can be termed a resumption of specie payments.

By this action of the banks, gold will be put into circulation and no reason whatever will exist for hoarding it

They will also resume the task of supplying gold for export and thus relieve the Treasury of the great strain

THE STOCK MARKET

The initial prices on Wall street were irregular, changes were slight, aside from Bay State Gas which advanced 1½ per cent Trading was in large volume and the market displayed a sagging tendency

An easier tone was imparted by further advances of foreign exchange quotations in which posted rates were marked up half a cent

The market at 11 displayed an aggressive strength under the leadership of coalers

The improvement in the financial and business situation encouraged operations for long account, aided by the expectations that the New York City loan of $16,000,000 will be largely over-subscribed.

Realizations with a drive against some specialties, resulted in general concessions after 11 o'clock Sugar was the most conspicuous The general market was unfavorably affected by the decided strength of foreign exchange, the rates being further advanced, some drawers asking 4 and 6 1-4 for demand sterling. Posted quotations also stiffened to 483½ and 487 for long and short bills

The continued ease of money facilitating large remittances to Europe in the settlement of mercantile obligations and for our stocks and bonds recently bought abroad together with heavy covering in exchange and payments by gold importers, cause a firmness in the exchange There were large transactions of hitherto neglected shares

ALL FAIR AND SQUARE.

Supervisor-Elect Wells Talks About the Count at Pleasanton.

Tom Wells of Dublin, who possesses the distinction of being the only Democrat in Alameda County who achieved victory on Tuesday last, is in town today watching the canvassing of the votes. Mr Wells was, by the unofficial returns elected Supervisor in the First District by forty votes over the Republican candidate, F C Jarvis, of Newark, and there have been rumors of a contest principally on the ground that in Pleasanton No 2 Jarvis received only twenty-two votes while the Republican strength there was over 100

"I can account for that easily," said Mr Wells to a Tribune man today 'Pleasanton No 2 is practically my home precinct, being only six miles from where I live at Dublin I did not get many votes in the precinct where Mr Jarvis lives and I don't think he ought to be surprised at not getting many where I live I have been told that the count was absolutely correct and straightforward in every way and I want to say right here that if I couldn't get an office honestly, squarely and like a man I wouldn't take it at all Mr Downing, who was present at the count as one of the officials tells me that every vote went in just as it appeared and as there were Republican officials on the board as well as Democratic, I don't see how anything unfair could have been effected in the manner charged."

NEW YORK, Nov 9—Frauds in the examination of applicants for the police force are alleged to have been discovered which may affect many persons connected with the civil service branch of the department

For months it had been noted that men below average intelligence successfully passed the examination, while their superiors in education failed to obtain the required percentage in rating

The fact led to an investigation, which showed that many of those taking examinations were supplied beforehand with a list of the questions to be asked them

They are said to have paid $300 each for this list.

The New Lord Mayor of London Is Formally Installed.

A Magnificent Procession Through the Heart of the City.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 9—In bright, crisp weather today the time-honored 'Lord Mayor's Show" took place

The new Lord Mayor of London Mr Faudel-Phillips, was formally installed in office, succeeding Sir Walter Wilkins

The established custom showed a little sign of becoming obsolete and owing to the popularity of the new Lord Mayor and some unusual features of the street parade, the occasion was the most interesting in recent years

The committee having charge of the arrangements wisely determined to eliminate certain absurd features from the parade

In place of the triumphal cars representing some allegorical or historical subject upon which numerous young women shivered in the November wind, the cars were occupied by groups showing various conditions of London's industry during the last century

The procession started from Guild Hall at 10 30 A M

Along the route the usual bunting and decorations were displayed, being particularly noticeable on Cheapside and Newgate street

A new particularly pleasing feature of the parade was the maids of honor who accompanied the lady Mayoress The ladies who officiated in this capacity were Misses Faudel-Phillips, Stella Faudel-Phillips Wingfield, Churchill Walrond, Fitz-George, Evan and Walter For the first time in history these parades of the maids were attended by groomsmen

Another feature of the procession was the military display The Scots Greys furnished the escort

Several lines of regiments also marched The boys of the ships Arethusia, Chichester and Warsprite attracted much attention and were supplemented by a division of the Gordon Boys' Orphanage

The fire brigade also made an interesting showing

The advance which has been made in locomotion during the century was demonstrated by one of the most perfect motor cars in contrast to the old style, each equipped with coachman and attendants in old-fashioned liveries which followed

The new Lord Mayor is the younger son of the late Sir Benjamin Samuel Phillips, who was alderman from 1857 to 1888, and who served as Lord Mayor in 1866

He was born in 1840, succeeded his father as alderman in 1888 having three years previously filled the office of sheriff of London and Middlesex.

He has for three years been chairman of the special committee on corporations, appointed to defend the rights, privileges and existence of the city, under the present conditions.

He holds high decorations from Belgium, Servia, Persia and other countries.

He is the fourth Lord Mayor of the Jewish persuasion, his father having been the second.

CHICAGO, Nov 9—Wheat broke the record for the season this morning by selling at 80½ December, two cents over Saturday's close

The advance was not attended by any great excitement

A few open orders to take profit on long stuff at an even figure brought only a temporary setback

Outside markets were particularly strong

The visible report showed an increase of only 1 243 000 bushels.

The threatened crop damage in Argentine, doleful rumors of an unsatisfactory fall of seeding in Russia and France and large seaboard clearances were the chief factors which contributed to the success of the bulls

Corn, oats and provisions participated in the advance proportionately

LONDON, Nov 9—Business at the Baltic in wheat opened steady and quiet. On Mark Lane wheat was firm, about 1s. 6d. higher than Friday.

Business at the Baltic closed very quiet, but holders adhered to opening prices.

The Mark Lane Express in a long article on crops says "The deficiency in India is now known to be very serious, but it is not likely that large wheat imports will occur. Although the prices only range from 26s. to 26s per quarter, the extreme poverty of the Indian populace renders anything over 20s a most prohibitory, and 15s to 25s. is the usual range

"Owing to the failure in India and Australia, a deficiency of 2,033 500 quarters has been created in Great Britain's usual supply, which must be made up from other sources and is a change in the situation which, itself, is sufficient to uphold the recent rise.

"The quantities of wheat in passage to the United Kingdom November 7th were 2 045,000 quarters, of which Russian wheat amounts to 400 000 quarters North American 400 000, South American 100,000, Californian 1,220,000 and elsewhere 25,000"

Routine Matters Come Before the Board of Supervisors.

Preparations for a Bridge Across the Arroyo Valley Creek

The Board of Supervisors was called to order this morning at half-past 9 o'clock. Though the principal business of the meeting was to canvass the election returns, the customary audience was not in attendance Later, however, many of the interested ones dropped in

Before commencing the big task, some routine business was transacted

Supervisor Talcott asked that some action be taken in regard to Hopkins street, which is in a bad condition, owing to the lack of drains He asked authorization to go ahead and have drains put in and by a unanimous vote this was so ordered.

Bassett Bros asked for a slight amendment to their contract for building the bridge over Sausal Creek. Supervisor Talcott was empowered to take charge of the matter.

G F Hawk, Emeryville, applied for a permit to sell liquor and his bond was approved.

Supervisor Pelouze reported that he had assisted 150 indigents during October at a cost of $264.

Permits to obtain liquor licenses were given to J. P Greer, Park street and Hollis avenue, Manuel Silva, Centerville, J. Dignier San Pablo and Park avenues.

J Reichert was granted a free peddler's license for six months, upon the filing of a satisfactory petition.

Supervisor Johnston offered a resolution ordering the Clerk to advertise for bids for the construction of a brige across Arroyo Valle creek, at the intersection of the Wetmore and Crane properties.

Supervisor Church wanted to have the character of the bridge specified and it was then decided to make it a combination of wood and iron

Supervisor Talcott did not know whether the location was a good one, and to straighten matters out, Supervisor Church moved that the County Surveyor, acting in conjunction with the Supervisor of the district, find a suitable location for it This was adopted, though not by a unanimous vote The whole resolution was then laid on the table for one week

The Board then started canvassing the returns.

THE "COTTAGE" IN COURT

Watson's Lessee Complains of the Way He Was Treated.

He Says the Liquor License Was Seized Contrary to Agreement.

An interesting case was taken under advisement by Judge Ellsworth this morning, in which the resort near the Twelfth street dam, known as the Cottage Saloon, plays a prominent part.

The plaintiff in the case is Fleury Gommet, and W M Watson the liquor dealer on Washington stree , is the defendant.

Gommet asserted that on the 21th of March of this year the defendant sold him the stock of liquors and cigars and all the fixtures of the place, including as he alleged a liquor license of the City of Oakland, which he said had eleven months to run. The price paid was $875, of which amount $500 was for the stock and fixtures and $100 was for the license. Gommet further said that it was represented to him that he could conduct a liquor and restaurant business at the "Cottage" and that he proceeded to do so until, on the 24th of the following April he was compelled to desist selling liquors on the order of the Chief of Police on the ground that no license was in effect at the resort and the petitioner would not be granted a license by the Council.

Watson contended, so far as the payment of $100 for the license was concerned, the only person authorized by law to receive such payment was the City Treasurer He also contended that he had nothing to do with the order of the Chief which closed up the saloon He also held that the plaintiff should have known that he could not run a saloon in this city without first procuring a license from the city authorities authorizing him to sell liquor

Gommet sued for $675 and Judge Ellsworth will determine as to whether or not the claim is a valid one

FIGURED AT $1.10.

The City's Clerical Staff at Work on the Taxes

The City Assessor and Tax Collector have taken time by the forelock in the matter of taxes and figuring upon the $1 10 ordinance going through, despite the veto of the Mayor, which is being prepared today, will be ready by Wednesday morning to receive money and give receipts

For the past week the Assessor has had an extra force of clerks at work and all of his computations on the $1.10 rate were finished Saturday night The rolls were turned over to the Tax Collector this morning and an extra force is at work today making the extensions on the tax bills This will be completed tomorrow night.

The ordinance has been with the Mayor since Friday morning, but he did nothing with it until today. This makes it too late for a special meeting of the council to be called for this evening, but one will probably be summoned tomorrow night, at which time the measure will be acted upon.

President Cleveland Sends a Message About the A. R. U.

He Thinks a Forcible Lesson Has Been Given the Workmen.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The President has pardoned W. H Clune, Isaac Ross and Philip Stanwood of California sentenced December 6, 1896, to pay a fine of a dollar and be confined in Los Angeles county jail eighteen months for conspiracy, the offense being committed in the railway riots at that time general throughout the country.

The President wrote the following endorsement on the application "These convicts have suffered more than nine months' imprisonment under their sentences I am bound to assume they were guilty of an offense most dangerous in its character and in the commission of which they aided and encouraged an unlawful defiance of authority which threatened most distressing consequences

"I am convinced however, that these men are not criminals, but laboring men swept into the violation of law by first listening to the counsels of disorder.

"Others besides themselves are suffering humiliation and deprivation on account of their wrong doing; and I am led to believe the purposes of punishment as far as the effect on the prisoners is concerned, have been fully accomplished.

"I am also convinced that the imprisonment already suffered by these prisoners will be an ample warning to thousands equally guilty though unpunished, and to those who may be hereafter tempted that laws enacted to insure peace and order must be obeyed."

A SAILOR RUN DOWN.

Gus Nelson of the Fishing Bark "Electra" Is Injured.

He Was Struck by the Alameda Local on First Street.

Gus Nelson, a Swede who lives in San Francisco, was seriously, if not fatally, injured by being struck by a train yesterday afternoon.

Nelson lives with Fred Showers, on the corner of Pacific and Drumm streets, is 34 years of age and is the mate of the fishing bark Electra.

He came over to Oakland yesterday to spend his Sunday and during the afternoon drank enough to make him reckless

At about 4 o'clock he attempted to cross First street at Broadway. The Alameda local was just coming along and, although the engineer saw Nelson and reversed the brakes applied the air brakes, blew the whistle and otherwise tried to get him off of the track, he was unable to do so and Nelson was struck and knocked several feet away

He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, and Drs Johnson and Olmstead were summoned. It was found that he was terribly bruised and bleeding, but the worst wound was a fracture of the skull which could plainly be seen through an ugly laceration in the side of his head

He remained unconscious during the night, but this morning regained reason He gave his name and address but could not recall anything that had transpired just prior to the accident He seemed to be suffering a great deal, but is in a half dazen condition. The captain of the Electra called this morning at the hospital and said he would remove Nelson to the German Hospital in San Francisco as soon as his condition warrants it Dr Johnson says that if Nelson continues to recover as fast as he has during the last twenty-four hours, he will soon be out of all danger.

DEMANDED THE MONEY.

Alcock Rosborough's Bondsmen Receive a Formal Notice.

A demand was made today on the bondsmen of Alex Rosborough, late County Tax Collector, to pay into the County Treasury the sum of $591 10, which it is alleged Rosborough collected as taxes but failed to surrender. A similar demand was made upon Rosborough several weeks since but thus far, has not been complied with.

Rosborough's bondsmen are W W. Foote, J. T. Glenn, John R Glascock, P. E. Dalton, R. M Turner, R. M. Fitzgerald, J. West Martin, John M. English, J. C. Martin, A. A Moore and Thomas Moran.

HAVANA, Nov 9 — Captain General Weyler has taken the field in person against the insurgents under Antonio Maceo in the province Pinar del Rio.

Reliable news received from the front indicates that the Spanish columns are approaching close to the enemy.

From Mariel it is understood he will go southward by highway to Artemisot and along the line of the trocha

Strong reinforcements are being embarked to support the Captain General in his operations against the insurgents.

Marquis de Ahumada remains in charge of the Captain General's office here, with Col. Ramon Dominguez as Chief of Staff.

The Committee on National Defense has passed a resolution requesting the Government to finish the rebellion by the use of the army and without political interference.

RUMORS DENIED.

WASHINGTON, Nov 9—The State Department officials say the story published today that Ramon Williams, ex-United States Consul General to Cuba, was sent to Spain as a secret agent of the Government in an endeavor to secure the consent of the Spanish Government to a project to sell Cuba to the insurgents, the United States to guarantee bonds in payment therefor, is a pure invention.

Williams has no connection with the State Department, either open or secret.

There also is said to be a lack of foundation for the story that the Spanish Minister promised the President that if the Spanish troops are unable to subdue the insurrection within sixty days the island will be abandoned

Nothing has been heard here regarding the reported outrage on the family of an American sugar planter named Crayeroft.

ACTIVITY REIGNS.

Many Ships Are Docking at the Edson Adams Wharves.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT, Nov. 9.—There is considerable business being done at the wharves today. Both the city and Adams' wharves are receiving considerable coal and lumber and each presents a scene of activity.

The steamer Bonita is in at the foot of Webster street with 400 tons of Coos Bay coal This steamer has been engaged to ply between Coos Bay and this city in place of the lost Arago

The schooner Enterprise came down yesterday with 250,000 feet of Oregon pine, consigned to the Oakland Lumber Company

The steamer Homer finished discharging a cargo of Wellington coal at the Taylor bunkers and departed at noon today.

The Alliance was towed from the city wharf to the Edson Adams wharf last week where she will receive her coats of paint without injury from coal dust

The Annie Gee is also docked at the Adams wharf, where she is discharging 200,000 feet of lumber from Portland, which is consigned to the Washington Lumber Company

The Joseph and Henry has finished discharging her cargo of coal and will depart tomorrow

Foreman Weisensel of the Adams wharf expects a large whaleback vessel She will discharge a cargo of coal in the enormous new bunkers lately erected by John L. Howard.

SECURED MUCH BOOTY.

Burglars Successfully Loot the Residence of R. W. Kinney.

During the absence of the family burglars broke into the house of Ralph W. Kenney at the intersection of Telegraph and Webster and stole nearly everything in sight. The family has been traveling in the East for some time and Mr Kenney has been living down town Yesterday he went to his home to see if everything was all right and discovered the burglary.

The matter has been reported to both the police and sheriff's office, and efforts are being made to recover the plunder, which is valued at about $500.

A Different Man.

The P. J. Cunningham who was treated at the Receiving Hospital for an acute case of alcoholism, Friday, is not Mr. Cunningham, the dry-goods man, who lives at Seventh and Franklin streets The man treated at the hospital was a stranger in this city, having just arrived from Denver, Colorado.

CANNOT BE COMPENSATED.

The Supreme Court Decides the Transportation Case.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov 9—The Supreme Court handed down a decision today in the case of the Central Pacific Railroad Company against the United States involving the right of the company to compensation for carrying post office inspectors.

The Court held that the Company had waived any right of compensation that might exist.

The Government's right to secure transportation on bond-aided roads was not directly covered as the decision turned on the point that the railroad had freely given transportation not putting in the claim until long afterwards.

A SHIP ASHORE.

A British Boat Is in Trouble North of Gray's Harbor.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PORTLAND, Nov 9—Word has been received from West Point, Washington, that a British bark had gone ashore two miles north of Gray's Harbor

Tugs cannot reach the vessel

A life saving crew has gone to the scene.

SANTA CLARA'S VOTE.

The Canvass Will Not Change the Presidential Figures.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN JOSE, Cal, Nov. 9—The Board of Supervisors, as a canvassing board began a count of the votes today.

At noon only two precincts had been footed.

It is not believed the figures will differ materially from those already published, which give McKinley a plurality of 1,052

The People's Party and Democratic vote will be footed separately.

The People's Party and Democratic vote are totalized in these figures.

CONCEDED TO M'KINLEY.

Close of the Contest About the Blue Grass State.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

LOUISVILLE, Ky, Nov 9—The headquarters of both the Republican and Democratic Campaign Committees are closed, it being conceded now that on the face of the official returns from 115 of 119 counties McKinley carried the State

Chairman Roberts figures McKinley's plurality at 441.

The Courier-Journal figures the plurality at 498; the Times makes it 576.

GRANTED A DIVORCE.

The Quinan Case Is Disposed of by Judge Ellsworth

William R Quinan was granted a divorce from his wife, Caroline B DeWitt Quinan on the ground of willful desertion this afternoon by Judge Ellsworth. The plaintiff is the assistant superintendent of the Powder Works at Pinole This is the second time the case has been tried. On the first hearing the petitioner was unable to prove desertion The defendant's attorney, after the decree had been made, asked for permission on the part of Mrs Quinan to resume her maiden name. The request was not objected to by the petitioner, but Judge Ellsworth refused to grant it. He claimed that the defendant was advanced in years and had borne children who bore the name of her husband It was proper, therefore that the defendant should continue to bear her name in marriage Besides, it was the fault of the woman alone that the divorce has been occasioned, because she deliberately left her home and, although she returned to it later, she refused to act as a wife or even to take charge of the home The family reside at Twelfth and Filbert streets.

A NEW REGISTER.

C. L. Maxwell the Inventor of a Clever Device.

C L Maxwell has completed a model of his "Columbia" cash register, on which he has spent much time and money during the past several years and will have it on exhibition at his hardware store, 1161 Washington street, near Fourteenth, for a few days previous to sending it East. Mr Maxwell is justly proud over the success of his efforts and extends a cordial invitation to his many friends and the public in general to call at his store and inspect the new register.

Another Burglary.

Burglars broke into the home of Kate Marchi, the opera singer, last night and stole a gun and case and several minor articles. The residence is at Thirty-ninth and Grove streets. The family was in San Francisco last night and did not discover the burglary until this noon.

KILLED BY A RANGER.

A Noted Colorado Outlaw Comes to Grief in Texas.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER, Nov. 9.—The Federal officers today received a telegram saying Miguel Reville was killed near Childers, Tex., Saturday, by a Texas Ranger, when resisting arrest.

Reville was the leader of a gang of outlaws who infested Southern Colorado for years.

The Trinidad officers claim to have proof that Reville and his gang killed Billy Green and Billy Kelly, members of the Sheriff's posse, who captured Pedro Baca and Leandro Martinez about a year ago.

This pair are serving forty-five years' sentence for the murder of Charles Allen in a Trinidad saloon a year and a half ago

Holt, Nobie and Romero, who were hanged for the murder of Officer Solomon in Trinidad, were members of Reville's gang.

OAKLAND OFFICE

Gas, Light and Heat Company,

N. W. Cor. of Thirteenth and Clay Sts.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 30, 1896.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We want to interest you in the matter of Gas Stoves. We can sell you a stove which will do all your cooking, for a less sum than you can buy either a wood or a coal stove, and the price of gas will make it cost you less per month than any other fuel you can buy.

You must have heard of the stoves from your neighbors for more than 1000 are in use in this territory.

They boil, roast, broil and fry. They don't heat the kitchen. They are clean.

If you use 1000 feet a month you get gas at $1.75 per thousand—We sell a stove for $12 placed in your house, and you are instructed in its care and management. It don't cost you anything for all time to keep it in repair and condition, as we do that for you free of expense.

We have stoves with waterback attachments, and a variety of patterns of stoves ranging in price from $12 upwards.

We trust that you will find time to call and investigate the conveniences and advantages attending the use of gas for fuel. Heating stoves of all kinds from $1.50 upward. Yours very respectfully,

JOHN A. BRITTON,
Secretary.

Julia Marlowe-Taber Tonight in "Romeo and Juliet."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Will Be on at the Oakland Theater.

Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber will play an engagement of three nights at the Macdonough Theatre, beginning tonight and the theatre goers of Oakland may be assured a series of delightful and inspiring performances will be offered them.

Julia Marlowe-Taber's genius is now greatly recognized as belonging to the highest rank Her portrayals of the gentle heroines of Shakespeare's comedies have long been recognized as possessing a singular charm, and her Juliet has been pronounced the most convincing and appealing interpretation of the character known to the modern stage.

Robert Taber is regarded as one of the most capable and artistic legitimate actors in the profession. The productions being given by Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber are all receiving high praise for their completeness and artistic worth and their Company is one adequate to the presentations of high class performances. They will give 'Romeo and Juliet' tonight, 'Twelfth Night" on Tuesday night and "As You Like It" Wednesday night

The staging and appointment of the show form one of the great features of the attractions Everything is artistic and of the highest order and the public will see productions that have never been excelled at the Macdonough Theatre. There has been a big advance sale and as society does not mind the rain there will undoubtedly be a crowded and fashionable house when the curtain goes up

A critic writing of her characterizations says 'Miss Marlowe's Juliet comes closer to the great poet's ideal Italian girl than that of any recent actress She is not altogether the conventional Juliet, for she refuses to adhere to some of the long accepted readings and situations. She shows us a Juliet within the scope of our modern conceptions—a fair girl changed from child to woman almost in an instant by the subtle force of love She makes us see childish playfulness and fancy charmingly joined to the womanly instinct of complete devotion to a heart's idol Mr Taber's Romeo is praised highly by the leading critics, Boston saying that he is incomparably the best that city has ever seen during the last decade Mr. Taber creates a Romeo who is a lover according to the good, old-fashioned, romantic school—a lover who will not grow obsolete until human nature changes much more radically than it has changed during the last three thousand years 'Romeo and Juliet" will be handsomely staged, Mr and Mrs Taber making what are called special productions of the six plays they produce in this city."

CLEVER JIM SWINNERTON.

He Has Issued a Calendar Typical of His Style.

James Swinnerton, the clever cartoonist and artist, who has made the California bear such a feature of his illustrations, has illustrated a calendar for 1897 The calendar is printed on heavy light-brown paper of heavy quality and comes in an attractive box ready for mailing

Swinnerton did most excellent work in the illustration, and shows a delicate humor in his treatment of the characteristics of each month From the Polar January bear shivering over his fire to the December bear snuffled in a high collar, the variations of the season are shown. The stormy seasons of the spring are depicted by the little bears suffering from various dilemmas of the storm, wind and rain His May bear is poised sentimentally over a rose inhaling its perfume. June is a delicious satire on the "summer man" at the seashore, for Swinnerton has made the quaint little bear express every whim of that individual, in his expression, dress and gait.

The month of July will recall a pleasant reminiscence of summer days, when the heat bids one seek comfort and coolness in sea bathing In this picture, Swinnerton has the little bears acting in the most human manner, from the one who hesitates on the plank till another pushes him over to the little cub shivering with cold, it is a typical scene at a bathing resort

August and September are cleverly illustrated October with its football players will appeal to many as a good take-off on the heroes of the gridiron.

The anxiety of politicians is reflected on the expressive countenance of November's bear, who is adorned jointly with a Populistic bear while he polling place looms up in the background

It is with regret that one views the last bear shivering beneath the cold blasts of December, and whose grotesque figure marks the end of Swinnerton's clever work

MONDAY.....NOVEMBER 9, 1896

It appears from a recent dispatch sent from London that the Spanish bankers have come to the aid of the Treasury of Spain when it was evident that a great financial crisis was approaching. The loan to be made to the Government by Spanish bankers amounts to 400,000,000 pesetas (about $80,000,000.) nominal, redeemable in eight years and bearing five per cent interest. Of this amount 20,000,000 pesetas will be used to pay the Spanish Transatlantic Steamship Company the arrears due it for transporting troops to Cuba; 50,000,000 pesetas will be devoted to the reimbursement of the Bank of Spain for its latest advances; 63,000,000 pesetas for the reimbursement of the Banque de Paris et du Pay Bas, and the remainder for war expenses in Cuba. Senor Canovas del Castillo, the prime minister, in announcing the success of the loan, said the issue would be made in December, and would be guaranteed by the customs. The Government hopes to issue later a loan of a thousand million pesetas guaranteed by the tobacco monopoly.

The London Saturday Review voices an odd complaint, inspired by the fact that the first and only short story written by Du Maurier is now being printed in England: "The bitterest enemy of a great man or great woman of letters is the creature who brings to light a writer's discarded work. "His best he gave, his worst he kept;" it ought to be left to a literary man or woman to say which, and how much, of his or her products shall be given finally to the world. There should be some respect for the dead. The fact that a writer leaves manuscripts behind him is no reason why they should be printed and circulated. They may be utterly unworthy of him, and tend to minimize his fame and influence. "When a famous author dies there is a strong desire to make commercial use if his unpublished works. Frenquently members of his family dig up manuscripts and sell them to the publishers. More frequently perhaps the publishers themselves rake them up for the money that there may be in publishing them. Has any author in this country been treated in this respect worse than Hawthorne?

A Buffalo man has a new electric device which according to the Pittsburg Dispatch he proposes to attach in the shape of a small dynamo to the axles of steam cars so that when they are running down hill enough electricity will be generated to cary a train up the grade, or to take most of the pull from the locomotive. Mr. Warner has experimented with his models, and, although he had no locomotive, he found by a register attached to a pulling contrivance that the electricity generated going down one hill was sufficient to equalize the resistance occasioned by a heavy adverse grade of equal length. He thinks that the saving of coal alone and the increased capacity of locomotives would more than pay any big railroad company for the expense of equipping their coaches with the device in less than a year. He does not think that the trolly system will ever prove a success on standard roads moving a heavy traffic, but says that in less than ten years all the big roads will be using auxiliary motors on their coaches, especially on through trains running at a high rate of speed, which demand the heaviest of engines at present, and even then can scarcely make schedule time.

According to the New York Sun twenty ounces of tea is the average annual consumption for each individual in the United States. England's average for the same period has been eighty ounces for each inhabitant, or four times greater. Tea drinkers as a rule use more sugar than coffee drinkers do. Tea-drinking countries are the greatest consumers of sugar. In Spain, where chocolate is more popular as a drink than tea and in France, where coffee is proverbially popular, and supposedly best made, sugar is relatively less used. The annual consumption of sugar in the United States is now 2,100,000 tons, which is about 65 pounds a person. Of the total the United States produce 350,000 tons, 1,800,000 being imported. The United States pay annually over $103,000,000 for foreign sugar and $20,000,000 for the domestic article. The American product of sugar has increased 50 per cent in twelve years. The English consumption of sugar is at the rate of 70 pounds per capita, the average of Holland and Denmark being 30 pounds, and of France and Switzerland 23 pounds. The expression "enormous" often erroneously used by statisticians intent upon establishing a proposition or destroying an adverse contention, is correct in the case of Holland as a coffee-consuming country, for the total consumption of coffee in a year amounts to 40,000 tons, and the total area of Holland is 12,000 square miles—less than half the size of West Virginia. On the basis of the population the coffee consumption of Holland is 325 ounces yearly for each inhabitant, and the other countries with which a comparison is made have the averages following: United States, 150; Germany, 90; France, 70; Austro-Hungary, 35; Italy, 17; Great Britain and Ireland, 15; Spain, 9, and Russia, 3.

McKinley in Congress.

Senator Morgan in his recent explanation of the defeat of his party, extracts a little comfort from the declaration that McKinley voted in Congress for free silver, and therefore he will go into office with similar opinions. He will do nothing of the kind. In the first place his free silver leanings, if he ever had such in fact were at a time when that question was not a direct issue. Many members of Congress voted tentatively in that way who when the question was made a national issue, took the other side. A Republican President has been elected on a National platform which declares for a gold standard, but favors at the same time the largest use of silver consistent with that standard. Now there can never be but one standard. To say that there can be two contradicts the financial history of the world for the last two centuries.

Not only was a Republican President elected on a platform expressly declaring for a gold standard, but nearly every Republican who has been elected to the next Congress expressly avowed his adherence to that platform. Neither the President nor his Republican Congress will go back on this declaration of National faith. That includes a revision of the present tariff so that it will secure enough revenue to meet the expenditures of the Administration and incidentally to secure a moderate amount of protection. These issues have been settled by the recent election. There is not the least prospect that either will be obscured by the incoming Republican Administration.

About Municipal Charters.

It is now well settled by the courts that a municipal charater may be adopted at a special election. The charter of San Francisco failed although the vote was taken at a general election. Whether a new charter would have any better chance at a special election in that city is an open question. But another effort will be made to adopt a new charter which probably would not take effect before the expiration of two years or more, as it would not now be framed and submitted to the people in season to send to the present Legislature.

It will be noted that the Amendments to the Constitution, numbers four and five have been adopted by popular vote. These with other clauses of the Constitution practically give cities a good degree of independence provided they are organized under general laws. This independence is confined solely to municipal affairs. But some further legislation seems to be necessary before such organizations can safely be made. Amendment four specifies that the Legislature by general laws shall provide for the incorporation and organization of cities and towns. And those heretofore organized or incorporated may become organized under general laws. Some such laws are now in force, but the plain inference is that other general laws are to be enacted for the purpose by the incoming Legislature.

Republicans in Southern States.

The largest Republican vote ever cast in a number of the Southern States was that cast at the recent election. There is Kentucky, for instance, which four years ago gave Cleveland a plurality of 40,000. There were also 23,000 Populists at that time. In the recent election there was a fusion of Democrats and Populists. According to the latest report, McKinley has a plurality of 500 in Kentucky. That is the change that has been brought in four years.

Maryland, "my Maryland," went over to the Republicans for the first time in her history by a rousing majority. Sound money was in the lead there from the start. Then Delaware came into line. Virginia also ought to have been there, but Barbonism after getting some hard knocks, prevailed. But West Virginia, the home of Wilson, the father of the present tariff who was defeated for Congress two years ago, came up handsomely for the Republicans.

There is no Solid South. One after another these States have either gone over to the Republicans, or shown a strong tendency to go in that direction. If the next Republican Administration is satisfactory to the country, as it probably will be, most of the Southern States will cease to be counted in the Democratic ranks.

The Miners in Convention.

The Miners' Association of the Pacific Coast will meet in San Francisco tomorrow. These annual meetings are of surpassing interest. While a majority of the members are from California, and the interests of this State take the lead, Arizona, Nevada, Oregon and even Alaska will probably be represented. It is too early yet to make up the statistics of gold mining for the year in California. There has been a considerable increase in the output of gold believed by many to range from one to two millions over the product of last year. The gold product of Alaska will show a very large increase over any former year. Arizona, acording to recent authentic reports, has increased her gold product this year by more than a million of dollars.

The Miners' Association has become a very influential organization on the Pacific Coast. It has turned aside some unfriendly legislation, and has secured for mining industry an amount of protection which never could have been secured without a compact organization. Mining titles were never so secure as they are now. The meeting of an Association that represents a productive industry only less than that of agriculture, will be one of the most important events in these closing months of the year.

The Hitch About the Affiliated Colleges.

The Attorney General has refused to sign the contract for the construction of the Affiliated College buildings on the ground that the contract includes the use of Folsom granite. By means of that clause it was supposed that about ten thousand dollars would be saved, and only in that way could a contract be let for the construction of the buildings which would come within the limits of the appropriation.

The refusal of the Attorney General to approve of the contract because the Folsom stone is quarried by convict labor, will probably make an end of any construction of the contemplated college buildings this year. Governor Budd took an active part as one of the Regents, in shaping this contract. He is also a member of the Board of Examiners who pass upon all contracts for public buildings. He evidently saw no valid objection to the use of Folsom stone in the rough as an economical measure. The contract probably did not specify that the quarrying of granite should be by convict labor. That is the inference of the Attorney General whose little finger appears just now to be heavier than the whole Board of Regents.

Here is an account that comes all the way from Philadelphia. "A bad report of the sailing qualities of the battle ship Oregon comes from San Francisco. She met heavy weather on her trial trip and is said to have rolled so badly as to endanger not only the safety of her crew, but even her own. Apparently her metacentric height is too great. She is top heavy and when a ship is in that condition there is always danger of her "turning turtle" and going to the bottom with all on board, as several vessels of foreign navies have done. It is not probable that the Oregon will be accepted unless this defect is remedied, and whether it can be remedied without virtually rebuilding her, is yet to be ascertained." It may be noted that this account, which appears in the Ledger, is published close to Cramp's ship yard and at a time too, when there is great rivalry between that concern and the Union Iron Works of San Francisco. Does that account for the milk in the cocoanut?

The orange season is just about to open in California. From the reports that have come to hand it is believed that the crop will turn out to be one of the best that has ever been produced in this State. There is gold in the orange crop and a great deal of it. It will probably be one of the most satisfactory crops of the year. It looks now as if the market would be a fair one for all the citrus growers.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Not many years ago, according to the annals of the India Office, a Queen's messenger, or some other inferior official, was robbed, though not injured in any way, on his road to Cabul, and the British government, of course, wrote to complain of it. No reply was received for months; but at last the Emir wrote: "The matter you mention has been thoroughly investigated, and not only have the robbers of your messenger been put to death, but all their children, as well as their fathers and grandfathers. I hope this will give satisfaction to her majesty the Queen."

W. J. Green, a Pittsburg grocer, having had his supply of city water shut off, as the result of a dispute with the rate assessor, bethought himself of a well in his yard, and a tank on his roof. To fill the one from the other seemed to necessitat a lot of work, done either by Mr. Green or his coal heap, but, after prolonged study of the situation, he rigged up a swing over the well, connected it in some subtle manner with the pumphandle, and then invited the children of the neighborhood to come and have lots of fun. They came, had it, and the tank keeps full all the time.

One of the bright remarks made during the recent political campaign was one made the other day by a little tot, less than 4½ years old, living in Central New York. She had a small cavity in her tooth, and the mother took her to the dentist to have it filled. The little thing got into the chair, and the dentist began his work. The mother, who was standing by, watching the operation, asked him what he was going to use for filling. He replied: "Silver." With this the little girl straightened herself up, and, throwing aside the operator's hand, said, with great earnestness: "I will not have my tooth filled with silver; I am for McKinley."

A friend of Dr. Nansen's says that the most hairbreadth escape from death the explorer had was once, when out shooting with the doctor of the expedition, a huge polar bear came suddenly in sight, and with a fierce growl made for them. At that instant, the ice floe on which the two men were standing broke in two and separated them. Nansen raised his gun to fire, when to his horror he found something had gone wrong with it, and it was useless. He called to the doctor to "shoot," but as he was standing exactly between his friend's gun and the animal, that was impossible. On came the beast, plunging into the water and placing his huge paws on Nansen's floe. Death seemed inevitable, when, by some miraculous chance, the animal slipped off, sending the floe spinning round and round, and so enabling the doctor to get a clear shot at him and kill him.

The Chicago Times-Herald quotes the following story which Governor Cumback of Indiana uses with good effect in his campaign speeches: "Two tramps went around to the back door of a house to beg for a meal," says Governor Cumback; "on their way there they met a big, powerful dog. The tramps stopped and eyed the dog carefully. Finally one of them said to the other: 'Bill you go and ask for the grub. Don't yer see, he is waggin' his tail?' 'Yep, I see him waggin' his tail all right,' replied Bill, 'but I also see him growlin' with his mouth, an' I don't know which end to believe.'"

Papa's Amazement: The old gentleman went into the parlor the other night at the witching hour of 11:45 and found the lights out and his daughter and a dear friend enjoying a tete-a-tete in a corner of the window. "Evangeline," said the old man sternly, "this is scandalous." "Yes, papa," she answered sweetly; "it is candleless because times are hard. Lights cost so much that Ferdinand and I said we would try to get along with the starlight." And papa turned about in speechless amazement and tried to walk out of the room through a panel in the wall paper.—Fairview, Kan., Courier.

UP-TO-DATE TEAGOWNS.

They Rarely Fulfill the Function for Which They Were Intended.

The teagown is rapidly changing its position in society. On most occasions when it is the privilege of my lady to pour tea, the assemblage is mixed, and the teagown would be in bad taste. Occasionally, at a club meeting or when friends have met to discuss some charity, the hostess may don her teagown and display its beauties before the eyes of her admiring friends.

The teagown, while loose and flowing, should suggest the lines of the figure in front and be tight fitting in the back.

It should combine all the latest fashion traits in one garment, bewitching in texture and coloring.

Of course brocaded satin may always be used, but a gown if much cheaper material can easily be secured and will be equally charming.

A gown of deep violet cotton crepe such as you can buy for 15 cents a yard, is most effective. It opens in front with lace in a bluish tint that falls from the neck, but is slightly fastened at the waist with violet velvet. The sleeves are small in themselves, are made enormous by the addition of immense shoulder puffs of bluish white tulle, and puffs that hang below, concealing the lower arm and making the hand of fairy-like dimensions.

The neck is finished with a stock collar and balloon-like rosettes. The waist is made trim in appearance by a similar device.

What Is Good Housekeeping.

At a recent afternoon tea, where there were a goodly number of intelligent men and women assembled, the conversation turned upon good housekeeping and one of the guests was asked to define the term.

After a moment's hesitation he answered:

"Good housekeeping is that sort which embodies order, neatness, promptness and an average amount of good temper. Allowing that the members of the human family are by no means angelic, one must not look for too much, and it is therefore a part of the philosophy of life to avoid great expectations."

"Good housekeeping," said another member of the party, "is to have a clean house, wholesome food at regular meal hours, and that restfulness that is never found where the presiding genius of the establishment is fussy, irritable, worrisome and given to fretting about trifles."

"Keeping a house in order," remarked a veteran, "is not so difficult if one only adopts a systematic course and sticks to it."

"But, my dear," said a venerable mother in Israel, "have you ever kept house on a system and lived up to it? I have been trying it for threescore years, for I began early, and I assure you that there is no fixed law about housekeeping except the law of uncertainty. I have many a time planned my work for the day, and when everything was arranged, and I saw clear sailing ahead of me, word would come up that the preserves were working, or the bread had turned sour, or Dick had dropped the egg basket, and there wasn't a thing in the house to make cake with, or the range wouldn't work, and nobody could tell why, or any one of the thousand and one things that beset every housekeeper who tries to do things clear up to her lights on all these subjects.

"The best definition of good housekeeping that I ever heard was that given by a little slip of a boy, who, after listening for a long time to a very learned discussion from some of his mother's club associations, on the best way to order a home, was asked: 'Well, my little man, what kind of a house do you think is best?' A beautiful light came into the child's eyes. He tossed back his yellow hair and shook his head. 'I don't know much about it. Just the only kind that I like is the home that isn't nice to go to.' And when all the philosophy, theory, science and wisdom of the subject had been exhausted, the women there assembled had to agree that the very best home, after all, was the home that—it was nice to go to."—New York Ledger.

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

Valuable Opportunity to Obtain Furs, Etc., From a New Establishment.

The winter season is upon us, and the minds of many women, no doubt, are revolving the question of winter furs and wraps. The establishment of a new fur house in San Francisco is a matter of much importance to those contemplating purchases in that line, for the following reasons: Adolph Kocour, at 6½ Kearny street, first floor, San Francisco, for many years experienced as a practical furrier in both the old world and the new, has opened an establishment where opportunities are offered not equaled by any other similar house in the city. Mr. Kocour was born in Bohemia, but at an early age removed to Leipzig, Germany, where he learned the manufacturing fur trade. After completing his apprenticeship in Germany with the thoroughness that is demanded in that country, he became employed by Revillon Freres, recognized the world over as one of its leading furriers, where for six years he was cutter and practical furrier. He then removed to the service of a prominent London firm, and subsequently came to the City of New York, where he spent several years in the business. Deciding upon San Francisco as his permanent home, he has, as above stated, opened an establishment of his own, and now offers to the ladies of this coast the advantage of his experience acquired by years of labor under the tutelage of the largest firms in his line in the world.

Mr. Kocour carries a large stock of both domestic and imported furs, and is prepared to do all manner of repairing and remodeling below the prices of any furrier on the coast. His stock comprises all the latest domestic and foreign styles, and full satisfaction to every patron is Mr. Kocour's first business principle in the conduct of his new enterprise.

AN EVENING OF REJOICING.

Enthusiastic Republicans Sound Paeans of Praise Over the Election of McKinley.

A SPLENDID PARADE THROUGH THE TOWN.

Brilliant Exercises Enjoyed by a Huge Throng at the Tabernacle.

SOME SOUND SPEECHES.

The Return of the Banner Signalizes Alameda County's Great Victory.

ALLIANCE MEN AS HOSTS.

A Sumptuous Banquet, Clever Toasts, and Enthusiastic Addresses.

Saturday evening's demonstration was a fitting finale to a glorious campaign. From 7 o'clock in the evening until 3 o'clock in the morning the Republican hosts were busy celebrating their victory and right gloriously did they do it.

The street parade was a great affair in itself and fully 15,000 people were on the streets to view the pageant.

Nearly everybody has a horn or some instrument with which to make a noise and these were brought into play continuously all along the line. Skyrockets and quantities of red fire lit up the night, while occasionally a booming cannon or bomb added to the din.

The parade was well managed and moved with remarkable punctuality.

At its conclusion the Tabernacle claimed attention and there the visiting Angelenos returned the much-coveted banner to the Alliance Club for safe keeping.

The large audience was enthusiastic almost to a fault, yet the good-natured Republicans had no inclination to crow over their defeated opponents. The cheers were for McKinley and a renewed National honor, coupled with Alameda County's great contribution at the polls.

The banquet which brought the festivities to an end, was in every respect an excellent affair, and to the Alliance Club much credit is due. The Los Angeles guests were entertained in a creditable manner and they take home with them a glowing opinion of Alameda hospitality.

And now that it is all over, party lines will for the time being again be lost and the good citizens are prepared to settle down to the enjoyment of that prosperity which, with their ballots, they helped to re-establish in the United States.

THE PARADE.

A Splendid Pageant Witnessed by an Enormous Throng.

By way of novelty in the formation of processions, Grand Marshal Varney Gaskill massed his forces last Saturday night north of Fourteenth street, a fact which was greatly appreciated by the people and business men of that part of the city. The divisions assembled on the streets between Fourteenth and Eighteenth leading into San Pablo avenue, and, when the order to march was given, the right of the line advanced along that avenue toward Fourteenth street, the first line of the kind to take the initiative in that section of the city.

Like the march to victory of McKinley, the column of jubilating Republicans moved forward without any of the inconveniences which generally harass public parades and greatly tax the patience of the on-looker. Credit for this is in a great measure due to Chief Lloyd and his representatives and at the same time to the good sense of the thousands who thronged the streets. There was everywhere manifested a disposition on the part of the spectators to remain out of the way of the column of marchers and those who required to be reminded of the wish in that direction, of the Chief of Police, readily moved back to the curve when the mounted officers, charged with keeping an open thoroughfare made their appearance along the route.

Among those who did good work in this respect were Captain Wilson and Sergeant Hodgkins, both of whom were resplendent in uniforms of blue and gold; and the 'Mayor of Piedmont," P. J. Keller. The times in the past when Keller did not appear at the head of a mounted force of yeomanry in a public procession in this city, cannot be recalled. Saturday night, however, at the request of Chief Lloyd he aided in the work of clearing the way and did it like a gallow-glass who had served his time at the business.

In the lead there were several wagons which sent forth clouds of red light, which, at intervals dispelled the darkness with a glare that was weird and fascinating. There were also wagons loaded down with huge perpendicular engines and boilers which emitted intermittent shrieks of joy over McKinley's election, which could be heard in San Francisco. The biggest of these shrill sirens was the contribution of the Oakland Iron Works.

Following the glare and the din, rode Varney W. Gaskill, the Grand Marshal. Mr. Gaskill was astride a finely groomed mount as black as ebony. He wore the pretty uniform of the Republican Alliance with the addition of a fine badge of McKinley and broad scarf of gold silk which set off to advantage both the apparel and form of the rider. Mr. Gaskill rode well in advance of his aides many of whom advanced in a couple of platoons. Among them were noticed Chief of Aids Cal Ewing, Frank H. Mason, E. W. Roberts Jr., D. C. Brown, Daniel Doody, Fred Roquet, J. Slavich, A. W. Pattiani, J. W. Harris, E. R. Peatch, A. M. Baerrott, Victor Remmell, Henry Watkinson, R. S. Kitchener.

Then came the feature of honor, the banner of the Republican party, rescued from Los Angeles County, around which were grouped some of the men who had returned it to Alameda County, whence it shall nevermore be taken. There were also around it, some of the men who were instrumental in establishing the standard as a beautiful symbol of loyalty to the Republican party. In the carriage in which the standard was erected were Senator Eli Denison, the unflinching Republican, and one of the three men who suggested the banner, Chairman Fietter of the Republican County Central Committee, Senator-elect Stratton and a representative of Los Angeles County, who had escorted the trophy home. This carriage was followed by others containing other members of the Los Angeles delegation. The beautiful banner, stood with its colors clinging to the pole because there was not sufficient breeze stirring to break its silken folds or to agitate the pennants on which was recorded its travelings between the County of Alameda and Los Angeles, and, at the same time, the part it has played in the Republican history of the State. The flag shone well in the electric light. It was everywhere greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

FIRST DIVISION.

Captain W. R. Thomas was the Marshal of the First Division. He was assisted by W. Mackay, A. H. Trathen, A. M. Benham, Ben Ferris and C. K. King.

The Fifth Infantry Band followed and after it came the Republican Alliance. Heroes of many a political campaign and leaders in many a political victory as they are, the members never appeared to greater advantage nor celebrated a more unquestioned and memorable victory. They were under command of Lieutenant Lester Herrick, acting Captain in the absence of Varney W. Gaskill, who appeared at the head of the column. The honors of command rested easily on Mr. Herrick's shoulders and he was further ably assisted by Lieutenants W. Chipman, Sol D. Rogers, and G. R. Lukens. At the right of the company was the ever-present Alliance globe-bearer George Collins, who for years has monopolized the grateful task of twirling in public the lighted sphere which has become so generally recognized as the symbol of the organization. The standard of the Alliance was borne by stalwart John W. Harris. The right and left guide lights were borne by Bob Boyer and Harvey Sloper respectively, the bearing of which has been a coveted honor with those gentlemen for some time. The buglers were H. P. Carleton, H. Farr, Charles Wheaton, D. Belden and H. P. Travers. Whenever they winded their horns, the torches of the blue jacketed marchers behind them sent heavenward a flame which turned the darkness of night into the brightness of morning.

Colonel Little who has long been identified with the Alliance was on hand as usual and occupied an honored place in advance of the organization and by his side walked George P. Morrow, President of the association.

Nearly all of the members wore roosters rampant on their caps illustrative of their sentiments on the occasion. They marched with an easy and swinging gait.

After the Alliance came the Sound Money League, the Real Estate and Insurance Men, a large number of Republican lawyers and a fine delegation of High School boys, many of whom blew horns with a great deal of pertinacity.

SECOND DIVISION.

The second division was under the command of Marshal G. W. Stark. His aides were H. W. Watkins and A. M. Barrett. First in line was the First Ward Republican Club and then advanced one of the finest, and if not really the finest, certainly one of the largest aggregations of men which has ever taken part in a procession in this city.

This organization comprised the railroad employes of West Oakland. They were all in line from Division Superintendent to call boy. They must have numbered a thousand. They were headed by a banner formed after the style of an American flag hung with the starry field dependent from a cross bar. The banner was made of silk and gleamed in beauty under the glare of the lights and torches. Each of the marchers in this division bore a Japanese lantern which was suspended from a long pole which extended over his shoulder. Many of the men were in their holiday clothes while not a small fraction of the marchers seemed to have come from the work bench in their tradesmen's apparel.

At the head marched in a platoon, Division Superintendent A. D. Wilder, Master Mechanic McKenzie, Resident Engineer Palmer, Master Car Repairer W. B. Ludlow and J. C. Wilder.

This great body of mechanics and superintendents of mechanics was in command of Harry W. Watkins, himself a mechanic who for years has been associated with a number of the men and officers over whom he acted.

Midway in the line of this division was a finely-constructed representation of a locomotive and a passenger car both mounted on horse-drawn vehicles. The locomotive and car represented the Presidential trip to Washington of McKinley. The design of both car and engine was excellent and the idea was carried out in a manner which was both accurate and artistic. The car was filled with brighteyed and light-hearted misses, daughters of the railway employes, and they in every manner, illustrated the satisfaction which McKinley's election had afforded their parents.

In this division also, there was a bicycle float, belonging to the railroad men, setting forth the sentiment that the men had voted as they paraded. There were also about twenty transparencies in the line each containing either an historical fact or giving expression to a patriotic sentiment. The last feature of this body of workmen was a frame borne by four men on which was perched a live eagle whose eyes darted rays of defiance at the brilliant lights which surrounded him and whose whole demeanor was that at once of a symbol of the nation's desire for sound money and freedom.

Then came a number of the merchants of the First Ward with a float in favor of sound money.

THIRD DIVISION.

The third division was marshaled by George H. Mason. Mr. Mason rode a magnificent horse and rode it also like a man pre-ordained to rule in the saddle. He was assisted as aides by P. L. Kosciolowski and Don F. Miller. This division comprised the Republican clubs of Eden, Murray and Washington Townships. The Republican clubmen of Haywards were out in large numbers there being fully 200 in line. They were headed by a wagon containing an immense horn from which came forth blasts like those of the fog whistle on Angel Island. The club was under the command of H. W. Meek.

FOURTH DIVISION.

The fourth division was commanded by Dr. J. A. D. Hutton who was assisted by H. M. Waterbury, George H. Phillips, A. Smith and James Kenney. There was a band and following it came the University Republican Club and other organizations and citizens of Oakland Township. At the head of all the organizations walked County Recorder Charles Spear, wearing a golden chrysanthemum as large as a sun flower.

FIFTH DIVISION.

Major J. F. Hayes was in command of the fifth division. His aides were W. J. Dorney, J. F. Vaughn, I. L. Cavasso, H. D. Cushing, H. N. Gard, M. F. Bosworth and T. J. Fish. In this division were the Colored American Republicans, the Second, Third, Fifth and Seventh Ward Republican clubs.

SIXTH DIVISION.

George C. Hunt commanded the sixth division. His aides were Abe P. Leach and W. J. McDonald. Behind the officers was driven a barouche containing Ed Thayer, Charles Shear, Davie Nash and William Rupert. Mr. Thayer from time to time agitated the air with thunderous blasts from an immense horn the bell of which rested in the rear of the conveyance. Each of the occupants wore a roosted on his hat. Two of them, Nash and Rupert, being Democrats, wore their roosters with heads cast down while Messrs. Thayer and Shear wore birds rampant.

Then came a float illustrating "Protection." The principal figure in the tableau was Miss Davetta Manning as Goddess of Liberty, who was accompanied by Mrs. Daventorf, Goddess of Music, and her young lady friends Miss Puck, Miss Maggie Scott and Millie Nelson. The gentlemen were Fred Manning, Albert Manning, Thos. Madden, Milton Fairbanks, Bryan Davenport, Frank Gunn and Albert Hans and they represented the trades.

Then came the National Republican League 200 strong at the head of which was carried a flag from the pole of which streamers depended which were held by members on either side of the standard.

SEVENTH DIVISION.

Ex-Supervisor D. W. Martin of Alameda was in command of the seventh division. He had as his aides M. W. Dunton, J. J. Lerri, W. A. Mitchell and R. Flemming of Oakland and Gus Smiley, Arthur Burns, Bert Fisher, Charles Fischer, Charles Mebus, J. Longfelt and J. Hadwick. Marshal Martin was mounted on an excellent charger and was greeted all along the line by his many friends. This division comprised the Alameda Drill Corps, the Republican clubs and citizens of that town. The Drill corps marched with military precision and presented a fine appearance.

EIGHTH DIVISION.

Colonel J. E. McElroy was in command of the eighth division and his aides were Giles H. Gray, E. W. Woodward and H. W. Richardson. The Young Men's Republican League were in the advance and went through a number of street evolutions as they proceeded. They were followed by the Army and Navy Republican League which turned out in large numbers. The League bore a number of transparencies which were made expressly for the occasion, among them being the following. "The soldiers voted in 1896 as they shot in 1861;" "Sound money and sound heads were our salvation;" "Business men make good politicians;" "Oakland Alliance met no frost in Alameda County," "Army and Navy League ballots were as effective as their bullets," "We've had a 'silver jag' and have taken he 'gold cure';" "Where is the 'crown of thorns' Who's got it? Ask J. L. Lyon;" "Under no consideration would I accept a second term.—W. Jennings B.," "J. Aubrey Jones—Bryan will get 311 electoral votes. Nit! Nit! Nit! When?"

NINTH DIVISION.

The ninth division was in charge of Councilman William Watkinson whose aides were H. Bercovich, W. D. Heitmann, Albert Kayser and A. J. Snyder. It comprised the Forty-eighth Assembly Drill Club, the Fourth and Sixth Ward Clubs and a number of unassigned organizations. This division brought the procession to a close.

The line of march was from Eighteenth street down San Pablo to Fourteenth street, to Washington, to Eighth, to Broadway, to Fourteenth, to Webster, to the Exposition building.

The streets through which the procession passed were thronged with people whose enthusiasm found vent in continuous cheers, even as that of the marchers found expression in the din which can be created by the simultaneous tooting of thousands of horns.

A number of the business houses along the line were decorated and made a fine appearance in parti-colored lights in which at times they were enveloped.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

Ringing Speeches Made by Many Representative Patriots.

Good nature and enthusiasm reigned supreme at the Tabernacle. As the marching clubs entered the hall cheer after cheer went up for McKinley and prosperity, and each club was given a separate ovation seldom equalled in this city.

Hundreds of people were turned away at the doors being unable to find standing room. American flags were in abundance and almost every man, woman and child in the dense throng waved one. The size of the crowd was only excelled by the tremendous noise that increased as the evening advanced.

The speakers' platform presented a wonderful sight. The Alliance, 150 strong, resplendent in white and gold, was there sounding its slogan on every available occasion. The following members of the Republican County Central Committee, each carrying a new broom, were also on the platform: Charles Mantalen, W. W. Morrison, R. W. Church, J. W. Evans, A. H. Breed, F. J. Fietter, J. H. W. Riley, B. C. Hawes, T. W. Harris, A. Archibald, J. Stalker, J. L. Palmer, and T. P. Robinson.

Senator Eli Denison bore the Republican banner and was escorted by William E. Hale, of the original Banner Committee.

The Los Angeles delegation wore long yellow badges marked "Los Angeles." They also occupied chairs upon the platform and were: R. W. Lee, R. N. Bulla, F. T. Flint, W. H. Flint, R. B. Treat, G. H. Stewart, F. S. Munson, J. T. Francis, Tom Goss, John Burr, E. A. Davis, C. T. Sloan, Geo. L. Arnold, F. G. Teed, C. E. De Camp, John Lynch, E. P. Johnson, C. E. Slosson, C. A. Gardiner, E. P. Clarke, W. W. Seamans, H. A. Osborne, R. E. Wirsching, T. B. Hayes, Ralph Hogan, Captain T. Norton and G. D. Compton.

William R. Davis of the National Republican League, acted as chairman of the evening and as he entered the hall he was greeted with prolonged cheering. Others who were received with cheers as they took places upon the platform were: Fred S. Stratton, State Senator-elect; Congressman Hilborn, Major J. P. McElroy, of the Army and Navy League and George P. Morrow of the Republican Alliance.

Chairman Davis opened the meeting with requesting three cheers for McKinley and Hobart and then six cheers for Alameda County. Cheers were also given for Los Angeles, the Alliance and the other Republican organizations.

When quiet was again restored Mr. Davis read the following set of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We deem it proper that those who have assisted in securing the glorious victory achieved last Tuesday should be properly recognized; therefore,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Republicans of Alameda County are due to those citizens of the Democratic party who so nobly rose above party affiliation and with a display of patriotism worthy of all emulation cast their ballots in the late election for the honor and integrity not alone of Alameda County, but of the State and Nation, thereby assisting to save the country from the dire calamity by which it was so seriously threatened.

Then Senator-elect R. N. Bulla, on behalf of Los Angeles County, returned the beautiful banner which was wrested from Alameda four years ago.

"It is with no feeling of jealousy," said he, "that I return you this banner. You have been truer to the doctrines of Republicanism than we have in the south, and I feel proud that you have by your tremendous majority, saved the State from the disgrace which would have fallen on it had she not declared in favor of sound money and national honor. We return to you this banner feeling sure that while it is in the keeping of the Republicans of Alameda County it will remain pure an untarnished."

SENATOR FRED S. STRATTON.

The banner was received by Fred Stratton on behalf of Alameda County.

"On behalf of the Republicans of Alameda County," began Mr. Stratton, "I receive from the Republicans of Los Angeles County this beautiful banner with all its associations and recollections.

"I do this, not, however, with any feeling of elation, but rather with a sense of profound gratitude, that in a generous contest grand old Alameda County has asserted her claim to the proud distinction of having not only saved the State, but of having shown her pre-eminent devotion to Republican principles, and to the cause of McKinley and Hobart.

"I am glad that this emblem is the flag of the Nation, for it typifies Republicanism in that it represents patriotism, it represents National honor; it represents devotion to country and proclaims through its stripes and starry folds that as a party we know no East or West, no North or South, but standing for all classes, and standing for all interests we are for the Nation, one and inseparable. It further declares to the monarchies of Europe the eternal success of Republican institutions, and that government by the people shall not perish from the earth.

"This victory which we celebrate tonight was not achieved without unfiring labor and effort, and let me here accord to those men who gave their time and their industry to the cause some slight recognition of appreciation for their work.

"This flag is ours because we in Alameda County have earned it. For this we are indebted to many factors, and I pay a tribute to the Republican Committee of this county, to Chairman F. J. Fietter and his associates, for the remarkable zeal with which they performed their labors, and with the ability with which they conducted this campaign.

"The thanks of this county, of Los Angeles County, and of this State are due also to the Republican State Central Committee with their splendid Chairman, Major Frank McLaughlin.

"But others have assisted in this work. We owe much to these marching clubs for the enthusiasm which they have imparted to this campaign. I refer to the Young Men's Republican League. I refer to that club from the Fourth and Sixth Wards, the Republican club of the Forty-eighth Assembly District. I refer to the National Republican League of Alameda County. I refer to the Business Men's Sound Money League. I refer to the Italian Republican Club. I refer to the colored McKinley League, the Woman's Republican League, the Carmen's Republican Club, and to those various ward and outside organizations. I refer to that club whose reputation has extended not only over the State, and through the Pacific Coast, but beyond the Rockies as well, the Republican Alliance of Alameda County, and lastly, I pay but a feeble tribute to those grand men who fought for this flag, who saved this noble heritage for us, who standing shoulder to shoulder in 1861, still stand shoulder to shoulder in 1896. I refer to the Republican Army and Navy League.

"But let us remember that our victory would have been incomplete, we might have had no victory unless there had come to the standard of Republicanism those who left their party from high motives, and also those who joined us from questions of principle and whose sacrifice and assistance we ought never to forget. I refer to the Independent voters and Gold Democrats who thronged to our cause and secured to us the possibility of this great demonstration tonight.

"Even to our adversaries we will accord the generous tribute of sincerity, and let us say to them that we go forth from this day, not as Republicans, but as Americans, pointing to the star of hope for American labor, for American commerce, for American industries, and for the completed grandeur of the American nation as a whole.

"While I shall always regret that the success in public life of one man defeats the ambition of another, still let us remember that as a Republican party we are committed by this victory to great principles. We have promised much, and our duty commences now to perform our promises, and to do as the Republican party has done in the past,—have our declarations pass into precedents, have our platforms pass into history and find their way into constitutional amendments and statutory enactments.

"I receive this beautiful banner from those grand men of the South, and I ask you to bear back to Los Angeles County the message that this State is not only one and inseparable as a State, but that we of the North love your sunny land, and your magnificent people, and that we are with you only citizens and Republicans, united against a common danger, standing upon a common platform and advocates of a common cause.

"And I present this banner to the splendid Republican Alliance, a club for which I cherish old and affectionate remembrance. Its beginning was small, but its career has been long, continuous and glorious.

In keeping it, you and I will be mindful of the fact that we are charged with a high trust. That we hold it as Republicans, and on behalf of the Republican party. That we hold it for a party that stands for decency, that stands for stability, a party that is the very Gibraltar of liberty without license. No other organization has ever accomplished so much for liberty and progress in so short a time. The Republican party has for over thirty years redeemed every promise. Its every prophecy has been fulfilled, and it stands today before the nation, and before civilization with its integrity unquestioned. It represents new issues, it represents prosperity, it represents progress, it represents confidence, it represents open mills and the ability to earn an honest dollar, it represents sound money, reciprocity and protection, typified for the next four years in that statesman, that man of the people, that magnificent embodiment of American integrity, William McKinley."

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed during Mr. Stratton's speech of acceptance. He was frequently interrupted by ringing cheers and uproarious applause.

George P. Morrow, president of the Alliance, made a short speech upon being given the custody of the banner. He was followed by Congressman Hilborn, who made a short congratulatory address.

The appearance of Frank McLaughlin, chairman of the State Central Committee, was the signal for further deafening applause. He made only a few remarks, saying that he was more of a worker than a talker.

GENERAL BARNES.

Following McLaughlin came General W. H. L. Barnes, who was also given an ovation.

"I have always liked Alameda County," said he. "Now I love it. I have always said in every one of the many campaigns that I have made that the best audience I had ever seen in this State was an Oakland audience. It had an aspect of thorough intelligence and complete comprehension of the questions discussed on the stump. When I see the magnificent majority this county has made for good government, protection to American labor, sound money and the American flag, I know I was right.

"In our joy now we are apt to forget the evils that lately menaced our land. Perils to business, to homes and to government were involved. Now there has been an almost unanimous voice where the people had a right to a voice in the power, strength and glory of Republican principles. This tremendous demonstration is sounding for joy and glory. There is not a business man in the United States who does not breathe freer—not a man who labors with his head or his hands who does not rejoice. How different would have been the picture had this man from Nebraska with the Altgelds, Tillmans, and all those wild creatures had been put in power. This country was never intended to become the prey of lawless desperadoes, vicious anarchists and socialists. If this war we have been waging against individual and national dishonesty had been lost it would not have been many years before this nation would have been sunk under the blows. Our nation would have lost its life the day it lost its honor. There is not a man or woman in the United States today who cannot look up tonight and thank God from the bottom of a grateful heart that this nation stands unimpaired, honest and truthful, worthy of respect at home and abroad."

F. X. SCHOONMAKER.

F. X. Schoonmaker was next introduced. He came all the way from New Jersey to work for the Republican party in this State and he has been much appreciated wherever he has gone.

"I am glad that I came from New Jersey to witness a California demonstration," he said. "It is the greatest I ever witnessed. It seems incredible that such a demonstration could be given in a city registering only 7,500 voters. I have been given an explanation. Alameda County is said to be the most thoroughly American county in the most thorough State in the Union. This election means much for America. It means that our Government shall not be run from London. It means that the wants of the American people shall be supplied from American hands.

"This election means that no nation that has a just claim shall be denied a hearing.

"I asked a friend of mine, the chief engineer of one of the greatest vessels of the navy, if he would celebrate this victory 'No,' he replied, 'I shall wait until the next Fourth of July, when we will hoist again the flag that was pulled down on one of the islands of the Pacific.'

"Another thing we must do. If Canada wants our markets she must pay for them or keep out. Another thing. England has had a party in this country for years. Four years ago free trade was handed her on a silver platter. Her two greatest silver slaves are China and India, and she wanted to drag the United States into the depth she failed. Now, I want to thank you for what you have done. Accept my congratulations on this wonderful victory, and may God bless you!"

The meeting closed with a short address by George W. Pierce of Yolo. He said he could not begin to outline his feelings in five minutes' time. The very hint of Republican success, he declared, had set the great pulse of the nation throbbing with increased vigor.

The meeting closed with nine cheers for McKinley and Hobart.

THE BANQUET.

The crowning feature to the evening's jubilee was the banquet tendered by the Alliance Club to the visitors and a number of their friends. It took place in Elite Hall and was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the campaign.

The hall, the present home of the club, was brilliantly decorated. From the chandeliers and gallery rails evergreens and yellow ribbons intermingled with the national colors, while the windows were draped with bunting. The stage decorations were as unique as they were artistic. An allegorical curtain filled in the background. On this Alameda County was represented by a little cupid bearing in one hand an Alliance torch, while in the other a large flag was upheld. A large oak tree in one corner bore the inscription "Los Angeles County." From this had broken down a large limb, which was labeled "Popocrat." In the center underneath a rising sun was painted, "1896 Alameda's majority 5278." Above the whole were two locked hands, captioned "Welcome, shake."

In front of the curtain the newly won banner was placed, while other flags and souvenirs of former campaigns were appropriately displayed. Cut flowers, green and bits of yellow ribbon brightened up the proscenium arch, while streamers on which were painted campaign mottoes were given prominence.

Over the door at the entrance, a large banner bore the motto: "With the Republican Family All Around, Blest Be Those Feasts with Simple Plenty Crowned."

Among the many other legends displayed were: "The Alliance honors itself by honoring 1894 Republican champions." "Now, good digestion, wait on appetite and health on both;" "Protection for twenty-nine years has dignified and prospered American labor."

Directly across the hall, in front of the stage, the head table was located, in the center of which rested the Alliance floral pyramid. Five more large tables were spread at right angles to the head one. They were all laden with dainty edibles in the line of cold meats, salads, fruits and cakes, while numerous floral designs brightened up the board.

In the gallery the Fifth Regiment band was comfortably quartered and at intervals livened up proceedings with popular selections.

It was half past 10 o'clock before the Alliance Club and its guests entered the hall. When they did so every one of the 300 covers were necessary. The brilliant costumes made a fine showing and the scene was a pretty one.

At the head table were seated, George P. Morrow, President of the Alliance Club, W. H. Hamilton, W. Steppacher, John A. Britton, Senator-elect R. N. Bulla, Colonel R. B. Treat, Hugh Craig, Joseph Scotchler, M. R. Milham, Noble Hamilton, C. D. Slosson, Charles A. Gardiner, J. C. Lynch, C. H. King, Warden Hale, Frank Leavitt, Varney Gaskill, Sol Rodgers, B. L. Lee, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Committee; General W. H. L. Barnes, Senator Carpenter, F. X. Schoonmaker, Chairman Frank McLaughlin of the Republican State Central Committee, Senator George C. Perkins, Congressman S. G. Hilborn, W. H. Davis, Senator-elect F. S. Stratton, F. J. Fietter, Chairman of the Alameda County Republican Central Committee, Mayor John L. Davie of Oakland; William Hamilton, Colonel L. L. Bromwell, Varney Gaskill, Commander of the Alliance; M. R. Higgins, Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee; Paris Kilburn, the Treasurer, and Jake Steppacher, the Assistant Secretary.

Among the other visiting guests were: C. E. De Camp, Frank P. Flint, F. G. Teed, Thomas Goss, J. H. Morton, C. L. Compton, F. B. Hayes, J. F. Francis, R. H. Carpenter, R. E. Wirsching, G. L. Arnold, General E. P. Johnson, H. Z. Osborne, F. S. Munson, E. P. Clark, John Burr and W. H. Flint.

Scattered about at different tables were many of the city and county officials; the County Central Committee, and a number of the newly elected officers. As soon as all were seated attention was paid to the delicious menu and nearly an hour was spent in its enjoyment.

The evening hours were fast approaching morning when George P. Morrow, as Master of Ceremonies, rapped for order to announce the toasts.

"I am not here to make a speech to you," he said, "but I cannot help expressing my pleasure at receiving back that glorious banner. This gathering, in more ways than one, is a ratification meeting. We are here celebrating the return to Alameda County of our glorious banner, and likewise the magnificent majority that was given the ticket for McKinley that enabled us to secure it once more. I extend to our Los Angeles friends a hearty welcome."

Much applause followed and then the band played a patriotic air.

GENERAL BARNES.

General W. H. L. Barnes, who is an honorary member of the club, was then introduced to respond to a toast to "Our Country." The applause which greeted his appearance was both loud and long. In the course of his remarks General Barnes said:

"I wondered what would be the result of this great political campaign. I wondered as we stood at the Western gate of the greatest century the world has ever known, if, in this last hour of the dying sun of 1896, we were to see the greatest nation on earth given over to repudiation, anarchy and misrule. I wondered if that chance production of the Chicago Convention would have his ideas impregnated on this people.

"The silver heresy had gained some adherents, because the other side had not been presented. Then the campaign of education was commenced. So far as I am concerned, I never believed nor uttered a single expression on the silver question that I have not said during this campaign. I said I believed a silver dollar could be held so closely to a man's eye as to blind him to everything else.

"The more I studied this question the more I became convinced that the Republican enunciation was right. The man who doesn't love this country doesn't deserve to live in it. Our country! What a nation it is! Nowhere else on earth are such opportunities to be had for man, woman and child.

"Here our fertile soil raises everything that is needed. We are particularly blessed and now with a restored confidence we can close the century with prosperity that shall mark it in generations to come as the greatest one for the greatest people on earth—Americans."

General Barnes forcible speech was greeted with much applause. After quiet had resumed Chairman Morrow introduced F. X. Schoonmaker of New Jersey, who has stumped the State for McKinley. He received a very flattering reception and it was some minutes before he was permitted to speak.

F. X. SCHOONMAKER.

"I have always wanted to make a campaign speech," he said, "but until I came to this great State I had not had the honor gratified. My theme tonight will be Bryan's declaration that he proposes to devote the next four years of his life to the propaganda of silver argument. Now you Californians have a magnificent State. It took courage and bravery to populate this State. That is why this is the

NOTES FROM OAKLAND.

A Correspondent's Ideas as to Our Local Progress.

Stray Shots and Gossip Gathered in a Walk Around Town.

Here is what a correspondent of the Oakdale Graphic writes regarding this city

Oakland has made wonderful growth in the last fourteen years Its stores are large and stocked with goods of finest grade San Francisco has no larger or handsomer stores than those which line Washington street in Oakland Its markets too are equal to the best on the other side of the bay Its homes extend for miles east and north away out over the hills And these homes are not of the shanty order either but are neat modern cottages, some of them palatial but most of them appealing like buildings owned and occupied by mechanics and workingmen

It is possible for a man whose occupation demands his presence in San Francisco by the first boat to live two or three miles east of Lake Merritt The lines of electric railway traverse these hills in all directions where a few years ago were hay fields and dairy farms The transit is rapid and the fare a nickel

There does not appear to be much progress in manufacturing manufacturing establishments from the west to the east side of the bay Of course the stores and shops in Oak and give employment to many people but the great majority of the residents earn their bread and butter over on the peninsula crowding the cars and boats morning and evening

Church spires are seen everywhere The various denominations vie with each other in erecting the best locations and erecting the grandest structures

And yet the people are so intensely religious that there are not churches enough to accommodate all and several halls are utilized for holding religious meetings

On the front of one hall, a few blocks east of Seventh street a sign is nailed above the doors, in large letters "The Apostolic Church Preaching, Teaching and Healing by the Holy Ghost" How many other blasphemous institutions—or institutions that appear to take on that character—exist in Oakland no man can tell—at least a visitor to "Athens" cannot tell

Of course there are some devout congregations meeting in halls and no word would be uttered concerning them save in praise at least not in these columns

Besides its stores, its electric cars its lovely suburban homes and its multiplicity of religious sects Oakland has a number of commendable school buildings So manifold are its educational facilities that it has long carried the name "Athens" and as yet no other city on the Pacific Coast has contested its right to that distinction

The public library is well supplied with books embracing all lines of human learning almost The rooms are open twelve hours each day except Sunday and on Sunday for three hours in the afternoon All the stores are closed on Sunday

Perhaps the busiest place in the city is the Central Telephone office where if the girls don't exactly range "Ned" they succeed in raising everybody else though it takes a lot of clocking to do it They are busy there, too, and strangers notice such trifles

We can't say as much for a young man on one of the trolley cars for on being asked how far east his car run he said he couldn't tell for he never measured the distance Perhaps he may come to a period in his life where he will appreciate the value of politeness or at least civility.

But Oakland is not a fast town, for somewhere we observed a man trimming a lawn with a pair of common scissors

Hugh Baker of Oakdale, a student at the University of the Pacific spent Sunday in Oakland

There are very few buildings to let in the residence portion of the city, and those few are near to the business center, and probably the rents are too high and the locations not so desirable as in quieter streets distant from the rumble of trains and the electric cars rushing hither and thither in their endeavor to distribute the human tide over on the club and flow

The streets of Oakland are hard, smooth and clean as a rule

There is no great activity in building, but still a few new houses are going up

Blair Park is the great Sunday attraction Thousands go there It is at Piedmont

The traveling public no longer encounters the nuisance of free riders between stations on the local trains Platform gates shut them out If you get on you pay your fare to San Francisco—10 cents There was a time when rides between stations was a convenience indispensable to the people of Oakland but that time is past The electric cars furnish a better means of transit, and if the young folks don't like that kind of a coach, why, there's the bicycle

DINED BY DEMOCRATS.

Senator Denison Collects a Wager From Charles Lainer.

One Hundred Guests Enjoy the Repast at Leona Heights.

A political discussion between Senator Eli S Denison and Charles Lainer of San Francisco, which occurred before the election had its result yesterday in a dinner for over one hundred guests, and for which the San Franciscan settled

During the discussion the wager on the outcome was laid Lainer lost and with the best of grace took his guests to Leona Heights to settle the score The party was mostly from San Francisco Senator Denison only inviting W M Rank, Ruedy Crist and A N Wieland

The meal began at 2 o'clock and four hours later "small bots" were reached Of course all of the time was not spent in eating for political toasts were things of necessity and joshings' for the Democrats matters of course

Another election bet of the same character was also paid in same cafe at the same hour At this Captain Pohlman, formerly of the Oregon, had the honor of being the host.

DROWNED IN THE ESTUARY.

Frank Douthitt Died Before the Eyes of Cowardly Men.

Frank Douthitt the twelve-year-old son of Frank L Douthitt of Seventh and Filbert was drowned yesterday in the estuary at the foot of Webster street His companion, Alfred Wilkinson son of a butcher in the employ of Fred Becker, also fell into the water, but was rescued just in time to save his life.

The two lads were playing about on the wharf and got on to the slippery apron Douthitt began to slide toward the water Wilkinson tried to save him and they both fell into the bay There was a crowd of men on the wharf and a little courage would have saved both boys It was not forthcoming however and not until Mate Joe Duffen of the Bonita and George Wolff were attracted by the shouts was anything towards a rescue made They got a rope to Wilkinson and he was safely drawn onto the wharf By this time it was too late to save Douthitt for he had gone down for the last time His body was recovered late and it now lies at the Morgue

COLLEGE CITY CHIRPS.

The Sophomore Hop Friday Next Will Be Swell.

Rev. H. F. Binney Is Called to the First Baptist Church.

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—Rev. H. F Binney of Orange County has been called to accept the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Berkeley. He preached in Berkeley two weeks ago and created a very favorable impression, which resulted in a call to the church. The church has been without a pastor for over a year. Rev. Mr. Binney will preach his first sermon next Sunday morning.

MISSION SERVICES COMMENCED.

The eloquent Archdeacon Webber of Boston has commenced an eight-day course of "Mission" services at Shattuck Hall under the auspices of St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

SOPHOMORES WILL DANCE.

The sophomores of the University of California will give a hop in the gymnasium next Friday evening, which is expected to be one of the swellest University functions. The sophomores will make an innovation in class decorations, and are striving to outdo the freshmen, who gave a fete last week. The following committees have charge of the affair: Arrangements, H. Webster, James Eby, H. Linscott, Miss Emily rising and Miss M. Morrison; reception, Walter Gibbons, A. Powers, Duncan McDuffie, Miss Mamie Kent, Miss Florence Ewing, and Miss Parker. Sterling Carr is floor manager.

Know What He Wanted.

A sallow individual in a faded brown overcoat sat down on a stool at one of the railway lunch counters the other morning and said to the proprietor:

"Give me a cup of coffee and one of your expurgated sandwiches."

"What kind?" asked the proprietor.

"Expurgated," rejoined the other. "One of those vacuum sandwiches for which your establishment is justly celebrated."

"I haven't any kind but those under that glass cover."

"That's all right. That's the particular variety I want."

He helped himself to one of them and lifted off the upper lid.

"That is what I call a sandwich, sir," he observed, eyeing it critically, yet approvingly. "There's nothing supererogatory about it. It's one of those hiatus sandwiches. It's a sandwich with an alibi," he added, replacing the lid and studying the outer surface of it intently. "It's an absent sandwich. It's a sandwich that has failed to arrive. I have seen times when I would have given worlds to—"

"Say," interrupted the proprietor, "if you don't like that sandwich you needn't eat it. That's all there is about that."

"Who said I didn't like it? Didn't I call for it? I generally know what I want. For this particular occasion and for this specific luncheon I happen to want one of your negative sandwiches—one of your shadowy, deflated, dream sandwiches, and like a man, sir, I call for it. Anything wrong about that?"

"You needn't get gay," grumbled the man behind the counter. "Did you order coffee?"

"I did. Give me, if you please, a cup of your best supposititious coffee."

"I've only got one kind of coffee," replied the sulky caterer.

"That's the kind I want. A cup of your universally admired, non-existent coffee—your famous nullification coffee. Accompanied, if you please, by a small pitcher of your vague phantasmal, visionary, depopulated cream. I am fasting to-day."

And while the man in the faded brown coat munched the sandwich and sipped the coffee in a slow, absent-minded way, the proprietor stared at him, and breathed hard, and longed to throw him out of the window.—Chicago Tribune.

THE UNION SAVINGS BANK (a Corporation), Plaintiff, vs. A. C. FREESE, Public Administrator, etc., et al., Defendants. No. 12,729.

Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale issued out of the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, of the State of California, on the 6th day of November, A. D. 1896, in the above entitled action, wherein the Union Savings Bank (a corporation), the above named plaintiff, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against A. C. Freese, Public Administrator of the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, and administrator of the estate of James H Munson, deceased, defendants, on the 19th day of October, A. D. 1896, for the sum of seven hundred and sixty-two and 59-100 dollars, in United States gold coin, including interest and costs of suit, which said judgment and decree was, on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1896, recorded in Judgment Book 27 of said Court, at page 111, I am commanded to sell all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, in the Township of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the western line of Humboldt avenue, distant thereon forty-six (46) feet and seven (7) inches northerly from the northern line of Oregon street; thence at a right angle westerly one hundred and thirteen (113) feet and four (4) inches; thence at a right angle northerly forty-four (44) feet and ten (10) inches; thence at a right angle easterly one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet and ten (10) inches to the said westerly line of Humboldt avenue, and thence southerly along said line of Humboldt avenue forty-six (46) feet and six (6) inches to the point of beginning, being lot number 2 in block "G" as the same are delineated and so designated upon a certain map entitled "Map of the Leonard Tract, Berkeley," filed September 17, 1875, in Liber 5 of Maps, page 11, in the office of the County Recorder of said Alameda County, together with the tenements and appurtenances and hereditaments thereon.

Public notice is hereby given that on

TUESDAY, THE 1ST DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1896,

At ten o'clock A. M. of that day, in front of the Broadway entrance of the Court House of the County of Alameda, in the City of Oakland, I will, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and sale, sell the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder, for gold coin of the United States.

Oakland, Nov. 5, 1896.

W. S. HARLOW,
A Commissioner appointed by said Superior Court.

A. A. MOORE, Attorney for Plaintiff.

PROPOSALS for dredging slips at the city wharf and in front of the city wharf between the pierhead line and the Government Channel.

Department of Public Works, City Hall, Oakland, Cal., Oct. 23rd, 1896.

In accordance with Resolution No. — of the Board of Public Works, sealed proposals will be received in open session of the Board of Public Works, at their office in the City Hall, on Tuesday, the 17th day of November, 1896, from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock P. M., for dredging slips at the city wharf and in front of the city wharf between the pierhead line and the Government Channel, in and for the City of Oakland.

All work done and materials and apparatus furnished to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the Board of Public Works, to which reference is hereby made for full particulars and description of the said work.

The said work to be commenced within five days and be completed within sixty days from the date of contract for the same.

Bidders will state in proposals prices for the said work according to the following schedule, to-wit:

1st. A price per cubic yard for the excavation of mud, measured in the cut.

2nd. A price per cubic yard for the excavation of hardpan, measured in the cut.

(Note.—By measuring in cut is meant that the actual space from which the mud or hardpan is excavated to be the basis upon which the rate per cubic yard applies.)

The estimated amount of dredging to be done is 12,827 yards hardpan and 4,200 cubic yards mud.

All work done and material furnished to be subject to the approval of the City Engineer and to the satisfaction of the Board of Public Works.

All bids must be made upon the blank forms of the Board, which will be furnished upon application, by the Secretary.

All bids must be accompanied by a check certified by some responsible bank, made payable to the order of J. W. Tompkins, Clerk of the Council, for not less than ten per cent of the proposal, which check shall be forfeited to the City of Oakland should the bidder receiving the award fail within 10 days to enter into a contract and furnish a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $3,000.00 for the faithful performance of the same

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids

By order of the Board of Public Works.

N. W. SPAULDING JR., Secretary.

LEGAL.

ORDINANCE NO.—An Ordinance ordering the opening and widening of Fourteenth street, between Market street and Myrtle street, and appointing three Commissioners to assess benefits and damages and to have general supervision of the proposed work.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Oakland as follows:

SECTION I.

Whereas, Said Council did on March 16th, 1896, adopt its Resolution of Intention No. 22,011, declaring its intention to order the following work and improvement to be made, to-wit: That Fourteenth street, sometimes called West Fourteenth street, in the City of Oakland, be opened and widened to a uniform width of eighty feet between Market street and Myrtle street, describing the work to be done and the land and premises deemed necessary to be taken therefor, and specifying the exterior boundaries of the lands to be affected or benefited by said work and improvement and to be assessed to pay the damages, costs and expenses thereof, and

Whereas, The Street Superintendent of the City of Oakland did thereupon cause notice of the passage of said Resolution to be posted, also to be published, for ten days in the manner and as required by law; and

Whereas, Objections against said proposed work were filed by E. A Klugel and A. Bruenn, et als., on March 28th, 1896, and Council fixed Monday, May 4th, 1896, at 8 o'clock P. M., in Council Chamber, City Hall, Oakland, Cal., as time and place for hearing said objections; and

Whereas, The City Clerk did thereupon, in accordance with law, notify the persons making objections of the time and place of said hearing; and

Whereas, The said Council, after hearing objections, did, on May 18th, 1896, overrule the objections and sustain Resolution of Intention No. 22,011, and

Whereas, The Council has acquired jurisdiction to order said work to be done.

Now therefore it is hereby ordered, that said work and improvement be done as aforesaid referred to, and as in said Resolution of Intention specially described.

SECTION II.

R. A. Jackson, D McLeod and J. H. Macdonald are hereby appointed Commissioners to assess benefits and damages and have general supervision of said proposed work and improvement until the completion thereof in compliance with law.

SECTION III.

This Ordinance shall take effect immediately.

SECTION IV.

All Ordinances heretofore ordering the said work done are hereby repealed.

In Council, Oakland, Cal., Nov. 5th, 1896.

Passed to print, by the following vote:

ORDINANCE NO.—An Ordinance changing and establishing the grades on East 21st street between 21st avenue and 23d avenue.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Oakland as follows:

SECTION I.

Whereas, The Council of the City of Oakland did, on the 8th day of September, 1896, by Resolution of Intention No. 22,495, declare its intention to change and establish the grades on East 21st street between 21st avenue and 23rd avenue, and directed the Clerk of the Council to publish for 10 days in the Oakland Tribune said Resolution of Intention, and

Whereas, Said Resolution was published for 10 days, describing the proposed changes and designating the limits within which the lots of land to be benefited should be assessed to pay any damages that might be awarded by reason of said changes, and

Whereas, No person has in any manner objected to the said changes or filed a petition asking for the appointment of Commissioners to assess the damages, if any, resulting from such changes,

Now therefore it is hereby ordered, that the grades on said street are hereby established at the points hereinafter named and at the elevations above base as hereinafter stated, in accordance with the petition filed on July 29th, 1896, of the owners of a majority of the property affected by the proposed changes of grades.

THE BATTLE FOR RELIGION.

Rev. James Small Tells How We Must Be Armed.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE SOUGHT.

Episcopalian Bishops in a Somewhat Novel Role.

Rev. James Small preached on "The Great Unseen Battle" at the Christian Church last night. He said: "A man has lived to very little purpose in life who does not realize that this world is a great theatre of moral conflict. Life is a battle. We are forever on the watch against our enemies, we are forever guarding ourselves and our lives, and forever watching our chance for attack on the enemy So, we all live, if we are earnest men. We feel like what the boy said; it is the body under and the soul on top.

"In a battle there are the belligerent forces. If we ask who they are the answers are many. The men who are engaged in the mines, the sailor on the sea, and the farmer, are battling with the forces of nature Then comes the merchant, he is battling with his competitor. Then comes the legislator, he is battling against corruption and bribery. Then comes the philanthropist, he is waging warfare against ignorance and wrong. Everywhere there are men fighting with their fate

"The world is full of these ideas of battle. But here comes Paul and says in the language of the text. "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against power, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places" But to be more explicit. There is the battle with self Every man has a battle for himself and with himself. Himself the hostile enemy and himself the prize. There are verses enough in Paul's epistles which let us see that the struggle with himself was going on all the time, underneath the struggle with the men at Jerusalem and at Athens. While the foreign war was raging the home country was all up in arms. Is not the great conquest after all with self? Was not Luther right when he said: "I fear no Pope only pope self, for I have within me that great pope."

"But the two must go on together. For the man who is totally wrapped up with the war within him, the war with self for his own life, grows selfish and morbid and discouraged The two must go together. Each keeps the other healthy and true

"Fight with your own sin, and let that fight keep you humble and full of sympathy when you go out into the world and strike at the sin of which the world is full. Fight with the world's sin and let the needs of that fight make no aware how much is wrong, and make you eager that everything shall be right within yourself.

"There is the battle with poverty. A man told me the other day "I am absolutely too poor to be a church member. It takes me all the time now to keep the wolf from the door." The first obstacle religion has to encounter is not infidelity, nor depravity, but it is to get a hearing. Christ requires a hearing. This brings it into competition with everything else that wants a hearing. One of its most determined rivals is to get a living. Ninety per cent of the human race have to labor for that day's bread. Much of the time the occupation is uncertain, and the toiler has to carry burdens and his own insurance by diligence and hard work. And when it is all over one man in 200 dies worth $1,000 So that a living which can not be put off to a more convenient season is a powerful competitor of religion.

"There is a battle against evil habit. One thought at our Springfield Convention was the salvation of the young. Reformation is good Salvation is better. Save them from bad habits when young.

"There is the battle against associated evil. There is nothing stronger. Bad books and bad companions will lead a young man down quicker than anything else. In youth we are like the tree frog that acquires the color of every thing it adheres to. We partake of the nature of those with whom we associate. The waters of a river may be sweet and pure before they reach the city, but after they have kept company awhile with drains and sewers, instead of purifying the drains and sewers they themselves have become poisoned and contaminated.

"There is a battle against aimlessness Most of the youths growing up do not know why they are here or why they go to school. They who aim at nothing are certain to hit it.

"The secret of victory is in this battle Make up your mind that the flesh can be conquered There is a significant Scripture in Exodus XIV:30 "And Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea shore." So it is with our enemies. We are not condemned to struggle with our Egyptians in desperate fight always, but we hope to see them some day dead like the Egyptians on the sea shore The Egyptians that are tormenting us must die This is the assurance which is possessing the heart of every true man and woman.

"If you really want to conquer you must form an alliance with the Son of God. You must be made a partaker of the divine nature. Christ in you is the only hope of your deliverance You must possess His strength, His thought, His conception of things, His life, and this will surely enable you to come off victorious. Confess your weakness and go to him tonight for strength. Love for Christ that is the secret. The love that will bind you to God will be stronger than the allurement from without."

At the close, Mr. Small presented the claims of the Y. M. C. A and urged the young men of his congregation to join the Association.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman Presents Forcible Arguments.

Rev. E. S. Chapman pastor of the Market Street Congregational Church, espoused the cause of woman suffrage in a most eloquent manner during his sermon last evening. In commenting upon the defeat of the Sixth Amendment, Dr. Chapman said: "Good men, of course, voted against the measure, because if the good people had been for it it would have carried beyond any doubt. What shall we do now in this struggle for equal rights? In the words of my text, 'Be ye not afraid of men.'

"The cause of woman suffrage is a just, noble and righteous one. In the language of Speaker Reed a few days ago 'There is no argument in favor of the right of men to vote which does not apply with equal force to that same right for women. There is nothing to be afraid of Why should we be discouraged when we know we are in the right. Many of those who oppose our cause admit the justice of it And no power can successfully contend against right and truth."

A LINE OF BISHOPS.

Rev. Marshall Law Advances a New Theory.

At the Church of the Advent last evening Rev. V. Marshall Law delivered a sermon upon the subject "From St. John of Ephesus to Bishop Nichols of California" in which he declared that the Episcopal Church was connected by an unbroken line of bishops to the days of John, Paul, Peter and James. In proof of his assertions, Dr Law displayed a map which he had made of the geneological tree of the Episcopal Church. "This tree" he declared, "showed that the Church of England was no more indebted to the Romanists for their episcopal succession than were the United States indebted to Magna Charta for the Constitution of the United States St. Augustine was not a bishop of the Romanist succession, and please salt that down where it will stay remembered. Those red lines over on the right show where the Roman line tapped the English line seventy-two years after St. Augustine arrived in England, at which time the Roman Vitalian was present at the consecration of English Theodore At that time the Roman stream united with the sturdy English line, which up to this time had never been in episcopal contact with the Roman line."

greatest State in this nation, and that is why you have mental and physical superiority. Your progenitors were men and women of remarkable vigor.

"Mr. Bryan has said he would give this four years to silver. The South is for free trade. That's where Chairman Jones said he had 152 electoral votes and needed only a few more. The South had its black slave labor and became free trade because it did not dare to do anything else. They did not dare have a factory near the blacks because they might have learned that their labor was worth something. England took advantage with her usual astuteness, of the situation' Every penny of reduction you make in the tariff is a bonus to the foreign manufacturer On the 2200 things that pay a duty labor has received a wage plus that duty and a great deal more."

Mr Schoonmaker then launched into the tariff question and urged his hearers not to cease preaching protective tariff whenever the opportunity presented itself. He declared that in the face of circumstances, the carrying of California by the Republicans was as remarkable as it was pleasing

"Now for four years the capital of the East has been itching to come here," the speaker continued. 'but it feared Populism. I talked in Illinois where the Prince of Anarchists dwells. An anarchist is a man who wants to blot out everything from the American flag except the red. This man in Illinois made his reputation pardoning anarchists

"Now since California has decided to remain on the side of national honor and integrity and that money invested in California is as safe as it is in New York, money will flow here so fast that you cannot use it

"My friends, you having voted for McKinley and an American policy, you say that every man who has labor to sell shall be paid dollar for dollar in good money. You have also decided to undo the awful wrong of forcing the pensioners of the nation to take their pensions from the hands of those who made them pensioners.

"Let me say there is nothing in this silver business but an appeal to the discontented Imagine Mr Bryan as President with Altgeld as his chief adviser. Think of what we have escaped There isn't a nation in the world that wouldn't put on sackcloth and ashes over McKinley's election except Russia That's what is meant by President-elect McKinley."

When the applause had died away, Chairman Morrow rose and said:

"Fellow members of the Alliance Club I move that we make Mr. Schoonmaker an honorary member of our club. All in favor, say aye

The loud chorus of ayes which followed testified to Mr Schoonmaker's popularity Then the Alliance slogan resounded through the hall and the boys were emphatic in announcing that Schoonmaker was "all right"

Mr. Shoomaker, responded feelingly. "I thank you," he said, " for the unexpected, yet very welcome honor. It is indeed flattering to be a member of such a fine organization as the Alliance Club and I shall always remember this testimonial as one of the most pleasant features of my trip.

"I hear that you boys intend to go on to Washington. I'll be there too and I guarantee that you will be gloriously treated McKinley will be proud to have such a splendid body of loyal soldiers by his side and when I see him, I will tell him that the Alliance is "all right" as you say.

In the course of his remarks Mr Schoonmaker paid a glowing tribute to the newspapers of the coast and to their workers.

"I am a newspaper man myself," he said, "and can appreciate the hardships and duties which fall to the lot of my fellow workers To them much credit must be given, for to a large degree they help to mould public opinion Newspapers are always right and newspaper men are good fellows. The California papers have helped much this campaign and have demonstrated themselves equal to the best in the land.

"I tell you, you Californians should be proud of yourselves and your beautiful country. I am in love with it and with you. I have said before that if my wife were only here with me, I would never think of going from you."

Again and again the "Hip! hip! rah!" echoed and re-echoed through the hall and the band joined in with a lively tune.

Mayor Davie then gave the key of the city to the visiting Angelenos The key was the same one received by the Oaklanders in Los Angeles two years ago, though it then was garnished with silver. This time is was resplendent in a covering of gold and bore the following inscription "Key to the Gate of the Athens of the Pacific. Presented to California's Noble Sons."

The Mayor made the tender to Colonel Munson of Los Angeles and in doing so said the duty was a great pleasure and that he hoped the visitors would make themselves at home. He called attention to the "handwriting on the wall, 6,278 majority" and continuing, said.

"I have been a protectionist all my life, and with some mental reservation am in sympathy with Mr. Schoonmaker's remarks. I have studied for years the coal industry The Wilson bill reduced the tariff. Was the price lowered to consumers? Not one cent I believe in developing our own mines and placing a prohibitory tariff on foreign coals, wherever brought from I have tried to do my duty but I have been harassed on all sides by reformers who have nothing to reform"

LOS ANGELES REPLIES.

Colonel Munson then rose and on behalf of the Los Angeles visitors thanked the Mayor.

"I am glad to receive this key," he said "and I am thinking of the sport we will have two years from now, when we return it to Oakland The splendid demonstration of tonight is cause for gratification and on behalf of my fellow visitors I want to thank you for our entertainment"

"I feel sure that we will be ready to guarantee a trip to Los Angeles at the close of the next campaign I wish many more of our people had been here tonight to see and enjoy this great enthusiasm. It would make us thousands of votes, and the workers for the cause would have been increased by the hundreds."

W. R. DAVIS.

GAL. TUREEE—BANQUET

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Davis said: "We have been looking for sixty days and nights all the time for the physical and moral benefit we are to gain by this election, but man and not property is the thing. Money is the means to an end. It ought to be thus called. It is nothing else. This great California University at Berkeley is a part of the great system beginning with the barefoot boy who trudges over the dusty roads to his little schoolhouse. This is the beginning of the great American school system."

The speaker traced the growth of American institutions, and in conclusion declared that the development of man was the greatest of American industries.

Then several others spoke, among them being R N Bulla, Judge A. L. Frick and Frank P. Flint.

The feast of reason and flow of wit continued through the early hours of the morning, and when the gathering dispersed the visitors took with them not only an excellent idea of Alameda County's hospitality, but a growing impression of the Alliance Club—the cradle political military organization of the whole State.

A pleasant feature of the proceedings was the election of John Britton, manager of the Gas Company, as a member of the Alliance Mr. Britton, who, as one of the leading organizers of the Sound Money League, has done splendid work during the campaign, was in an interesting position. He has always been a Democrat, but this time worked and voted for McKinley. During a toast to which he responded during the course of the banquet, Mr Britton said that his change of heart had been caused by the platform adopted at Chicago by the Bryanites. He could not stand the anarchistic sentiments expressed, so he took off his coat and worked for the Republican candidate.

At the conclusion of Mr. Britton's speech it was proposed to elect him a member of the Alliance, and the suggestion was received with tumultuous applause. Mr. Britton was thereupon unanimously declared a full-fledged member of the club.

Regarding the proposed trip of the Alliance to Washington, it was stated during a conversation at one of the tables that a banker of this city had declared himself willing to raise $5,000 towards the expenses of the trip.

THE TRUST AT AN END.

Wind-Up of the Legal Issues in the Merritt Case.

Proceedings Handled With Celerity in Judge Frick's Court.

The long drawn out litigation affecting the claims of James and F. A. Merritt upon the estate of their uncle, the late Dr. Samuel Merritt, was brought to a close in the Superior Court before Judge Frick last Saturday afternoon. It consisted in knocking out what is known as the Knowles trust, which, it is claimed, has operated with severity upon James Merritt and F. A. Merritt, and, as a consequence, $500,000 worth of property goes to the Purrington heirs. There is no doubt, however, that an agreement has been effected between those heirs and the Merritt nephews by which the latter will come into immediate possession of a large amount of property, which will afford a reasonable and satisfactory income.

The action was brought by H. P. Merritt and the heirs of Stephen Purrington, comprising J. S. Haskell, May J. Dalton, William L. Haskell, C. May Haley, Harriet S. Small, James W. Cone, F. J. Lovell, Willis M. Brown.

It was brought to declare the trust null and void because of the conest of Mrs. Garcelon's will by James and F. A. Merritt, and as a consequence to have the property included in the trust go in equal parts to H. P. Merritt and the Purrington heirs.

The history of the case goes back to the death of the late Dr Samuel Merritt, who left an estate valued at $2,000,000. This estate was bequeathed to his sister, Mrs. Catherine Garcelon, the doctor's nephews, James and Fred A Merritt, being permitted to select from the doctor's home simply a pair of family portraits, a privilege of which they declined to avail themselves. Mrs. Garcelon, however, decided to act a little more generously toward the young men. She gave them a trust deed to property valued at $500 000 and $125,000 in cash In the deed, I. N. Knowles was named as trustee. By the terms of the deed the nephews were to enjoy the income from the property, and at their death the income was to go to their wives and children A condition was imposed that the nephews at the death of Mrs Garcelon should not contest their will. In the event of such a contest, the trust was to be declared void and the property was to revert to the estate of Mrs Garcelon. Within a year Mrs. Garcelon died, bequeathing $500,000 to Bowdoin College and $500,000 for a hospital in this city.

The nephews brought suit to break Mrs. Garcelon's will, on the ground that at the time she made it Mrs. Garcelon was of unsound mind, and the case was tried in the Superior Court and later was passed on by the Supreme Court, and in both instances a decision was given against the contestant. The will of Mrs Garcelon was further sustained by Judge Hawley in the United States Circuit Court.

In the early part of the present year Trustee Knowles died, and Attorney Emil Nusbaumer succeeded to the position

That was the condition of the case till late last Saturday, when the plaintiffs and defendants alike appeared before Judge Frick. The complaint was filed, a couple of demurrers were made and overruled, and then an answer was filed in a very brief space of time The voluminous record in the case before Judge Ellsworth was submitted to the court. Findings were waived on both sides, and then the decree was signed declaring the trust, latterly discharged by Mr. Nusbaumer, as null and void.

James Merritt was represented by A. A. Moore, Fred Merritt by George M. Williams, the Purrington heirs by H. C. Campbell, Harry P. Merritt by C. H. Lovell and Trustee Nusbaumer by George W. Reed.

A Tribute to Irish.

The Sound Money League of Oakland is figuring on a testimonial banquet or public meeting in honor of Col. John P. Irish, who has returned after his Eastern trip in behalf of the gold standard. He campaigned on the trail of Bryan and did good work for the cause.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache, Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

THE CABLE CONFERENCE.

Meeting of the Delegates at the Colonial Office.

The Earl of Selborne Entertaining the Host of Visitors.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

(Copyright 1896 by Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov 9—The Pacific Cable Conference resumed its sessions at noon today in the rooms of the Earl of Selborne, Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Colonies, at the Colonial Office.

The Earl of Selborne presided.

W Hepworth Mercer acted as Secretary.

All the delegates were present.

After an hour and a half of informal chat, during which the routine of the subject and the order of witnesses were discussed, it was decided to begin with technical questions.

The first regular working session will take place Thursday evening next.

The Earl of Selborne will entertain the delegates at dinner.

Secretary Mercer said to a representative of the Associated Press: "The conference will now get to work in earnest

"Two meetings have already been held, one in June and one in July last.

"At the June meeting, it was found difficult to arrange for immediate subsequent sittings, owing to the Australian delegates being obliged to go to Buda Pest to attend Congress

"At the July session, a change of Government having taken place in Canada, the Canadian delegates felt some delicacy about going ahead until the attitude of the new Canadian Ministry was ascertained. This necessitated an adjournment until autumn.

"These two meetings were little more than formal Still, matters were gone into and considerable ground cleared

"It is not, however, permitted to say just what took place, as the Government cannot, of course, make any public statement until the conference is over and the results arrived at communicated to the Government colonies interested."

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Frank A. Leach Says He Has No Desire to Be Postmaster.

The following statement has been made by F A Leach of the Enquirer regarding the rumors of his candidacy for the post office.

"Enterprising journalists who are announcing the disposition of all the Federal offices would do well to remember that some of them will not be vacant for a long time yet. The postmaster of Oakland has two years or more to serve, and, as McKinley's is to be a civil service reform administration, Mr White will not be disturbed till the end of his term. Six years ago the appointment to the Oakland postoffice was offered, absolutely and without qualification to Frank A Leach, and he declined it because he thought that newspaper publishing and Federal office-holding did not go well together And he does not want a post office any more now than he did six years ago."

TAKEN BY TSCHICH.

A Remarkable Turn Taken About the Otten Child.

MUCH TROUBLE IS AHEAD.

The Courts Are Inclined to Frown Down His Claim.

A SCANDAL IS REVIVED.

It Looks as if a Play Is Being Made for Money.

The infant child of Peter Otten, deceased is having a stormy time early in life and this is the case simply because its father happened, when he died to have acquired about $5,000

The fight over this waif has, on several occasions been conducted in Judge Greene s court and the matter came up there today and was continued until January, because a new phase had been interjected into the matter It was the announcement that a man named Tschich of Alameda had adopted the child.

This is the second time that the little one has been adopted, its first foster parent being a Mrs Baumer, a boarding house keeper in San Francisco. As soon as Mrs Baumer adopted the child she sent her son to George W Reed, the father's attorney in this city, with a request that he turn over to her the $5,000 which it is said is comprised in Otten's estate.

As the estate has not yet been administered upon, Mr Reed declined to comply with the cheerful request of the self-sacrificing foster mother. Mr Reed further told Mrs Baumer's representative that she was not entitled to the money simply because she had adopted the child She would have to be appointed guardian of the little one, he said, before she would be entitled to handle any of the money.

Accordingly Mrs Baumer filed herself to Judge Wallace's court in San Francisco to be appointed the child's guardian

Judge Wallace learned that the case had an arm in the courts of this county and threw the matter out of his department until it should first have been disposed of by Judge Greene

Now that Tschich has adopted the child, the result of that act will be awaited with interest, especially when the matter comes up before Judge Greene

Tschich will most likely receive a considerable amount of his honor's attention, because, in taking hold of Otten's child he is doing what Judge Greene has declared he would not do and was not fit to do for his own children.

The inquiry into Tschich's case which was made by Judge Greene was at the instance of Mrs. Prescott of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Mrs Prescott found Mrs Tschich living in almost bestial squalor on lower Broadway. She had with her her two children and the infant child of Otten of which she was the mother, although she had not been married to its father The child had been born to her after she had been deserted by her husband Mrs Tschich said that her husband had not contributed to her support and she was unable to provide for her children in any more satisfactory manner than that in which she was found by Mrs Prescott

Tschich testified that he had $700 in bank and that he was engaged in the lock business in Alameda.

Judge Greene scored him for his neglect of his wife and children and said he was unfit to have children He also said that he would place the children under the guardianship of Mrs Prescott and that Tschich would be obliged to pay for their care.

Mrs Prescott has since discovered that Tschich had $1,200 instead of $700 in bank and that he has diverted it in such a manner that she can get none of it to pay for the support of Tschich's children

Mrs Prescott is satisfied that Tschich's motive in adopting the Otten child has a golden tint to it and it is not likely that when he fails to care for his own children he will be allowed to care for the children of others

AN EXCITING BLAZE.

Stores Are Burned and Asylum Patients in a Panic.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov 9—At Spencer, West Virginia, last night, thirty-nine stores and houses were burned

The fire started over Simmons & Co's general store and swept along the main business street

People were thrown in a panic

The fire started at 11 04 last night and and burned until late this morning.

The loss is estimated at $200,000

The asylum building being across the creek was out of danger, but the fire could be seen by the inmates and the attendants had their hands full controlling the patients who were terror-stricken.

THE TREASURY SAFE NOW.

Specie Payments Are to Be Resumed by the Financiers.

THE OUTLOOK ENCOURAGING.

McKinley's Election Has Had a Wonderful Effect Already.

By Associated Press to The Tribune

NEW YORK, Nov 9—The banks are contemplating the resumption of the specie payments which they suspended in February, 1892, by refusing to supply gold for export and for the payment of Government dues

That action threw the burden of supplying gold upon the Treasury, and eventually forced the issue of bonds by the Government which aroused so much complaint.

Since election the metal has been coming into the banks in such a flood that they see the way clear to what can be termed a resumption of specie payments

By this action of the banks, gold will be put into circulation and no reason whatever will exist for hoarding it

They will also resume the task of supplying gold for export and thus relieve the Treasury of the great strain.

THE STOCK MARKET

The initial prices on Wall street were irregular, changes were slight, aside from Bay State Gas which advanced 1½ per cent. Trading was in large volume and the market displayed a sagging tendency.

An easier tone was imparted by further advances of foreign exchange quotations in which posted rates were marked up half a cent.

The market at 11 displayed an aggressive strength under the leadership of coalers.

The improvement in the financial and business situation encouraged operations for long account, aided by the expectations that the New York City loan of $16,000,000 will be largely over-subscribed.

Realizations with a drive against some specialties, resulted in general concessions after 11 o'clock. Sugar was the most conspicuous The general market was unfavorably affected by the decided strength of foreign exchange, the rates being further advanced, some drawers asking 4 and 6 1-4 for demand sterling. Posted quotations also stiffened to 483½ and 487 for long and short bills.

The continued ease of money facilitating large remittances to Europe in the settlement of mercantile obligations and for our stocks and bonds recently bought abroad, together with heavy covering in exchange and payments by gold importers, cause a firmness in the exchange There were large transactions of hitherto neglected shares.

Toward midday a better tone developed Manhattan rose 3 per cent to 102 1-4, railway bonds continued to improve.

Atchison, Colorado and Pacific firsts rose 6 1-2 to 55 1-2.

Silver is 65 and lead $2 60.

Supervisor-Elect Wells Talks About the Count at Pleasanton.

Tom Wells of Dublin, who possesses the distinction of being the only Democrat in Alameda County who achieved victory on Tuesday last, is in town today watching the canvassing of the votes. Mr. Wells was, by the unofficial returns elected Supervisor in the First District by forty votes over the Republican candidate, F C Jarvis, of Newark, and there have been rumors of a contest principally on the ground that in Pleasanton No 2 Jarvis received only twenty-two votes while the Republican strength there was over 100

"I can account for that easily," said Mr Wells to a Tribune man today. "Pleasanton No. 2 is practically my home precinct, being only six miles from where I live at Dublin I did not get many votes in the precinct where Mr Jarvis lives and I don't think he ought to be surprised at not getting many where I live I have been told that the count was absolutely correct and straightforward in every way and I want to say right here that if I couldn't get an office honestly, squarely and like a man I wouldn't take it at all. Mr Downing, who was present at the count as one of the officials, tells me that every vote went in just as it appeared and as there were Republican officials on the board as well as Democratic, I don't see how anything unfair could have been effected in the manner charged"

How Frauds Are Perpetrated in the New York Police.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—Frauds in the examination of applicants for the police force are alleged to have been discovered which may affect many persons connected with the civil service branch of the department

For months it had been noted that men below average intelligence successfully passed the examination, while their superiors in education failed to obtain the required percentage in rating

The fact led to an investigation, which showed that many of those taking examinations were supplied beforehand with a list of the questions to be asked them

They are said to have paid $300 each for this list.

A POPULAR SELECTION.

The New Lord Mayor of London Is Formally Installed.

A Magnificent Procession Through the Heart of the City.

(Copyrighted, 1896, by Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 9—In bright, crisp weather today the time-honored "Lord Mayor's Show" took place.

The new Lord Mayor of London, Mr Faudel-Phillips, was formally installed in office, succeeding Sir Walter Wilkins

The established custom showed a little sign of becoming obsolete and owing to the popularity of the new Lord Mayor and some unusual features of the street parade, the occasion was the most interesting in recent years

The committee having charge of the arrangements wisely determined to eliminate certain absurd features from the parade.

In place of the triumphal cars representing some allegorical or historical subject upon which numerous young women shivered in the November wind, the cars were occupied by groups showing various conditions of London's industry during the last century.

The procession started from Guild Hall at 10 30 A. M.

Along the route the usual bunting and decorations were displayed, being particularly noticeable on Cheapside and Newgate street.

A new particularly pleasing feature of the parade was the maids of honor who accompanied the lady Mayoress. The ladies who officiated in this capacity were Misses Faudel-Phillips, Stella Faudel-Phillips, Wingfield, Churchill, Walrond, Fitz-George, Evan and Walter. For the first time in history these parades of the maids were attended by groomsmen.

Another feature of the procession was the military display. The Scots Greys furnished the escort.

Several lines of regiments also marched The boys of the ships Arethusa, Chichester and Warsprite attracted much attention and were supplemented by a division of the Gordon Boys' Orphanage.

The fire brigade also made an interesting showing

The advance which has been made in locomotion during the century was demonstrated by one of the most perfect motor cars in contrast to the old style, each equipped with coachman and attendants in old-fashioned liveries which followed.

The new Lord Mayor is the younger son of the late Sir Benjamin Samuel Phillips, who was alderman from 1857 to 1868, and who served as Lord Mayor in 1886

He was born in 1840, succeeded his father as alderman in 1888, having three years previously filled the office of sheriff of London and Middlesex.

He has for three years been chairman of the special committee on corporations, appointed to defend the rights, privileges and existence of the city, under the present conditions.

He holds high decorations from Belgium, Servia, Persia and other countries.

He is the fourth Lord Mayor of the Jewish persuasion, his father having been the second.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9—Wheat broke the record for the season this morning by selling at 80½ December, two cents over Saturday's close.

The advance was not attended by any great excitement

A few open orders to take profit on long stuff at an even figure brought only a temporary set-back.

Outside markets were particularly strong.

The visible report showed an increase of only 1,243,000 bushels.

The threatened crop damage in Argentine, doleful rumors of an unsatisfactory fall of seeding in Russia and France and large seaboard clearances were the chief factors which contributed to the success of the bulls

Corn, oats and provisions participated in the advance proportionately.

THE LONDON MARKET.

LONDON, Nov. 9—Business at the Baltic in wheat opened steady and quiet. On Mark Lane wheat was firm, about 1s. 6d. higher than Friday.

Business at the Baltic closed very quiet, but holders adhered to opening prices.

The Mark Lane Express in a long article on crops says: "The deficiency in India is now known to be very serious, but it is not likely that large wheat imports will occur. Although the prices only range from 26s. to 36s per quarter, the extreme poverty of the Indian populace renders anything over 30s. almost prohibitory, and 15s. to 25s. is the usual range.

"Owing to the failure in India and Australia, a deficiency of 2,033,500 quarters has been created in Great Britain's usual supply, which must be made up from other sources and as a change in the situation which, itself, is sufficient to uphold the recent rise.

"The quantities of wheat in passage to the United Kingdom November 7th were 2,045,000 quarters, of which Russian wheat amounts to 400,000 quarters, North American 360,000, South American 100,000, Californian 1,220,000 and elsewhere 25,000."

Routine Matters Come Before the Board of Supervisors.

Preparations for a Bridge Across the Arroyo Valley Creek.

The Board of Supervisors was called to order this morning at half-past 9 o'clock. Though the principal business of the meeting was to canvass the election returns, the customary audience was not in attendance. Later, however, many of the interested ones dropped in.

Before commencing the big task, some routine business was transacted.

Supervisor Talcott asked that some action be taken in regard to Hopkins street, which is in a bad condition, owing to the lack of drains. He asked authorization to go ahead and have drains put in and by a unanimous vote this was so ordered.

Bassett Bros. asked for a slight amendment to their contract for building the bridge over Sausal Creek. Supervisor Talcott was empowered to take charge of the matter.

G. F. Hawk, Emeryville, applied for a permit to sell liquor and his bond was approved.

Supervisor Pelouze reported that he had assisted 159 indigents during October at a cost of $264.

Permits to obtain liquor licenses were given to J. P. Greer, Park street and Hollis avenue; Manuel Silva, Centerville; J. Dignler, San Pablo and Park avenues.

J. Reichert was granted a free peddler's license for six months, upon the filing of a satisfactory petition.

Supervisor Johnston offered a resolution ordering the Clerk to advertise for bids for the construction of a brige across Arroyo Valle creek, at the intersection of the Wetmore and Crane properties.

Supervisor Church wanted to have the character of the bridge specified and it was then decided to make it a combination of wood and iron.

Supervisor Talcott did not know whether the location was a good one, and to straighten matters out, Supervisor Church moved that the County Surveyor, acting in conjunction with the Supervisor of the district, find a suitable location for it. This was adopted, though not by a unanimous vote. The whole resolution was then laid on the table for one week.

The Board then started canvassing the returns.

THE "COTTAGE" IN COURT

Watson's Lessee Complains of the Way He Was Treated.

He Says the Liquor License Was Seized Contrary to Agreement.

An interesting case was taken under advisement by Judge Ellsworth this morning, in which the resort near the Twelfth street dam, known as the Cottage Saloon, plays a prominent part.

The plaintiff in the case is Fleury Gommet, and W. M. Watson, the liquor dealer on Washington street, is the defendant.

Gommet asserted that on the 24th of March of this year the defendant sold him the stock of liquors and cigars and all the fixtures of the place, including as he alleged a liquor license of the City of Oakland, which he said had eleven months to run. The price paid was $675, of which amount $500 was for the stock and fixtures and $100 was for the license. Gommet further said that it was represented to him that he could conduct a liquor and restaurant business at the "Cottage" and that he proceeded to do so until, on the 24th of the following April, he was compelled to desist selling liquors on the order of the Chief of Police, on the ground that no license was in effect at the resort and the petitioner would not be granted a license by the Council.

Watson contended, so far as the payment of $100 for the license was concerned, the only person authorized by law to receive such payment was the City Treasurer. He also contended that he had nothing to do with the order of the Chief which closed up the saloon. He also held that the plaintiff should have known that he could not run a saloon in this city without first procuring a license from the city authorities authorizing him to sell liquor.

Gommet sued for $675 and Judge Ellsworth will determine as to whether or not the claim is a valid one.

FIGURED AT $1.10.

The City's Clerical Staff at Work on the Taxes.

The City Assessor and Tax Collector have taken time by the forelock in the matter of taxes and figuring upon the $1.10 ordinance going through, despite the veto of the Mayor, which is being prepared today, will be ready by Wednesday morning to receive money and give receipts.

For the past week the Assessor has had an extra force of clerks at work and all of his computations on the $1.10 rate were finished Saturday night. The rolls were turned over to the Tax Collector this morning and an extra force is at work today making the extensions on the tax bills. This will be completed tomorrow night.

The ordinance has been with the Mayor since Friday morning, but he did nothing with it until today. This makes it too late for a special meeting of the council to be called for this evening, but one will probably be summoned tomorrow night, at which time the measure will be acted upon.

Caused by Despondency.

President Cleveland Sends a Message About the A. R. U.

He Thinks a Forcible Lesson Has Been Given the Workmen.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The President has pardoned W. H. Clune, Isaac Ross and Philip Stanwood of California sentenced December 6, 1896, to pay a fine of a dollar and be confined in Los Angeles county jail eighteen months for conspiracy, the offense being committed in the railway riots at that time general throughout the country.

The President wrote the following endorsement on the application: "These convicts have suffered more than nine months' imprisonment under their sentences. I am bound to assume they were guilty of an offense most dangerous in its character and in the commission of which they aided and encouraged an unlawful defiance of authority which threatened most distressing consequences.

"I am convinced, however, that these men are not criminals, but laboring men swept into the violation of law by first listening to the counsels of disorder.

"Others besides themselves are suffering humiliation and deprivation on account of their wrong doing; and I am led to believe the purposes of punishment, as far as the effect on the prisoners is concerned, have been fully accomplished.

"I am also convinced that the imprisonment already suffered by these prisoners will be an ample warning to thousands equally guilty though unpunished, and to those who may be hereafter tempted that laws enacted to insure peace and order must be obeyed."

A SAILOR RUN DOWN.

Gus Nelson of the Fishing Bark "Electra" Is Injured.

He Was Struck by the Alameda Local on First Street.

Gus Nelson, a Swede who lives in San Francisco, was seriously, if not fatally, injured by being struck by a train yesterday afternoon.

Nelson lives with Fred Showers, on the corner of Pacific and Drumm streets, is 34 years of age and is the mate of the fishing bark Electra.

He came over to Oakland yesterday to spend his Sunday and during the afternoon drank enough to make him reckless.

At about 4 o'clock he attempted to cross First street at Broadway. The Alameda local was just coming along and, although the engineer saw Nelson and reversed the brakes, applied the air brakes, blew the whistle and otherwise tried to get him off of the track, he was unable to do so and Nelson was struck and knocked several feet away.

He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, and Drs. Johnson and Olmstead were summoned. It was found that he was terribly bruised and bleeding, but the worst wound was a fracture of the skull which could plainly be seen through an ugly laceration in the side of his head.

He remained unconscious during the night, but this morning regained reason. He gave his name and address but could not recall anything that had transpired just prior to the accident. He seemed to be suffering a great deal, but is in a half dozen condition. The captain of the Electra called this morning at the hospital and said he would remove Nelson to the German Hospital in San Francisco as soon as his condition warrants it. Dr. Johnson says that if Nelson continues to recover as fast as he has during the last twenty-four hours, he will soon be out of all danger.

DEMANDED THE MONEY.

Aleck Rosborough's Bondsmen Receive a Formal Notice.

A demand was made today on the bondsmen of Alex Rosborough, late County Tax Collector, to pay into the County Treasury the sum of $591.10, which it is alleged Rosborough collected as taxes but failed to surrender. A similar demand was made upon Rosborough several weeks since but thus far has not been complied with.

Rosborough's bondsmen are W. W. Foote, J. T. Glenn, John R. Glascock, P. E. Dalton, R. M. Turner, R. M. Fitzgerald, J. West Martin, John M. English, J. C. Martin, A. A. Moore and Thomas Moran.

The Police Have Landed a Hundred in Jail Already.

Chief of Police Lloyd is continuing his efforts to keep the city in pin money until the tax rate is fixed and taxes fill the coffers. The raids on the bicyclist who transgresses the law goes on and this morning the police judge fined fifty-five of them $5 each. There are more names on the prison register which will come up in court tomorrow and all told the police had arrested just 100 wheelmen up to noon today.

WEYLER SETS OUT.

The Captain General Takes Charge of the Army.

HE STARTS AFTER MACEO.

A Crisis Is at Hand in the War in Cuba.

LARGE REINFORCEMENTS MOVE.

Denial That the United States Has Issued a Statement.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

HAVANA, Nov. 9. — Captain General Weyler has taken the field in person against the insurgents under Antonio Maceo in the province Pinar del Rio.

Reliable news received from the front indicates that the Spanish columns are approaching close to the enemy.

From Mariel it is understood he will go southward by highway to Artemisel and along the line of the trocha.

Strong reinforcements are being embarked to support the Captain General in his operations against the insurgents.

Marquis de Ahumada remains in charge of the Captain General's office here, with Col. Ramon Dominguez as Chief of Staff.

The Committee on National Defense has passed a resolution requesting the Government to finish the rebellion by the use of the army and without political interference.

RUMORS DENIED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The State Department officials say the story published today that Ramon Williams, ex-United States Consul General to Cuba, was sent to Spain as a secret agent of the Government in an endeavor to secure the consent of the Spanish Government to a project to sell Cuba to the insurgents, the United States to guarantee bonds in payment therefor, is a pure invention.

Williams has no connection with the State Department, either open or secret.

There also is said to be a lack of foundation for the story that the Spanish Minister promised the President that if the Spanish troops are unable to subdue the insurrection within sixty days the island will be abandoned.

Nothing has been heard here regarding the reported outrage on the family of an American sugar planter named Craycroft.

ACTIVITY REIGNS.

Many Ships Are Docking at the Edson Adams Wharves.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT, Nov. 9.—There is considerable business being done at the wharves today. Both the city and Adams' wharves are receiving considerable coal and lumber and each presents a scene of activity.

The steamer Bonita is in at the foot of Webster street with 400 tons of Coos Bay coal. This steamer has been engaged to ply between Coos Bay and this city in place of the lost Arago.

The schooner Enterprise came down yesterday with 250,000 feet of Oregon pine, consigned to the Oakland Lumber Company.

The steamer Homer finished discharging a cargo of Wellington coal at the Taylor bunkers and departed at noon today.

The Alliance was towed from the city wharf to the Edson Adams wharf last week, where she will receive her coats of paint without injury from coal dust.

The Annie Gee is also docked at the Adams wharf, where she is discharging 200,000 feet of lumber from Portland, which is consigned to the Washington Lumber Company.

The Joseph and Henry has finished discharging her cargo of coal and will depart tomorrow.

Foreman Weisensel of the Adams wharf expects a large whaleback vessel. She will discharge a cargo of coal in the enormous new bunkers lately erected by John L. Howard.

SECURED MUCH BOOTY.

Burglars Successfully Loot the Residence of R. W. Kinney.

During the absence of the family burglars broke into the house of Ralph W. Kenney at the intersection of Telegraph and Webster and stole nearly everything in sight. The family has been traveling in the East for some time and Mr. Kenney has been living down town. Yesterday he went to his home to see if everything was all right and discovered the burglary.

The matter has been reported to both the police and sheriff's office, and efforts are being made to recover the plunder, which is valued at about $500.

CANNOT BE COMPENSATED.

The Supreme Court Decides the Transportation Case.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Supreme Court handed down a decision today in the case of the Central Pacific Railroad Company against the United States involving the right of the company to compensation for carrying post office inspectors.

The Court held that the Company had waved any right of compensation that might exist.

The Government's right to secure transportation on bond-aided roads was not directly covered as the decision turned on the point that the railroad had freely given transportation not putting in the claim until long afterwards.

A SHIP ASHORE.

A British Boat Is in Trouble North of Gray's Harbor.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PORTLAND, Nov. 9.—Word has been received from West Point, Washington, that a British bark had gone ashore two miles north of Gray's Harbor.

Tugs cannot reach the vessel.

A life saving crew has gone to the scene.

SANTA CLARA'S VOTE.

The Canvass Will Not Change the Presidential Figures.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 9.—The Board of Supervisors, as a canvassing board began a count of the votes today.

At noon only two precincts had been footed.

It is not believed the figures will differ materially from those already published, which give McKinley a plurality of 1,052.

The People's Party and Democratic vote will be footed separately.

The People's Party and Democratic vote are totalized in these figures.

CONCEDED TO M'KINLEY.

Close of the Contest About the Blue Grass State.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—The headquarters of both the Republican and Democratic Campaign Committees are closed, it being conceded now that on the face of the official returns from 115 of 119 counties McKinley carried the State.

The official returns of the missing counties will not alter the general result.

Chairman Roberts figures McKinley's plurality at 444.

The Courier-Journal figures the plurality at 498; the Times makes it 576.

GRANTED A DIVORCE.

The Quinan Case Is Disposed of by Judge Ellsworth.

William R. Quinan was granted a divorce from his wife, Caroline B. DeWitt Quinan on the ground of wilful desertion this afternoon by Judge Ellsworth. The plaintiff is the assistant superintendent of the Powder Works at Pinole. This is the second time the case has been tried. On the first hearing the petitioner was unable to prove desertion. The defendant's attorney, after the decree had been made, asked for permission on the part of Mrs. Quinan, to resume her maiden name. The request was not objected to by the petitioner, but Judge Ellsworth refused to grant it. He claimed that the defendant was advanced in years and had borne children who bore the name of her husband. It was proper, therefore, that the defendant should continue to bear her name in marriage. Besides, it was the fault of the woman alone that the divorce has been occasioned, because she deliberately left her home and, although she returned to it later, she refused to act as a wife or even to take charge of the home. The family reside at Twelfth and Filbert streets.

A NEW REGISTER.

C. L. Maxwell the Inventor of a Clever Device.

C. L. Maxwell has completed a model of his "Columbia" cash register, on which he has spent much time and money during the past several years and will have it on exhibition at his hardware store, 1161 Washington street, near Fourteenth, for a few days previous to sending it East. Mr. Maxwell is justly proud over the success of his efforts and extends a cordial invitation to his many friends and the public in general to call at his store and inspect the new register.

Another Burglary.

Burglars broke into the home of Kate Marchi, the opera singer, last night and stole a gun and case and several minor articles. The residence is at Thirty-ninth and Grove streets. The family was in San Francisco last night and did not discover the burglary until this noon.

Sarony Is Dead.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Napoleon Sarony, photographer, died today. Next to Brady, he has probably photographed more celebrities than any other artist in the United States.

Discount Advanced.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

BOMBAY, Nov. 9.—The Bank of Bombay has increased its rate of discount to 7 per cent.

KILLED BY A RANGER.

A Noted Colorado Outlaw Comes to Grief in Texas.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

DENVER, Nov. 9.—The Federal officers today received a telegram saying Miguel Reville was killed near Childers, Tex., Saturday, by a Texas Ranger, when resisting arrest.

Reville was the leader of a gang of outlaws who infested Southern Colorado for years.

The Trinidad officers claim to have proof that Reville and his gang killed Billy Green and Billy Kelly, members of the Sheriff's posse, who captured Pedro Baca and Leandro Martinez about a year ago.

This pair are serving forty-five years' sentence for the murder of Charles Allen in a Trinidad saloon a year and a half ago.

Holt, Noble and Romero, who were hanged for the murder of Officer Solomon in Trinidad, were members of Reville's gang.

A COMPLETE COUNT.

Allyn—1675.
Campbell—750.

A West Oakland Meeting.

The West Oakland Improvement Club will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at the office of J. S. Colburn & Co., 1756 Seventh street, at 8 o'clock. No meetings have been held during the campaign. Matters of importance, including the park site, will be brought up for discussion.

The County Committee.

The Republican County Central Committee will meet tomorrow night in the rooms of Secretary J. W. H. Riley, in the Court House. The old committee rooms in the Blake & Moffitt Building have been given up, and this meeting will probably be the last of the campaign.

The Britton Case.

Judge Ellsworth this afternoon denied the motion for a new trial in the case of Britton vs. the Oakland Bank of Savings.

Dr. Payne's Will.

In the matter of the probate of the will of the late Dr. B. M. Payne, a continuance of one week was granted by Judge Greene this morning.

OAKLAND OFFICE

Gas, Light and Heat Company,

N. W. Cor. of Thirteenth and Clay Sts.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 30, 1896.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We want to interest you in the matter of Gas Stoves. We can sell you a stove which will do all your cooking, for a less sum than you can buy either a wood or a coal stove, and the price of gas will make it cost you less per month than any other fuel you can buy.

You must have heard of the stoves from your neighbors for more than 1000 are in use in this territory.

They boil, roast, broil and fry. They don't heat the kitchen. They are clean.

If you use 1000 feet a month you get gas at $1.75 per thousand—We sell a stove for $12 placed in your house, and you are instructed in its care and management. It don't cost you anything for all time to keep it in repair and condition, as we do that for you free of expense.

We have stoves with waterback attachments, and a variety of patterns of stoves ranging in price from $12 upwards.

We trust that you will find time to call and investigate the conveniences and advantages attending the use of gas for fuel. Heating stoves of all kinds from $1.50 upward. Yours very respectfully,

JOHN A. BRITTON,
Secretary.

Julia Marlowe-Taber Tonight In "Romeo and Juliet."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" Will Be on at the Oakland Theater.

Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber will play an engagement of three nights at the Macdonough Theatre, beginning tonight and the theatre goers of Oakland may be assured a series of delightful and inspiring performances will be offered them.

Julia Marlowe-Taber's genius is now greatly recognized as belonging to the highest rank. Her portrayals of the gentle heroines of Sheakespeare's comedies have long been recognized as possessing a singular charm, and her Juliet has been pronounced the most convincing and appealing interpretation of the character known to the modern stage.

Robert Taber is regarded as one of the most capable and artistic legitimate actors in the profession. The productions being given by Julia Marlowe-Taber and Robert Taber are all receiving high praise for their completeness and artistic worth, and their Company is one adequate to the presentations of high class performances. They will give "Romeo and Juliet" tonight; "Twelfth Night" on Tuesday night and "As You Like It" Wednesday night.

The staging and appointment of the show form one of the great features of the attractions. Everything is artistic and of the highest order and the public will see productions that have never been excelled at the Macdonough Theatre. There has been a big advance sale and as society does not mind the rain there will undoubtedly be a crowded and fashionable house when the curtain goes up.

A critic writing of her characterizations says: "Miss Marlowe's Juliet comes closer to the great poet's ideal Italian girl than that of any recent actress. She is not altogether the conventional Juliet, for she refuses to adhere to some of the long accepted readings and situations. She shows us a Juliet within the scope of our modern conceptions—a fair girl changed from child to woman almost in an instant by the subtle force of love. She makes us see childish playfulness and fancy charmingly joined to the womanly instinct of complete devotion to a heart's idol. Mr. Taber's Romeo is praised highly by the leading critics, Boston saying that he is incomparably the best that city has ever seen during the last decade. Mr. Taber creates a Romeo who is a lover according to the good, old-fashioned, romantic school—a lover who will not grow obselete until human nature changes much more radically than it has changed during the last three thousand years. "Romeo and Juliet" will be handsomely staged, Mr. and Mrs. Taber making what are called special productions of the six plays they produce in this city."

LOIE FULLER COMING.

Loie Fuller is on her way to the Coast. Unusual inducements have been offered for this great Parisian sensation, as Miss Fuller, who is now recognized as the leading light of the terpsichorean world has been summoned to appear before Li Hung Chang, China's great Viceroy. "La Lole" will be seen at the California Theatre, prior to her departure for the Orient on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, November 23d, 24th and 25th. The sale of reserved seats will begin on Thursday morning, November 19th at 9 o'clock at the music house of Messrs. Sherman & Clay, corner of Sutter and Kearney streets, San Francisco.

She will be at the Macdonough for one night on Saturday next.

THE OAKLAND.

L. R. Stockwell in the character of "Marks," Frank Bacon as "Uncle Tom" and clever little Busy Bee as "Eva" will be supported by the Oakland Theatre Stock Company in the great Southern drama "Uncle Tom's Cabin, with up-to-date specialities, melodies and secenic effects, at the Oakland Theatre tonight and each night during the week including a special children's matinee on Saturday afternoon.

Next week "Ranch 10 comes to be followed the week after by "The White Squadron" and an entirely new company. The present stock company under the management of Joseph Muller having been contracted to fill engagements at several of the leading theatres on the coast producing that ever popular drama "A Temperance Town"

CLEVER JIM SWINNERTON.

He Has Issued a Calendar Typical of His Style.

James Swinnerton, the clever cartoonist and artist, who has made the California bear such a feature of his illustrations, has illustrated a calendar for 1897. The calendar is printed on heavy light-brown paper of heavy quality and comes in an attractive box ready for mailing.

Swinnerton did most excellent work in the illustration, and shows a delicate humor in his treatment of the characteristics of each month. From the little January bear shivering over his fire to the December bear muffled in a high collar, the variations of the season are shown. The stormy seasons of the spring are depicted by the little bears suffering from various dilemmas of the storm, wind and rain. His May bear is poised sentimentally over a rose inhaling its perfume. June is a delicious satire on the "summer man" at the seashore, for Swinnerton has made the quaint little bear express every whim of that individual in his expression, dress and gait.

The month of July will recall a pleasant reminiscence of summer days, when the heat bids one seek comfort and coolness in sea bathing. In this picture, Swinnerton has the little bears acting in the most human manner, from the one who hesitates on the plank till another pushes him over to the little cub shivering with cold, it is a typical scene at a bathing resort.

August and September are cleverly illustrated. October with its football players will appeal to many as a good take-off on the heroes of the gridiron.

The anxiety of politicians is reflected on the expressive countenance of November's bear, who is laboring diligently with a Populistic bear, while the polling place looms up in the background.

It is with regret that one views the last bear shivering beneath the cold blasts of December, and whose grotesque figure marks the end of Swinnerton's clever work.

Deaths From Typhoid.

Two nine-year-old children died from typhoid fever yesterday. The first was little Elsie Lange, the daughter of Theodore Lange of Grove and Benton streets, Lorin, and the other George Kelley of 1412 Fourth street, Berkeley.

Several cases of typhoid have been reported to the Health Office of late, but an epidemic is not feared.

A Small Burglary.

During the parade Saturday night burglars broke into J. Lomonge's shoe store on Telegraph avenue, but only secured one pair of shoes. The proprietor had emptied the till before he left the store.

MONDAY.....NOVEMBER 9, 1896

It appears from a recent dispatch sent from London that the Spanish bankers have come to the aid of the Treasury of Spain when it was evident that a great financial crisis was approaching. The loan to be made to the Government by Spanish bankers amounts to 400,000,000 pesetas (about $80,000,000,) nominal, redeemable in eight years and bearing five per cent interest. Of this amount 20,000,000 pesetas will be used to pay the Spanish Transatlantic Steamship Company the arrears due it for transporting troops to Cuba; 50,000,000 pesetas will be devoted to the reimbursement of the Bank of Spain for its latest advances; 63,000,000 pesetas for the reimbursement of the Banque de Paris et du Pay Bas, and the remainder for war expenses in Cuba. Senor Canovas del Castillo, the prime minister, in announcing the success of the loan, said the issue would be made in December, and would be guaranteed by the customs. The Government hopes to issue later a loan of a thousand million pesetas guaranteed by the tobacco monopoly.

The London Saturday Review voices an odd complaint, inspired by the fact that the first and only short story written by Du Maurier is now being printed in England: "The bitterest enemy of a great man or great woman of letters is the creature who brings to light a writer's discarded work. "His best he gave, his worst he kept;" it ought to be left to a literary man or woman to say which, and how much, of his or her products shall be given finally to the world. There should be some respect for the dead. The fact that a writer leaves manuscripts behind him is no reason why they should be printed and circulated. They may be utterly unworthy of him, and tend to minimize his fame and influence. "When a famous author dies there is a strong desire to make commercial use if his unpublished works. Frenquently members of his family dig up manuscripts and sell them to the publishers. More frequently perhaps the publishers themselves rake them up for the money that there may be in publishing them. Has any author in this country been treated in this respect worse than Hawthorne?

A Buffalo man has a new electric device which according to the Pittsburg Dispatch he proposes to attach in the shape of a small dynamo to the axles of steam cars so that when they are running down hill enough electricity will be generated to cary a train up the grade, or to take most of the pull from the locomotive. Mr. Warner has experimented with his models, and, although he had no locomotive, he found by a register attached to a pulling contrivance that the electricity generated going down one hill was sufficient to equalize the resistance occasioned by a heavy adverse grade of equal length. He thinks that the saving of coal alone and the increased capacity of locomotives would more than pay any big railroad company for the expense of equipping their coaches with the device in less than a year. He does not think that the trolly system will ever prove a success on standard roads moving a heavy traffic, but says that in less than ten years all the big roads will be using auxiliary motors on their coaches, especially on through trains running at a high rate of speed, which demand the heaviest of engines at present, and even then can scarcely make schedule time.

According to the New York Sun twenty ounces of tea is the average annual consumption for each individual in the United States. England's average for the same period has been eighty ounces for each inhabitant, or four times greater. Tea drinkers as a rule use more sugar than coffee drinkers do. Tea-drinking countries are the greatest consumers of sugar. In Spain, where chocolate is more popular as a drink than tea and in France where coffee is proverbially popular, and supposedly best made, sugar is relatively less used. The annual consumption of sugar in the United States is now 2,100,000 tons, which is about 65 pounds a person. Of the total the United States produce 350,000 tons, 1,300,000 being imported. The United States pay annually over $108,000,000 for foreign sugar and $20,000,000 for the domestic article. The American product of sugar has increased 50 per cent in twelve years. The English consumption of sugar is at the rate of 70 pounds per capita, the average of Holland and Denmark being 30 pounds, and of France and Switzerland 23 pounds. The expression "enormous" often erroneously used by statisticians intent upon establishing a proposition or destroying an adverse contention, is correct in the case of Holland as a coffee-consuming country, for the total consumption of coffee in a year amounts to 40,000 tons and the total area of Holland is 12,000 square miles—less than half the size of West Virginia. On the basis of the population the coffee consumption of Holland is 328 ounces yearly for each inhabitant, and the other countries with which a comparison is made have the averages following: United States 150; Germany, 90; France, 70; Austro-Hungary, 36; Italy, 17; Great Britain and Ireland, 15; Spain, 3, and Russia, 2.

McKinley in Congress.

Senator Morgan in his recent explanation of the defeat of his party, extracts a little comfort from the declaration that McKinley voted in Congress for free silver, and therefore he will go into office with similar opinions. He will do nothing of the kind. In the first place his free silver leanings, if he ever had such in fact were at a time when that question was not a direct issue. Many members of Congress voted tentatively in that way who when the question was made a national issue, took the other side. A Republican President has been elected on a National platform which declares for a gold standard, but favors at the same time the largest use of silver consistent with that standard. Now there can never be but one standard. To say that there can be two contradicts the financial history of the world for the last two centuries.

Not only was a Republican President elected on a platform expressly declaring for a gold standard, but nearly every Republican who has been elected to the next Congress expressly avowed his adherence to that platform. Neither the President nor his Republican Congress will go back on this declaration of National faith. That includes a revision of the present tariff so that it will secure enough revenue to meet the expenditures of the Administration and incidentally to secure a moderate amount of protection. These issues have been settled by the recent election. There is not the least prospect that either will be obscured by the incoming Republican Administration.

About Municipal Charters.

It is now well settled by the courts that a municipal charater may be adopted at a special election. The charter of San Francisco failed although the vote was taken at a general election. Whether a new charter would have any better chance at a special election in that city is an open question. But another effort will be made to adopt a new charter which probably would not take effect before the expiration of two years or more, as it would not now be framed and submitted to the people in season to send to the present Legislature.

It will be noted that the Amendments to the Constitution, numbers four and five have been adopted by popular vote. These with other clauses of the Constitution practically give cities a good degree of independence provided they are organized under general laws. This independence is confined solely to municipal affairs. But some further legislation seems to be necessary before such organizations can safely be made. Amendment four specifies that the Legislature by general laws shall provide for the incorporation and organization of cities and towns. And those heretofore organized or incorporated may become organized under general laws. Some such laws are now in force, but the plain inference is that other general laws are to be enacted for the purpose by the incoming Legislature.

Republicans in Southern States.

The largest Republican vote ever cast in a number of the Southern States was that cast at the recent election. There is Kentucky, for instance, which four years ago gave Cleveland a plurality of 40,000. There were also 23,000 Populists at that time. In the recent election there was a fusion of Democrats and Populists. According to the latest report, McKinley has a plurality of 500 in Kentucky. That is the change that has been brought in four years.

Maryland, "my Maryland," went over to the Republicans for the first time in her history by a rousing majority. Sound money was in the lead there from the start. Then Delaware came into line. Virginia also ought to have been there, but Barbonism after getting some hard knocks, prevailed. But West Virginia, the home of Wilson, the father of the present tariff who was defeated for Congress two years ago, came up handsomely for the Republicans.

There is no Solid South. One after another these States have either gone over to the Republicans, or shown a strong tendency to go in that direction. If the next Republican Administration is satisfactory to the country, as it probably will be, most of the Southern States will cease to be counted in the Democratic ranks.

The Miners in Convention.

The Miners' Association of the Pacific Coast will meet in San Francisco tomorrow. These annual meetings are of surpassing interest. While a majority of the members are from California, and the interests of this State take the lead. Arizona, Nevada, Oregon and even Alaska will probably be represented. It is too early yet to make up the statistics of gold mining for the year in California. There has been a considerable increase in the output of gold believed by many to range from one to two millions over the product of last year. The gold product of Alaska will show a very large increase over any former year. Arizona, acording to recent authentic reports, has increased her gold product this year by more than a million of dollars.

The Miners' Association has become a very influential organization on the Pacific Coast. It has turned aside some unfriendly legislation, and has secured for mining industry an amount of protection which never could have been secured without a compact organization. Mining titles were never so secure as they are now. The meeting of an Association that represents a productive industry only less than that of agriculture, will be one of the most important events in these closing months of the year.

The Hitch About the Affiliated Colleges.

The Attorney General has refused to sign the contract for the construction of the Affiliated College buildings on the ground that the contract includes the use of Folsom granite. By means of that clause it was supposed that about ten thousand dollars would be saved, and only in that way could a contract be let for the construction of the buildings which would come within the limits of the appropriation.

The refusal of the Attorney General to approve of the contract because the Folsom stone is quarried by convict labor, will probably make an end of any construction of the contemplated college buildings this year. Governor Budd took an active part as one of the Regents, in shaping this contract. He is also a member of the Board of Examiners who pass upon all contracts for public buildings. He evidently saw no valid objection to the use of Folsom stone in the rough as an economical measure. The contract probably did not specify that the quarrying of granite should be by convict labor. That is the inference of the Attorney General whose little finger appears just now to be heavier than the whole Board of Regents.

Highest of all in Leavening Strength.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Here is an account that comes all the way from Philadelphia. "A bad report of the sailing qualities of the battle ship Oregon comes from San Francisco. She met heavy weather on her trial trip and is said to have rolled so badly as to endanger not only the safety of her crew, but even her own. Apparently her metacentric height is too great. She is top heavy and when a ship is in that condition there is always danger of her "turning turtle" and going to the bottom, with all on board, as several vessels of foreign navies have done. It is not probable that the Oregon will be accepted unless this defect is remedied, and whether it can be remedied without virtually rebuilding her, is yet to be ascertained." It may be noted that this account, which appears in the Ledger, is published close to Cramp's ship yard and at a time too, when there is great rivalry between that concern and the Union Iron Works of San Francisco. Does that account for the milk in the cocoanut?

The orange season is just about to open in California. From the reports that have come to hand it is believed that the crop will turn out to be one of the best that has ever been produced in this State. There is gold in the orange crop and a great deal of it. It will probably be one of the most satisfactory crops of the year. It looks now as if the market would be a fair one for all the citrus growers.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

Not many years ago, according to the annals of the India Office, a Queen's messenger, or some other inferior official, was robbed, though not injured in any way, on his road to Cabul, and the British government, of course, wrote to complain of it. No reply was received for months; but at last the Emir wrote: "The matter you mention has been thoroughly investigated, and not only have the robbers of your messenger been put to death, but all their children, as well as their fathers and grandfathers. I hope this will give satisfaction to her majesty the Queen."

W. J. Green, a Pittsburg grocer, having had his supply of city water shut off, as the result of a dispute with the rate assessor, bethought himself of a well in his yard, and a tank on his roof. To fill the one from the other seemed to necessitat a lot of work, done either by Mr. Green or his coal heap, but, after prolonged study of the situation, he rigged up a swing over the well, connected it in some subtle manner with the pumphandle, and then invited the children of the neighborhood to come and have lots of fun. They came, had it, and the tank keeps full all the time.

One of the bright remarks made during the recent political campaign was one made the other day by a little tot, less than 4½ years old, living in Central New York. She had a small cavity in her tooth, and the mother took her to the dentist to have it filled. The little thing got into the chair, and the dentist began his work. The mother, who was standing by, watching the operation, asked him what he was going to use for filling. He replied: "Silver." With this the little girl straightened herself up, and, throwing aside the operator's hand, said, with great earnestness: "I will not have my tooth filled with silver; I am for McKinley."

A friend of Dr. Nansen's says that the most hairbreadth escape from death the explorer had was once, when out shooting with the doctor of the expedition, a huge polar bear came suddenly in sight, and with a fierce growl made for them. At that instant, the ice floe on which the two men were standing broke in two and separated them. Nansen raised his gun to fire, when to his horror he found something had gone wrong with it, and it was useless. He called to the doctor to "shoot," but as he was standing exactly between his friend's gun and the animal, that was impossible. On came the beast, plunging into the water and placing his huge paws on Nansen's floe. Death seemed inevitable, when, by some miraculous chance, the animal slipped off, sending the floe spinning round and round, and so enabling the doctor to get a clear shot at him and kill him.

The Chicago Times-Herald quotes the following story which Governor Cumback of Indiana uses with good effect in his campaign speeches: "Two tramps went around to the back door of a house to beg for a meal," says Governor Cumback; "on their way there they met a big, powerful dog. The tramps stopped and eyed the dog carefully. Finally one of them said to the other: 'Bill you go and ask for the grub. Don't yer see, he is waggin' his tail?' 'Yep, I see him waggin' his tail all right,' replied Bill, 'but I also see him growlin' with his mouth, an' I don't know which end to believe.'"

Papa's Amazement: The old gentleman went into the parlor the other night at the witching hour of 11:45 and found the lights out and his daughter and a dear friend enjoying a tete-a-tete in a corner of the window. "Evangeline," said the old man sternly, "this is scandalous." "Yes, papa," she answered sweetly; "it is candleless because times are hard. Lights cost so much that Ferdinand and I said we would try to get along with the starlight." And papa turned about in speechless amazement and tried to walk out of the room through a panel in the wall paper.—Fairview, Kan., Courier.

UP-TO-DATE TEAGOWNS.

They Rarely Fulfill the Function for Which They Were Intended.

The teagown is rapidly changing its position in society. On most occasions when it is the privilege of my lady to pour tea, the assemblage is mixed, and the teagown would be in bad taste. Occasionally, at a club meeting or when friends have met to discuss some charity, the hostess may don her teagown and display its beauties before the eyes of her admiring friends.

The teagown, while loose and flowing, should suggest the lines of the figure in front and be tight fitting in the back.

It should combine all the latest fashion traits in one garment, bewitching in texture and coloring.

Of course brocaded satin may always be used, but a gown if much cheaper material can easily be secured and will be equally charming.

A gown of deep violet cotton crepe such as you can buy for 15 cents a yard, is most effective. It opens in front with lace in a bluish tint that falls from the neck, but is slightly fastened at the waist with violet velvet. The sleeves are small in themselves, are made enormous by the addition of immense shouder puffs of bluish white tulle, and puffs that hang below, concealing the lower arm and making the hand of fairy-like dimensions.

The neck is finished with a stock collar and balloon-like rosettes. The waist is made trim in appearance by a similar device.

What Is Good Housekeeping.

At a recent afternoon tea, where there were a goodly number of intelligent men and women assembled, the conversation turned upon good housekeeping and one of the guests was asked to define the term.

After a moment's hesitation he answered:

"Good housekeeping is that sort which embodies order, neatness, promptness and an average amount of good temper. Allowing that the members of the human family are by no means angelic, one must not look for too much, and it is therefore a part of the philosophy of life to avoid great expectations."

"Good housekeeping," said another member of the party, "is to have a clean house, wholesome food at regular meal hours, and that restfulness that is never found where the presiding genius of the establishment is fussy, irritable, worrisome and given to fretting about trifles."

"Keeping a house in order," remarked a veteran, "is not so difficult if one only adopts a systematic course and sticks to it."

"But, my dear," said a venerable mother in Israel, "have you ever kept house on a system and lived up to it? I have been trying it for threescore years, for I began early, and I assure you that there is no fixed law about housekeeping except the law of uncertainty. I have many a time planned my work for the day, and when everything was arranged, and I saw clear sailing ahead of me, word would come up that the preserves were working, or the bread had turned sour, or Dick had dropped the egg basket, and there wasn't a thing in the house to make cake with, or the range wouldn't work, and nobody could tell why, or any one of the thousand and one things that beset every housekeeper who tries to do things clear up to her lights on all these subjects.

"The best definition of good housekeeping that I ever heard was that given by a little slip of a boy, who, after listening for a long time to a very learned discussion from some of his mother's club associations, on the best way to order a home, was asked: 'Well, my little man, what kind of a house do you think is best?' A beautiful light came into the child's eyes. He tossed back his yellow hair and shook his head. 'I don't know much about it. Just the only kind that I like is the home that isn't nice to go to.' And when all the philosophy, theory, science and wisdom of the subject had been exhausted, the women there assembled had to agree that the very best home, after all, was the home that—it was nice to go to."—New York Ledger.

OF INTEREST TO LADIES.

Valuable Opportunity to Obtain Furs, Etc., From a New Establishment.

The winter season is upon us, and the minds of many women, no doubt, are revolving the question of winter furs and wraps. The establishment of a new fur house in San Francisco is a matter of much importance to those contemplating purchases in that line, for the following reasons: Adolph Kocour, at 5½ Kearny street, first floor, San Francisco, for many years experienced as a practical furrier in both the old world and the new, has opened an establishment where opportunities are offered not equaled by any other similar house in the city. Mr. Kocour was born in Bohemia, but at an early age removed to Leipzig, Germany, where he learned the manufacturing fur trade. After completing his apprenticeship in Germany with the thoroughness that is demanded in that country, he became employed by Revillon Freres, recognized the world over as one of its leading furriers, where for six years he was cutter and practical furrier. He then removed to the service of a prominent London firm, and subsequently came to the City of New York, where he spent several years in the business. Deciding upon San Francisco as his permanent home, he has, as above stated, opened an establishment of his own, and now offers to the ladies of the coast the advantage of his experience acquired by years of labor under the tuteiage of the largest firms in his line in the world.

Mr. Kocour carries a large stock of both domestic and imported furs, and is prepared to do all manner of repairing and remodeling below the prices of any furrier on the coast. His stock comprises all the latest domestic and foreign styles, and full satisfaction to every patron is Mr. Kocour's first business principle in the conduct of his new enterprise.

AN EVENING OF REJOICING.

Enthusiastic Republicans Sound Paeans of Praise Over the Election of McKinley.

A SPLENDID PARADE THROUGH THE TOWN.

Brilliant Exercises Enjoyed by a Huge Throng at the Tabernacle.

SOME SOUND SPEECHES.

The Return of the Banner Signalizes Alameda County's Great Victory.

ALLIANCE MEN AS HOSTS.

A Sumptuous Banquet, Clever Toasts, and Enthusiastic Addresses.

Saturday evening's demonstration was a fitting finale to a glorious campaign. From 7 o'clock in the evening until 3 o'clock in the morning the Republican hosts were busy celebrating their victory and right gloriously did they do it.

The street parade was a great affair in itself and fully 15,000 people were on the streets to view the pageant.

Nearly everybody has a horn or some instrument with which to make a noise and these were brought into play continuously all along the line. Skyrockets and quantities of red fire lit up the night, while occasionally a booming cannon or bomb added to the din.

The parade was well managed and moved with remarkable punctuality.

At its conclusion the Tabernacle claimed attention and there the visiting Angelenos returned the much-coveted banner to the Alliance Club for safe keeping.

The large audience was enthusiastic almost to a fault, yet the good-natured Republicans had no inclination to crow over their defeated opponents. The cheers were for McKinley and a renewed National honor, coupled with Alameda County's great contribution at the polls.

The banquet which brought the festivities to an end, was in every respect an excellent affair, and to the Alliance Club much credit is due. The Los Angeles guests were entertained in a creditable manner and they take home with them a glowing opinion of Alameda hospitality.

And now that it is all over, party lines will for the time being again be lost and the good citizens are prepared to settle down to the enjoyment of that prosperity which, with their ballots, they helped to re-establish in the United States.

THE PARADE.

A Splendid Pageant Witnessed by an Enormous Throng.

By way of novelty in the formation of processions, Grand Marshal Varney Gaskill massed his forces last Saturday night north of Fourteenth street, a fact which was greatly appreciated by the people and business men of that part of the city. The divisions assembled on the streets between Fourteenth and Eighteenth leading into San Pablo avenue, and, when the order to march was given, the right of the line advanced along that avenue toward Fourteenth street, the first line of the kind to take the initiative in that section of the city.

Like the march to victory of McKinley, the column of jubilating Republicans moved forward without any of the inconveniences which generally harass public parades and greatly tax the patience of the on-looker. Credit for this is in a great measure due to Chief Lloyd and his representatives and at the same time to the good sense of the thousands who thronged the streets. There was everywhere manifested a disposition on the part of the spectators to remain out of the way of the column of marchers and those who required to be reminded of the wish, in that direction of the Chief of Police, readily moved back to the curve when the mounted officers, charged with keeping an open thoroughfare made their appearance along the route.

Among those who did good work in this respect were Captain Wilson and Sergeant Hodgkins, both of whom were resplendent in uniforms of blue and gold; and the "Mayor of Piedmont," P. J. Keller. The times in the past when Keller did not appear at the head of a mounted force of yeomanry in a public procession in this city, cannot be recalled. Saturday night, however, at the request of Chief Lloyd he aided in the work of clearing the way and did it like a gallow-glass who had served his time at the business.

In the lead there were several wagons which sent forth clouds of red light, which, at intervals dispelled the darkness with a glare that was weird and fascinating. There were also wagons loaded down with huge perpendicular engines and boilers which emitted intermittent shrieks of joy over McKinley's election, which could be heard in San Francisco. The biggest of these shrill sirens was the contribution of the Oakland Iron Works.

Following the glare and the din rode Varney W. Gaskill, the Grand Marshal. Mr. Gaskill was astride a finely groomed mount as black as ebony. He wore the pretty uniform of the Republican Alliance with the addition of a fine badge of McKinley and broad scarf of gold silk which set off to advantage both the apparel and form of the rider. Mr. Gaskill rode well in advance of his aides many of whom advanced in a couple of platoons. Among them were noticed Chief of Aids Cal Ewing; Frank H. Mason, E. W. Roberts Jr., D. C. Brown, Daniel Doody, Fred Boquet, J. Slavich, A. W. Pattiani, J. W. Harris, E. R. Pearch, A. M. Baerrott, Victor Remmell, Henry Watkinson R. S. Kitchener.

Then came the feature of honor, the banner of the Republican party, rescued from Los Angeles County, around which were grouped some of the men who had returned it to Alameda County, whence it shall nevermore be taken. There were also around it some of the men who were instrumental in establishing the standard as a beautiful symbol of loyalty to the Republican party. In the carriage in which the standard was erected were Senator Eli Denison, the unflinching Republican, and one of the three men who suggested the banner; Chairman Fletter of the Republican County Central Committee; Senator-elect Stratton and a representative of Los Angeles County, who had escorted the trophy home. This carriage was followed by others containing other members of the Los Angeles delegation. The beautiful banner, stood with its colors clinging to the pole because there was not sufficient breeze stirring to break its silken folds or to agitate the pennants on which was recorded its travelings between the County of Alameda and Los Angeles, and, at the same time, the part it has played in the Republican history of the State. The flag shone well in the electric light. It was everywhere greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

FIRST DIVISION.

Captain W. R. Thomas was the Marshal of the First Division. He was assisted by W. Mackay, A. H. Trathen, A. M. Benham, Ben Ferris and C. K. King.

The Fifth Infantry Band followed and after it came the Republican Alliance. Heroes of many a political campaign and leaders in many a political victory as they are, the members never appeared to greter advantage nor celebrated a more unquestioned and memorable victory. They were under command of Lieutenant Lester Herrick, acting Captain in the absence of Varney W. Gaskill, who appeared at the head of the column. The honors of command rested easily on Mr. Herrick's shoulders and he was further ably assisted by Lieutenants W. Chipman, Sol D. Rogers, and G. R. Lukens. At the right of the company was the ever-present Alliance globe-bearer George Collins, who for years has monopolized the grateful task of twirling in public the lighted sphere which has become so generally recognized as the symbol of the organization. The standard of the Alliance was borne by stalwart John W. Harris. The right and left guide lights were borne by Bob Boyer and Harvey Sloper respectively, the bearing of which has been a coveted honor with those gentlemen for some time. The buglers were H. P. Carleton, H. Farr, Charles Wheaton, D. Belden and H. P. Travers. Whenever they winded their horns, the torches of the blue jacketed marchers behind them sent heavenward a flame which turned the darkness of night into the brightness of morning.

Colonel Little who has long been identified with the Alliance was on hand as usual and occupied an honored place in advance of the organization and by his side walked George P. Morrow, President of the association.

Nearly all of the members wore roosters rampant on their caps illustrative of their sentiments on the occasion. They marched with an easy and swinging gait.

After the Alliance came the Sound Money League, the Real Estate and Insurance Men, a large number of Republican lawyers and a fine delegation of High School boys, many of whom blew horns with a great deal of pertinacity.

SECOND DIVISION.

The second division was under the command of Marshal G. W. Stark. His aides were H. W. Watkins and A. M. Barrett. First in line was the First Ward Republican Club and then advanced one of the finest, and if not really the finest, certainly one of the largest aggregations of men which has ever taken part in a procession in this city.

This organization comprised the railroad employes of West Oakland. They were all in line from Division Superintendent to call boy. They must have numbered a thousand. They were headed by a banner formed after the style of an American flag hung with the starry field dependent from a cross bar. The banner was made of silk and gleamed in beauty under the glare of the lights and torches. Each of the marchers in this division bore a Japanese lantern which was suspended from a long pole which extended over his shoulder. Many of the men were in their holiday clothes while not a small fraction of the marchers seemed to have come from the work bench in their tradesmen's apparel.

At the head marched in a platoon, Division Superintendent A. D. Wilder, Master Mechanic McKenzie, Resident Engineer Palmer, Master Car Repairer W. B Ludlow and J. C. Wilder.

This great body of mechanics and superintendents of mechanics was in command of Harry W. Watkins, himself a mechanic who for years has been associated with a number of the men and officers over whom he acted.

Midway in the line of this division was a finely-constructed representation of a locomotive and a passenger car both mounted on horse-drawn vehicles. The locomotive and car represented the Presidential trip to Washington of McKinley. The design of both car and engine was excellent and the idea was carried out in a manner which was both accurate and artistic. The car was filled with brighteyed and light-hearted misses, daughters of the railway employes, and they in every manner, illustrated the satisfaction which McKinley's election had afforded their parents.

In this division also, there was a bicycle float, belonging to the railroad men, setting forth the sentiment that the men had voted as they paraded. There were also about twenty transparencies in the line each containing either an historical fact or giving expression to a patriotic sentiment. The last feature of this body of workmen was a frame borne by four men on which was perched a live eagle whose eyes darted rays of defiance at the brilliant lights which surrounded him and whose whole demeanor was that at once of a symbol of the nation's desire for sound money and freedom.

Then came a number of the merchants of the First Ward with a float in favor of sound money.

THIRD DIVISION.

The third division was marshaled by George H. Mason. Mr. Mason rode a magnificent horse and rode it also like a man pre-ordained to rule in the saddle. He was assisted as aides by P. L. Kosciolowski and Don F. Miller. This division comprised the Republican clubs of Eden, Murray and Washington Townships. The Republican clubmen of Haywards were out in large numbers there being fully 200 in line. They were headed by a wogan containing an immense horn from which came forth blasts like those of the fog whistle on Angel Island. The club was under the command of H. W. Meek.

FOURTH DIVISION.

The fourth division was commanded by Dr. J. A. D. Hutton who was assisted by H. M. Waterbury, George H. Phillips, A. Smith and James Kenney. There was a band and following it came the University Republican Club and other organizations and citizens of Oakland Township. At the head of all the organizations walked County Recorder Charles Spear, wearing a golden chrysanthemum as large as a sun flower.

FIFTH DIVISION.

Major J. F. Hayes was in command of the fifth division. His aides were W. J. Dorney, J. F. Vaughn, I. L. Cavasso, H. D. Cushing, H. N. Gard, M. F. Bosworth and T. J. Fish. In this division were the Colored American Republicans, the Second, Third, Fifth and Seventh Ward Republican clubs.

SIXTH DIVISION.

George C. Hunt commanded the sixth division. His aides were Abe P. Leach and W. J. McDonald. Behind the officers was driven a barouche containing Ed Thayer, Charles Shear, Davie Nash and William Rupert. Mr. Thayer from time to time agitated the air with thunderous blasts from an immense horn the bell of which rested in the rear of the conveyance. Each of the occupants wore a roosted on his hat. Two of them, Nash and Rupert, being Democrats, wore their roosters with heads cast down while Messrs. Thayer and Shear wore birds rampant.

Then came a float illustrating "Protection." The principal figure in the tableau was Miss Davetta Manning as Goddess of Liberty, who was accompanied by Mrs. Daventorf, Goddess of Music, and her young lady friends Miss Puck, Miss Maggie Scott and Millie Nelson. The gentlemen were Fred Manning, Albert Manning, Thos. Madden, Milton Fairbanks, Bryan Davenport, Frank Gunn and Albert Hans and they represented the trades.

Then came the National Republican League 200 strong at the head of which was carried a flag from the pole of which streamers depended which were held by members on either side of the standard.

SEVENTH DIVISION.

Ex-Supervisor D. W. Martin of Alameda was in command of the seventh division. He had as his aides M. W. Dunton J. J. Lerri, W. A. Mitchell and R. Flemming of Oakland and Gus Smiley, Arthur Burns, Bert Fisher, Charles Fischer, Charles Mebus, J. Longfelt and J. Hadwick. Marshal Martin was mounted on an excellent charger and was greeted all along the line by his many friends. This division comprised the Alameda Drill Corps, the Republican clubs and citizens of that town. The Drill corps marched with military precision and presented a fine appearance.

EIGHTH DIVISION.

Colonel J. E. McElroy was in command of the eighth division and his aides were Giles H. Gray, E. W. Woodward and H. W. Richardson. The Young Men's Republican League were in the advance and went through a number of street evolutions as they proceeded. They were followed by the Army and Navy Republican League which turned out in large numbers. The League bore a number of transparencies which were made expressly for the occasion, among them being the following: "The soldiers voted in 1896 as they shot in 1861;" "Sound money and sound heads were our salvation;" "Business men make good politicians;" "Oakland Alliance met no frost in Alameda County;" "Army and Navy League ballots were as effective as their bullets;" "We've had a 'silver jag' and have taken the 'gold cure';" "Where is the 'crown of thorns?' Who's got it? Ask J. L. Lyon;" "Under no consideration would I accept a second term.—W. Jennings B.;" "J. Aubrey Jones—Bryan will get 311 electoral votes. Nit! Nit! Nit! When?"

NINTH DIVISION.

The ninth division was in charge of Councilman William Watkinson whose aides were H. Bercovich, W. D. Heitmann, Albert Kayser and A. J. Snyder. It comprised the Forty-eighth Assembly Drill Club, the Fourth and Sixth Ward Clubs and a number of unassigned organizations. This division brought the procession to a close.

The line of march was from Eighteenth street down San Pablo to Fourteenth street, to Washington, to Eighth, to Broadway, to Fourteenth, to Webster, to the Exposition building.

The streets through which the procession passed were thronged with people whose enthusiasm found vent in continuous cheers, even as that of the marchers found expression in the din which can be created by the simultaneous tooting of thousands of horns.

A number of the business houses along the line were decorated and made a fine appearance in parti-colored lights in which at times they were enveloped.

AT THE TABERNACLE.

Ringing Speeches Made by Many Representative Patriots.

Good nature and enthusiasm reigned supreme at the Tabernacle. As the marching clubs entered the hall cheer after cheer went up for McKinley and prosperity, and each club was given a separate ovation seldom equalled in this city.

Hundreds of people were turned away at the doors, being unable to find standing room. American flags were in abundance and almost every man, woman and child in the dense throng waved one. The size of the crowd was only excelled by the tremendous noise that increased as the evening advanced.

The speakers' platform presented a wonderful sight. The Alliance, 150 strong, resplendent in white and gold, was there sounding its slogan on every available occasion. The following members of the Republican County Central Committee, each carrying a new broom, were also on the platform: Charles Mautalen, W. W. Morrison, R. W. Chuchr, J. W. Evans, A. H. Breed, F. J. Fletter, J. H. W. Riley, B. C. Hawes, T. W. Harris, A. Archibald, J. Striker, J. I. Palmer, and T. P. Robinson.

Senator Eli Denison bore the Republican banner and was escorted by William E. Hale, of the original Banner Committee.

The Los Angeles delegation wore long yellow badges marked "Los Angeles." They also occupied chairs upon the platform and were: B. W. Lee, R. N. Bulla, F. T. Flint, W. H. Flint, R. B. Treat, G. H. Stewart, F. S. Munson, J. T. Francis, Tom Goss, John Burr, E. A. Davis, C. T. Sloan, Geo. L. Arnold, F. G. Teed, C. E. De Camp, John Lynch, E. P. Johnson, C. E. Slosson, C. A. Gardiner, E. P. Clarke, W. W. Seamans, H. A. Osborne, R. E. Wirsching, T. B. Hayes, Ralph Hogan, Captain T. Norton and G. D. Compton.

William R. Davis of the National Republican League, acted as chairman of the evening and as he entered the hall he was greeted with prolonged cheering. Others who were received with cheers as they took places upon the platform were: Fred S. Stratton, State Senator-elect, Congressman Hilborn, Major J. P. McElroy, of the Army and Navy League and George P. Morrow of the Republican Alliance.

Chairman Davis opened the meeting with requesting three cheers for McKinley and Hobart and then six cheers for Alameda County. Cheers were also given for Los Angeles, the Alliance and the other Republican organizations.

When quiet was again restored Mr. Davis read the following set of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, We deem it proper that those who have assisted in securing the glorious victory achieved last Tuesday should be properly recognized; therefore,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Republicans of Alameda County are due to those citizens of the Democratic party who so nobly rose above party affiliation and with a display of patriotism worthy of all emulation cast their ballots in the late election for the honor and integrity not alone of Alameda County, but of the State and Nation, thereby assisting to save the country from the dire calamity by which it was so seriously threatened.

Then Senator-elect R. N. Bulla, on behalf of Los Angeles County, returned the beautiful banner which was wrested from Alameda four years ago.

"It is with no feeling of jealousy," said he, "that I return you this banner. You have been truer to the doctrines of Republicanism than we have in the south, and I feel proud that you have by your tremendous majority, saved the State from the disgrace which would have fallen on it had she not declared in favor of sound money and national honor. We return to you this banner feeling sure that while it is in the keeping of the Republicans of Alameda County it will remain pure an untarnished."

SENATOR FRED S. STRATTON.

The banner was received by Fred Stratton on behalf of Alameda County.

"On behalf of the Republicans of Alameda County," began Mr. Stratton, "I receive from the Republicans of Los Angeles County this beautiful banner with all its associations and recollections.

"I do this, not, however, with any feeling of elation, but rather with a sense of profound gratitude, that in a generous contest grand old Alameda County has asserted her claim to the proud distinction of having not only saved the State, but of having shown her pre-eminent devotion to Republican principles, and to the cause of McKinley and Hobart.

"I am glad that this emblem is the flag of the Nation, for it typifies Republicanism in that it represents patriotism; it represents National honor; it represents devotion to country and proclaims through its stripes and starry folds that as a party we know no East or West, no North or South, but standing for all classes, and standing for all interests we are for the Nation, one and inseparable. It further declares to the monarchies of Europe the eternal success of Republican institutions, and that government by the people shall not perish from the earth.

"This victory which we celebrate tonight was not achieved without untiring labor and effort, and let me here accord to those men who gave their time and their industry to the cause some slight recognition of appreciation for their work.

"This flag is ours because we in Alameda County have earned it. For this we are indebted to many factors, and I pay a tribute to the Republican Committee of this county, to Chairman F. J. Fletter and his associates, for the remarkable zeal with which they performed their labors, and with the ability with which they conducted this campaign.

"The thanks of this county, of Los Angeles County, and of this State are due also to the Republican State Central Committee with their splendid Chairman, Major Frank McLaughlin.

"But others have assisted in this work. We owe much to these marching clubs for the enthusiasm which they have imparted to this campaign. I refer to the Young Men's Republican League. I refer to that club from the Fourth and Sixth Wards, the Republican club of the Forty-eighth Assembly District. I refer to the National Republican League of Alameda County; I refer to the Business Men's Sound Money League. I refer to the Italian Republican Club. I refer to the colored McKinley League, the Woman's Republican League, the Carmen's Republican Club, and to those various ward and outside organizations. I refer to that club whose reputation has extended not only over the State, and through the Pacific Coast, but beyond the Rockies as well, the Republican Alliance of Alameda County, and lastly, I pay but a feeble tribute to those grand men who fought for this flag, who saved this noble heritage for us, who standing shoulder to shoulder in 1861, still stand shoulder to shoulder in 1896. I refer to the Republican Army and Navy League.

"But let us remember that our victory would have been incomplete, we might have had no victory unless there had come to the standard of Republicanism those who left their party from high motives, and also those who joined us from questions of principle and whose sacrifice and assistance we ought never to forget. I refer to the independent voters and Gold Democrats who thronged to our cause and secured to us the possibility of this great demonstration tonight.

"Even to our adversaries we will accord the generous tribute of sincerity, and let us say to them that we go forth from this day, not as Republicans, but as Americans, pointing to the star of hope for American labor, for American commerce, for American industries, and for the completed grandeur of the American nation as a whole.

"While I shall always regret that the success in public life of one man defeats the ambition of another, still let us remember that as a Republican party we are committed by this victory to great principles. We have promised much, and our duty commences now to perform our promises, and to do as the Republican party has done in the past,—have our declarations pass into precedents, have our platforms pass into history and find their way into constitutional amendments and statutory enactments.

"I receive this beautiful banner from these grand men of the South, and I ask you to bear back to Los Angeles County the message that this State is not only one and inseparable as a State, but that we of the North love your sunny land, and your magnificent people, and that we are with you only citizens and Republicans, united against a common danger, standing upon a common platform and advocates of a common cause.

"And I present this banner to the splendid Republican Alliance, a club for which I cherish old and affectionate remembrance. Its beginning was small, but its career has been long, continuous and glorious.

"In keeping it, you and I will be mindful of the fact that we are charged with a high trust. That we hold it as Republicans, and on behalf of the Republican party. That we hold it for a party that stands for decency; that stands for stability, a party that is the very Gibraltar of liberty without license. No other organization has ever accomplished so much for liberty and progress in so short a time. The Republican party has for over thirty years redeemed every promise. Its every prophecy has been fulfilled, and it stands today before the nation, and before civilization with its integrity unquestioned. It represents new issues, it represents prosperity, it represents progress, it represents confidence. It represents open mills and the ability to earn an honest dollar, it represents sound money, reciprocity and protection, typified for the next four years in that statesman, that man of the people, that magnificent embodiment of American integrity, William McKinley."

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed during Mr. Stratton's speech of acceptance. He was fequently interrupted by ringing cheers and uproarious applause.

George P. Morrow, president of the Alliance, made a short speech upon being given the custody of the banner. He was followed by Congressman Hilborn, who made a short congratulatory address.

The appearance of Frank McLaughlin, chairman of the State Central Committee, was the signal for further deafening applause. He made only a few remarks, saying that he was more of a worker than a talker.

GENERAL BARNES.

Following McLaughlin came General W. H. L. Barnes, who was also given an ovation.

"I have always liked Alameda County," said he, "Now I love it. I have always said in every one of the many campaigns that I have made that the best audience I had ever seen in this State was an Oakland audience. It had an aspect of thorough intelligence and complete comprehension of the questions discussed on the stump. When I see the magnificent majority this county has made for good government, protection to American labor, sound money and the American flag, I know I was right.

"In our joy now we are apt to forget the evils that lately menaced our land. Perils to business, to homes and to government were involved. Now there has been an almost unanimous voice where the people had a right to a voice in the power, strength and glory of Republican principles. This tremendous demonstration is sounding for joy and glory. There is not a business man in the United States who does not breathe freer—not a man who labors with his head or his hands who does not rejoice. How different would have been the picture had this man from Nebraska with the Altgelds, Tillmans, and all those wild creatures had been put in power. This country was never intended to become the prey of lawless desperadoes, vicious anarchists and socialists. If this war we have been waging against individual and national dishonesty had been lost it would not have been many years before this nation would have been sunk under the blows. Our nation would have lost its life the day it lost its honor. There is not a man or woman in the United States today who cannot look up tonight and thank God from the bottom of a grateful heart that this nation stands unimpaired, honest and truthful, worthy of respect at home and abroad."

F. X. SCHOONMAKER.

F. X. Schoonmaker was next introduced. He came all the way from New Jersey to work for the Republican party in this State and he has been much appreciated wherever he has gone.

"I am glad that I came from New Jersey to witness a California demonstration," he said. "It is the greatest I ever witnessed. It seems incredible that such a demonstration could be given in a city registering only 7,500 voters. I have been given an explanation. Alameda County is said to be the most thoroughly American county in the most thorough State in the Union. This election means much for America. It means that our Government shall not be run from London. It means that the wants of the American people shall be supplied from American hands.

"This election means that no nation that has a just claim shall be denied a hearing.

"I asked a friend of mine, the chief engineer of one of the greatest vessels of the navy, if he would celebrate this victory. 'No,' he replied, 'I shall wait until the next Fourth of July, when we will hoist again the flag that was pulled down on one of the islands of the Pacific.'

"Another thing we must do. If Canada wants our markets she must pay for them or keep out. Another thing. England has had a party in this country for years. Four years ago free trade was handed her on a silver platter. Her two greatest silver slaves are China and India, and she wanted to drag the United States into the depth. She failed. Now, I want to thank you for what you have done. Accept my congratulations on this wonderful victory, and may God bless you!"

The meeting closed with a short address by George W. Pierce of Yolo. He said he could not begin to outline his feelings in five minutes' time. The very hint of Republican success, he declared, had set the great pulse of the nation throbbing with increased vigor.

The meeting closed with nine cheers for McKinley and Hobart.

THE BANQUET.

The crowning feature to the evening's jubilee was the banquet tendered by the Alliance Club to the visitors and a number of their friends. It took place in Elite Hall and was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the campaign.

The hall, the present home of the club, was brilliantly decorated. From the chandeliers and gallery rails evergreens and yellow ribbons intermingled with the national colors, while the windows were draped with bunting. The stage decorations were as unique as they were artistic. An allegorical curtain filled in the background. On this Alameda County was represented by a little cupib bearing in one hand an Alliance torch, while in the other a large flag was upheld. A large oak tree in one corner bore the inscription "Los Angeles County." From this had broken down a large limb, which was labeled "Popocrat." In the center underneath a rising sun was painted "1896 Alameda's majority 5278." Above the whole were two locked hands, captioned "Welcome, shake."

In front of the curtain the newly won banner was placed, while other flags and souvenirs of former campaigns were appropriately displayed. Cut flowers, green and bits of yellow ribbon brightened up the proscenium arch, while streamers on which were painted campaign mottoes were given prominence.

Over the door at the entrance, a large banner bore the motto: "With the Republican Family All Around, Blest Be Those Feasts with Simple Plenty Crowned."

Among the many other legends displayed were: "The Alliance honors itself by honoring 1894 Republican champions." "Now, good digestion, wait on appetite and health on both;" "Protection for twenty-nine years has dignified and prospered American labor."

Directly across the hall, in front of the stage, the head table was located, in the center of which rested the Alliance floral pyramid. Five more large tables were spread at right angles to the head one. They were all laden with dainty edibles in the line of cold meats, salads, fruits and cakes, while numerous floral designs brightened up the board.

In the gallery the Fifth Regiment band was comfortably quartered and at intervals livened up proceedings with popular selections.

It was half past 10 o'clock before the Alliance Club and its guests entered the hall. When they did so every one of the 300 covers were necessary. The brilliant costumes made a fine showing and the scene was a pretty one.

At the head table were seated, George P. Morrow, President of the Alliance Club, W. H. Hamilton, W. Steppacher, John A. Britton, Senator-elect R. A. Bulla, Colonel R. B. Treat, Hugh Craig, Joseph Scotchler, M. R. Milham, Noble Hamilton, C. E. Slosson, Charles A. Gardiner, J. C. Lynch, C. H. King, Warden Hale, Frank Leavitt, Varney Gaskill, Sol Rodgers, B. L. Lee, Chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Committee; General W. H. L. Barnes, Senator Carpenter, F. X. Schoonmaker, Chairman Frank McLaughlin of the Republican State Central Committee, Senator George C. Perkins, Congressman S. G. Hilborn, W. R. Davis, Senator-elect F. S. Stratton, F. J. Fletter, Chairman of the Alameda County Republican Central Committee; Mayor John L. Davie of Oakland; William Hamilton, Colonel L. L. Bromwell, Varney Gaskill, Commander of the Alliance; M. R. Higgins, Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee; Paris Kilburn, the Treasurer, and Jake Steppacher, the Assistant Secretary.

Among the other visiting guests were: C. E. De Camp, Frank P. Flint, F. G. Teed, Thomas Goss, J. H. Morton, C. L. Compton, F. B. Hayes, J. F. Francis, R. B. Carpenter, R. E. Wirsching, G. L. Arnold, General E. P. Johnson, H. Z. Osborne, F. S. Munson, E. P. Clark, John Burr and W. H. Flint.

Scattered about at different tables were many of the city and county officials; the County Central Committee, and a number of the newly elected officers. As soon as all were seated attention was paid to the delicious menu and nearly an hour was spent in its enjoyment.

The evening hours were fast approaching morning when George P. Morrow, as Master of Ceremonies, rapped for order to announce the toasts.

"I am not here to make a speech to you," he said, "but I cannot help expressing my pleasure at receiving back that glorious banner. This gathering, in more ways that one, is a ratification meeting. We are here celebrating the return to Alameda County of our glorious banner and likewise the magnificent majority that was given the ticket for McKinley that enabled us to secure it once more. I extend to our Los Angeles friends a hearty welcome."

Much applause followed and then the band played a patriotic air.

GENERAL BARNES.

General W. H. L. Barnes, who is an honorary member of the club, was then introduced to respond to a toast to "Our Country." The applause which greeted his appearance was both loud and long. In the course of his remarks General Barnes said:

"I wondered what would be the result of this great political campaign. I wondered as we stood at the Western gate of the greatest century the world has ever known, if, in this last hour of the dying sun of 1800, we were to see the greatest nation on earth given over to repudiation, anarchy and misrule. I wondered if that chance production of the Chicago Convention would have his ideas impregnated on this people.

"The silver heresy had gained some adherents, because the other side had not been presented. Then the campaign of education was commenced. So far as I am concerned, I never believed nor uttered a single expression on the silver question that I have not said during this campaign. I said I believed a silver dollar could be held so closely to a man's eye as to blind him to everything else.

"The more I studied this question the more I became convinced that the Republican enunciation was right. The man who doesn't love this country doesn't deserve to live in it. Our country! What a nation it is! Nowhere else on earth are such opportunities to be had for man, woman and child.

"Here our fertile soil raises everything that is needed. We are particularly blessed and now with a restored confidence we can close the century with prosperity that shall mark it in generations to come as the greatest one for the greatest people on earth—Americans."

General Barnes forcible speech was greeted with much applause. After quiet had resumed Chairman Morrow introduced F. X. Schoonmaker of New Jersey, who has stumped the State for McKinley. He received a very flattering reception and it was some minutes before he was permitted to speak.

F. X. SCHOONMAKER.

"I have always wanted to make a campaign speech," he said, "but until I came to this great State I had not had the honor gratified. My theme to-night will be Bryan's declaration that he proposes to devote the next four years of his life to the propaganda of silver argument. Now you Californians have a magnificent State. It took courage and bravery to populate this State. That is why this is the

Sickness is a burglar who is continually trying to break into human life His most usual tool is constipation This one, seemingly unimportant thing is the primary cause of nine-tenths of all human ailments When the bowels fail to act, impure, poisonous matter is retained in the system, is absorbed by the blood, and carried to every part of the body All the digestive organs are affected, and particularly the largest and most important of them—the liver Constipation causes biliousness and bilious headaches, retards digestion in the stomach causing fermentation—sour stomach, flatulency, and feverishness, a feeling of fullness, heart-burn, and other disagreeable symptoms Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation They afford immediate relief, but it is not merely a temporary relief. You do not become a slave to the use of the "Pellets" They gradually restore the healthy, natural action of the digestive organs and you may stop using them until some indiscretion in eating again makes them necessary. Doctors are supposed to know more about health and sickness than anybody else, and when the doctor comes, the first thing he does is to find out if the bowels are in good order

NOTES FROM OAKLAND.

A Correspondent's Ideas as to Our Local Progress.

Stray Shots and Gossip Gathered in a Walk Around Town.

Here is what a correspondent of the Oakdale Graphic writes regarding this city.

Oakland has made wonderful growth in the last fourteen years Its stores are large and stocked with goods of finest grade San Francisco has no larger or handsomer stores than those which line Washington street in Oakland Its markets too, are equal to the best on the other side of the bay Its homes extend for miles east and north, away out over the hills And these homes are not of the shanty order, either but are neat modern cottages, some of them palatial but most of them appearing like buildings owned and occupied by mechanics and workingmen.

It is possible for a man whose occupation demands his presence in San Francisco by the first boat to live two or three miles east of Lake Merritt The lines of electric railway traverse these hills in all directions where a few years ago were hay fields and dairy farms The transit is rapid and the fare a nickel

There does not appear to be much progress in transferring manufacturing establishments from the west to the east side of the bay Of course the stores and shops in Oakland give employment to many people, but the great majority of the residents earn their bread and butter over on the peninsula crowding the cars and boats morning and evening.

Church spires are seen everywhere The various denominations vie with each other in securing the best locations and erecting the grandest structures

And yet the people are so intensely religious that there are not churches enough to accommodate all, and several halls are utilized for holding religious meetings

On the front of one hall, a few blocks east of Seventh street a sign is nailed above the doors, in large letters 'The Apostolic Church Preaching Teaching and Healing by the Holy Ghost' How many other blasphemous institutions—or institutions that appear to take on that character—exist in Oakland no man can tell—at least, a visitor to "Athens" cannot tell

Of course there are some devout congregations meeting in halls, and no word would be uttered concerning them save in praise, at least not in these columns

Besides its stores, its electric cars its lovely suburban homes and its multiplicity of religious sects Oakland has a number of commodious school buildings So manifold are its educational facilities that it has long carried the name "Athens" and as yet no other city on the Pacific Coast has contested its right to that distinction

The public library is well supplied with books, embracing all lines of human learning almost The rooms are open twelve hours each day, except Sunday and on Sunday for three hours in the afternoon All the stores are closed on Sunday

Perhaps the busiest place in the city is the Central Telephone office, where if the girls don't exactly raise "Ned" they succeed in raising everybody else, though it takes a lot of coaxing to do it They are civil there, too, and strangers notice such trifles

We can't say as much for a young man on one of the trolley cars, for on being asked how far east his car run he said he couldn't tell, for he never measured the distance Perhaps he may come to a period in his life where he will appreciate the value of politeness or at least civility.

But Oakland is not a fast town, for somewhere we observed a man trimming a lawn with a pair of common scissors.

Hugh Baker of Oakdale, a student at the University of the Pacific, spent Sunday in Oakland

There are very few buildings to let in the residence portion of the city, and these few are near to the business center, and probably the rents are too high and the locations not so desirable as in quieter streets distant from the rumble of trains and the electric cars rushing hither and thither in their endeavor to distribute the human tide ever on the ebb and flow

The streets of Oakland are hard, smooth and clean as a rule

There is no great activity in building, but still a few new houses are going up

Blair Park is the great Sunday attraction Thousands go there It is at Piedmont.

The traveling public no longer encounters the nuisance of free riders between stations on the local trains Platform gates shut them out If you get on you pay your fare to San Francisco—10 cents There was a time when rides between stations was a convenience indispensable to the people of Oakland, but that time is past The electric cars furnish a better means of transit, and if the young folks don't like that kind of a coach, why, there's the bicycle

DINED BY DEMOCRATS.

Senator Denison Collects a Wager From Charles Lainer.

One Hundred Guests Enjoy the Repast at Leona Heights.

A political discussion between Senator Eli S Denison and Charles Lainer of San Francisco which occurred before the election had its result yesterday in a dinner for over one hundred guests and for which the San Franciscan settled

During the discussion the wager on the outcome was laid Lainer lost and with the best of grace took his guests to Leona Heights to settle the score The party was mostly from San Francisco, Senator Denison only inviting W M Rank, Ruedy Crist and A N Wieland

The meal began at 2 o'clock and four hours later "small bots" were reached Of course all of the time was not spent in eating, for political toasts were things of necessity and joshings for the Democrats matters of course.

Another election bet of the same character was also paid in same cafe at the same hour At this Captain Pohlman, formerly of the Oregon, had the honor of being the host.

DROWNED IN THE ESTUARY.

Frank Douthitt Died Before the Eyes of Cowardly Men.

Frank Douthitt the twelve-year-old son of Frank L Douthitt of Seventh and Filbert was drowned yesterday in the estuary at the foot of Webster street His companion, Alfred Wilkinson son of a butcher in the employ of Fred Becker also fell into the water, but was rescued just in time to save his life.

The two lads were playing about on the wharf and got on to the slippery apron Douthitt began to slide toward the water, Wilkinson tried to save him and they both fell into the bay There was a crowd of men on the wharf and a little courage would have saved both boys It was not forthcoming, however and not until Mate Joe Duffen of the Bonita and George Wolff were attracted by the shouts was anything towards a rescue made They got a rope to Wilkinson and he was safely drawn onto the wharf By this time it was too late to save Douthitt for he had gone down for the last time His body was recovered late and it now lies at the Morgue.

COLLEGE CITY CHIRPS.

The Sophomore Hop Friday Next Will Be Swell.

Rev. H. F. Binney Is Called to the First Baptist Church.

BERKELEY, Nov. 9.—Rev. H. F. Binney of Orange County has been called to accept the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Berkeley. He preached in Berkeley two weeks ago and created a very favorable impression, which resulted in a call to the church. The church has been without a pastor for over a year. Rev. Mr. Benney will preach his first sermon next Sunday morning.

MISSION SERVICES COMMENCED.

The eloquent Archdeacon Webber of Boston has commenced an eight-day course of "Mission" services at Shattuck Hall under the auspices of St. Mark's Episcopal Church.

SOPHOMORES WILL DANCE.

The sophomores of the University of California will give a hop in the gymnasium next Friday evening, which is expected to be one of the swellest University functions. The sophomores will make an innovation in class decorations, and are striving to outdo the freshmen, who gave a glee last week. The following committees have charge of the affair: Arrangements, H. Webster, James Ely, H. Linscott, Miss Emily rising and Miss M. Morrison; reception, Walter Gibbons, A. Powers, Duncan McDuffie, Miss Mamie Kent, Miss Florence Ewing, and Miss Parker. Sterling Carr is floor manager.

Knew What He Wanted.

A sallow individual in a faded brown overcoat sat down on a stool at one of the railway lunch counters the other morning and said to the proprietor:

"Give me a cup of coffee and one of your expurgated sandwiches."

"What kind?" asked the proprietor.

"Expurgated," rejoined the other. "One of those vacuum sandwiches for which your establishment is justly celebrated."

"I haven't any kind but those under that glass cover."

"That's all right. That's the particular variety I want."

He helped himself to one of them and lifted off the upper lid.

"That is what I call a sandwich, nit," he observed, eyeing it critically, yet approvingly. "There's nothing supererogatory about it. It's one of these hiatus sandwiches. It's a sandwich with an alibi," he added, replacing the lid and studying the outer surface of it intently. "It's an absent sandwich. It's a sandwich that has failed to arrive. I have seen times when I would have given worlds to—"

"Say," interrupted the proprietor, "if you don't like that sandwich you needn't eat it. That's all there is about that."

"Who said I didn't like it? Didn't I call for it? I generally know what I want. For this particular occasion and for this specific luncheon I happen to want one of your negative sandwiches—one of your shadowy, deflated, dream sandwiches, and like a man, sir, I call for it. Anything wrong about that?"

"You needn't get gay," grumbled the man behind the counter. "Did you order coffee?"

"I did. Give me, if you please, a cup of your best supposititious coffee."

"I've only got one kind of coffee," replied the sulky caterer.

"That's the kind I want. A cup of your universally admired, non-existent coffee—your famous nullification coffee. Accompanied, if you please, by a small pitcher of your vague phantasmal, visionary, depopulated cream. I am fasting to-day."

And while the man in the faded brown coat munched the sandwich and sipped the coffee in a slow, absent-minded way, the proprietor stared at him, and breathed hard, and longed to throw him out of the window.—Chicago Tribune.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

In the Superior Court of the County of Alameda, State of California.

In the matter of the estate of Daniel Brannan, deceased.

It appearing to this Court by the petition this day presented and filed by William A. Fine, the administrator of said estate, that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate of said deceased to pay the debts and expenses and charges of administration of said estate,

It is therefore ordered by this Court that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court, at the Court-room of Department Number 4 thereof, at the Court House in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, on the 7th day of December, 1896, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, then and there to show cause why an order should not be made directing the said administrator to sell so much of the real estate belonging to said deceased as shall be necessary, and that a copy of this order be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Oakland Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation and published in said county.

Dated, November 2, 1896.

Department of Public Works, City Hall, Oakland, Cal., Oct. 23rd, 1896.

In accordance with Resolution No. — of the Board of Public Works, sealed proposals will be received in open session of the Board of Public Works, at their office in the City Hall, on Tuesday, the 17th day of November, 1896, from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock P. M., for dredging slips at the city wharf and in front of the city wharf between the pierhead line and the Government Channel, in and for the City of Oakland.

All work done and materials and apparatus furnished to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the Board of Public Works, to which reference is hereby made for full particulars and description of the said work.

The said work to be commenced within five days and be completed within sixty days from the date of contract for the same.

Bidders will state in proposals prices for the said work according to the following schedule, to-wit:

1st. A price per cubic yard for the excavation of mud, measured in the cut.

2nd. A price per cubic yard for the excavation of hardpan, measured in the cut.

(Note.—By measuring in cut is meant that the actual space from which the mud or hardpan is excavated to be the basis upon which the rate per cubic yard applies.)

The estimated amount of dredging to be done is 12,822 yards hardpan and 4,200 cubic yards mud.

All work done and material furnished to be subject to the approval of the City Engineer and to the satisfaction of the Board of Public Works.

All bids must be made upon the blank forms of the Board, which will be furnished upon application, by the Secretary.

All bids must be accompanied by a check certified by some responsible bank, made payable to the order of J. W. Tompkins, Clerk of the Council, for not less than ten per cent of the proposal, which check shall be forfeited to the City of Oakland should the bidder receiving the award fail within 10 days to enter into a contract and furnish a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $3,000.00 for the faithful performance of the same.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board of Public Works.

N. W. SPAULDING JR., Secretary.

In pursuance with the order of the Board of Public Works, sealed proposals will be received in open session of the Board of Public Works at their office in the City Hall, on Tuesday, the 24th day of November, 1896, from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock P. M., for furnishing land in West Oakland to be used as a public park. Bidders will state location and full particulars and description of property and conditions upon which the property will be sold.

The amount appropriated for the purchase of said property is $10,000.

All bids must be made upon the blank forms of the Board, which will be furnished upon application, by the Secretary.

All bids must be accompanied by a check certified by some responsible bank, made payable to the order of J. W. Tompkins, Clerk of the Council, for not less than ten per cent of the proposal, which check shall be forfeited to the City of Oakland should the bidder receiving the award fail within ten days to enter into a contract and furnish a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $2,500.00 for the faithful performance of the same.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the Board of Public Works.

N. W. SPAULDING JR., Secretary.

LEGAL.

ORDINANCE NO.—An Ordinance ordering the opening and widening of Fourteenth street, between Market street and Myrtle street, and appointing three Commissioners to assess benefits and damages and to have general supervision of the proposed work.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Oakland as follows:

SECTION I.

Whereas, Said Council did on March 16th, 1896, adopt its Resolution of Intention No. 22,011, declaring its intention to order the following work and improvement to be made, to-wit: That Fourteenth street, sometimes called West Fourteenth street, in the City of Oakland, be opened and widened to a uniform width of eighty feet between Market street and Myrtle street, describing the work to be done and the land and premises deemed necessary to be taken therefor, and specifying the exterior boundaries of the lands to be affected or benefited by said work and improvement and to be assessed to pay the damages, costs and expenses thereof, and

Whereas, The Street Superintendent of the City of Oakland did thereupon cause notice of the passage of said Resolution to be posted, also to be published, for ten days in the manner and as required by law; and

Whereas, Objections against said proposed work were filed by E. A. Kluge and A. Bruenn, et als., on March 28th, 1896, and Council fixed Monday, May 4th, 1896, at 9 o'clock P. M., in Council Chamber, City Hall, Oakland, Cal., as time and place for hearing said objections; and

Whereas, The City Clerk did thereupon, in accordance with law, notify the persons making objections of the time and place of said hearing; and

Whereas, The said Council, after hearing objections, did, on May 18th, 1896, overrule the objections and sustain Resolution of Intention No. 22,011, and

Whereas, The Council has acquired jurisdiction to order said work to be done;

Now therefore it is hereby ordered, that said work and improvement be done as aforesaid referred to, and as in said Resolution of Intention specially described.

SECTION II.

R. A. Jackson, D. McLeod and J. H. Macdonald are hereby appointed Commissioners to assess benefits and damages and have general supervision of said proposed work and improvement until the completion thereof in compliance with law.

SECTION III.

This Ordinance shall take effect immediately.

SECTION IV.

All Ordinances heretofore ordering the said work done are hereby repealed.

In Council, Oakland, Cal., Nov. 5th, 1896.

Passed to print by the following vote: Ayes—Messrs. Bassett, Brosnahan, Buckland, Dow, Heitmann, Kaufman, Manuel, Marshall, Towle and President Mott—10.

ORDINANCE NO.—An Ordinance changing and establishing the grades on East 21st street between 21st avenue and 23d avenue.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Oakland as follows:

SECTION I.

Whereas, The Council of the City of Oakland did, on the 8th day of September, 1896, by Resolution of Intention No. 22,434, declare its intention to change and establish the grades on East 21st street between 21st avenue and 23rd avenue, and directed the Clerk of the Council to publish for 10 days in the Oakland Tribune said Resolution of Intention, and

Whereas, Said Resolution was published for 10 days, describing the proposed changes and designating the limits within which the lots of land to be benefited should be assessed to pay any damages that might be awarded by reason of said changes, and

Whereas, No person has in any manner objected to the said changes or filed a petition asking for the appointment of Commissioners to assess the damages, if any, resulting from such changes,

Now therefore it is hereby ordered, that the grades on said street are hereby established at the points hereinafter named and at the elevations above base as hereinafter stated, in accordance with the petition filed on July 29th, 1896, of the owners of a majority of the property affected by the proposed changes of grades.

THE BATTLE FOR RELIGION.

Rev. James Small Tells How We Must Be Armed.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE SOUGHT.

Episcopalian Bishops in a Somewhat Novel Role.

Rev. James Small preached on "The Great Unseen Battle" at the Christian Church last night. He said: "A man has lived to very little purpose in life who does not realize that this world is a great theatre of moral conflict. Life is a battle. We are forever on the watch against our enemies, we are forever guarding ourselves and our lives, and forever watching our chance for attack on the enemy. So, we all live, if we are earnest men. We feel like what the boy said; it is the body under and the soul on top.

"In a battle there are the belligerent forces. If we ask who they are the answers are many. The men who are engaged in the mines, the sailor on the sea, and the farmer, are battling with the forces of nature. Then comes the merchant, he is battling with his competitor. Then comes the legislator, he is battling against corruption and bribery. Then comes the philanthropist, he is waging warfare against ignorance and wrong. Everywhere there are men fighting with their fate.

"The world is full of these ideas of battle. But here comes Paul and says in the language of the text: "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against power, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." But to be more explicit. There is the battle with self. Every man has a battle for himself and with himself. Himself the hostile enemy and himself the prize. There are verses enough in Paul's epistles which let us see that the struggle with himself was going on all the time, underneath the struggle with the men at Jerusalem and at Athens. While the foreign war was raging the home country was all up in arms. Is not the great conquest after all with self? Was not Luther right when he said: "I fear no Pope only pope self, for I have within me that great pope."

"But the two must go on together. For the man who is totally wrapped up with the war within him, the war with self for his own life, grows selfish and morbid and discouraged. The two must go together. Each keeps the other healthy and true.

"Fight with your own sin, and let that fight keep you humble and full of sympathy when you go out into the world and strike at the sin of which the world is full. Fight with the world's sin and let the needs of that fight make no aware how much is wrong, and make you eager that everything shall be right within yourself.

"There is the battle with poverty. A man told me the other day "I am absolutely too poor to be a church member. It takes me all the time now to keep the wolf from the door." The first obstacle religion has to encounter is not infidelity, nor depravity, but it is to get a hearing. Christ requires a hearing. This brings it into competition with everything else that wants a hearing. One of its most determined rivals is to get a living. Ninety per cent of the human race have to labor for that day's bread. Much of the time the occupation is uncertain, and the toiler has to carry burdens and his own insurance by diligence and hard work. And when it is all over one man in 200 dies worth $1,000. So that a living which can not be put off to a more convenient season is a powerful competitor of religion.

"There is a battle against evil habit. One thought at our Springfield Convention was the salvation of the young. Reformation is good. Salvation is better. Save them from bad habits when young.

"There is the battle against associated evil. There is nothing stronger. Bad books and bad companions will lead a young man down quicker than anything else. In youth we are like the tree frog that acquires the color of every thing it adheres to. We partake of the nature of those with whom we associate. The waters of a river may be sweet and pure before they reach the city, but after they have kept company awhile with drains and sewers, instead of purifying the drains and sewers they themselves have become poisoned and contaminated.

"There is a battle against aimlessness. Most of the youths growing up do not know why they are here or why they go to school. They who aim at nothing are certain to hit it.

"The secret of victory is in this battle. Make up your mind that the flesh can be conquered. There is a significant Scripture in Exodus XIV:30: "And Israel saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea shore." So it is with our enemies. We are not condemned to struggle with our Egyptians in desperate fight always, but we hope to see them some day dead like the Egyptians on the sea shore. The Egyptians that are tormenting us must die. This is the assurance which is possessing the heart of every true man and woman.

"If you really want to conquer you must form an alliance with the Son of God. You must be made a partaker of the divine nature. Christ in you is the only hope of your deliverance. You must possess His strength, His thought, His conception of things, His life, and this will surely enable you to come off victorious. Confess your weakness and go to him tonight for strength. Love for Christ that is the secret. The love that will bind you to God will be stronger than the allurement from without."

At the close, Mr. Small presented the claims of the Y. M. C. A and urged the young men of his congregation to join the Association.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman Presents Forcible Arguments.

Rev. E. S. Chapman pastor of the Market Street Congregational Church, espoused the cause of woman suffrage in a most eloquent manner during his sermon last evening. In commenting upon the defeat of the Sixth Amendment, Dr. Chapman said: "Good men, of course, voted against the measure, because if the good people had been for it it would have carried beyond any doubt. What shall we do now in this struggle for equal rights? In the words of my text, 'Be ye not afraid of men.'

"The cause of woman suffrage is a just, noble and righteous one. In the language of Speaker Reed a few days ago: 'There is no argument in favor of the right of men to vote which does not apply with equal force to that same right for women. There is nothing to be afraid of. Why should we be discouraged when we know we are in the right. Many of those who oppose our cause admit the justice of it. And no power can successfully contend against right and truth.'"

A LINE OF BISHOPS.

Rev. Marshall Law Advances a New Theory.

At the Church of the Advent last evening Rev. V. Marshall Law delivered a sermon upon the subject "From St. John of Ephesus to Bishop Nichols of California," in which he declared that the Episcopal Church was connected by an unbroken line of bishops to the days of John, Paul, Peter and James. In proof of his assertions, Dr. Law displayed a map which he had made of the geneological tree of the Episcopal Church. "This tree," he declared, "showed that the Church of England was no more indebted to the Romanists for their episcopal succession than were the United States indebted to Magna Charta for the Constitution of the United States. St. Augustine was not a bishop of the Romanist succession, and please salt that down where it will stay remembered. Those red lines over on the right show where the Roman line tapped the English line seventy-two years after St. Augustine arrived in England, at which time the Roman Vitalian was present at the consecration of English Theodore. At that time the Roman stream united with the sturdy English line, which up to this time had never been in episcopal contact with the Roman line."

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mrs. Dr. Gray Smith and daughters have gone to Baltimore, where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. J. M. Walker is visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. D. Price, in New York City. Mrs. Walker's many friends will be pleased to hear that she is recovering from a critical surgical operation.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Robinson of this city are among the guests at the Grand Union Hotel, New York City.

Mrs. J. F. Jordan and son Vanie are making an extended visit at Ballard, Washington.

Rev. R. F. Coyle and Mrs. Coyle left for Mexico last Wednesday. They will spend several weeks in the City of Mexico.

Mrs. M. F. Childs of Oakland is having a delightful time in Paris.

Mrs. John W. Coleman and Miss Jessie Coleman arrived in New York City last Thursday.

Walter Milnthorp of Oakland and Miss Maggie Orr of Auburn were married at the residence of the bride's father Sunday last in Auburn. Rev. Father Van Schie officiated. The happy pair departed for Oakland, and will make this city their future home.

Mrs. George W. McNear and Miss Bessie McNear arrived in New York City last Wednesday en route to Europe.

Miss Evelyn Henry gave a pleasant musicale at her home in Berkeley last Thursday evening.

Miss Pauline Fore, Miss Hobart and Joe Rosborough will be among the amateurs who will take part in private theatricals at the home of Mrs. R. A. Wellman on East Fourteenth street next Saturday evening, for the benefit of the Neighborhood Club. Miss Klink of San Francisco will read fortunes in the palms of the guests. Tickets may be had of Miss Ruth Palmer or Miss Ray Wellman.

Miss Mae Miller of 547 Knox place entertained a few friends at a Hallowe'en party. The guests, who were mainly composed of High School young ladies and gentlemen, were as follows: Misses Nellie Gross, Mabel Reed, Mabel Moore, Julia Summers, May and Blanche Walker, Lutie Ward, Fannie O'Neill, Bessie Miller, Myra Hallet, Ollie Bennets, Dot Boardman, Isabella Conrad and Messrs. Percy McGill, Clarence Reid, Seymour Phelan, Will Ward, Frank Thompson, Sam Bennets, Walter Keene, Harry White, Harry Tharsing, Bert Colgrove.

Miss Mabel Chubb and George T. Atchley were married by Rev. C. H. Hobart last Monday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 1176 Eighteenth street. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Chubb, and the groom is the assistant superintendent of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of San Francisco. The decorations for the wedding were very pretty and artistic. Miss Bessie Simmonds was maid of honor and W. S. West of San Francisco officiated as best man. The bride was very pretty in a gown of white Swiss muslin trimmed with Valenciennes lace and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums. Miss Simmonds wore white Swiss muslin, trimmed with pink satin ribbons, and carried a bouquet of La France roses. Mr. and Mrs. Atchely will spend their honeymoon in Stockton and San Jose. Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Chubb, Mr. and Mrs. C. Chubb, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chubb of Vacaville, Mr. and Mrs. Will Atchley of Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. Will Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Simmonds, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Hobart, Mrs. H. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Dingwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Chubb, Will Chubb, J. C. Spickermagle, Leslie Reid, Jack Burton.

Miss Flora Kendall, the clever organist of the First Unitarian Church, and an accomplished pianist, will be tendered a testimonial concert tomorrow evening at the First Unitarian Church by the Starr King Fraternity and the Friday Morning Club. Miss Kendall is a member of this latter organization and has contributed largely to the success of its weekly concerts. The recital tomorrow evening will be a society affair, as many of the patronesses are prominent in social affairs. An excellent programme has been prepared, which will include three numbers by Miss Kendall. Donald de V. Graham, the well known baritone, will be one of the soloists of the evening. He has a sweet, rich voice and is a favorite with San Francisco concert goers. The popular Friday Morning Club Quartette, composed of Mrs. H. P. Harries, Miss Margie Gaskill, Mrs. J. G. Allen and Mrs. H. P. Carlton, will sing several selections. Miss Little, whose sweet voice is greatly admired, will sing an exquisite German song especially suited to her voice.

greatest State in this nation, and that is why you have mental and physical superiority. Your progenitors were men and women of remarkable vigor.

"Mr. Bryan has said he would give this four years to silver. The South is for free trade. That's where Chairman Jones said he had 152 electoral votes and needed only a few more. The South had its black slave labor and became free trade because it did not dare to do anything else. They did not dare have a factory near the blacks because they might have learned that their labor was worth something. England took advantage with her usual astuteness, of the situation. Every penny of reduction you make in the tariff is a bonus to the foreign manufacturer. On the 2200 things that pay a duty labor has received a wage plus that duty and a great deal more."

Mr. Schoonmaker then launched into the tariff question and urged his hearers not to cease preaching protective tariff whenever the opportunity presented itself. He declared that in the face of circumstances, the carrying of California by the Republicans was as remarkable as it was pleasing.

"Now for four years the capital of the East has been itching to come here," the speaker continued, "but it feared Populism. I talked in Illinois where the Prince of Anarchists dwells. An anarchist is a man who wants to blot out everything from the American flag except the red. This man in Illinois made his reputation pardoning anarchists.

"Now since California has decided to remain on the side of national honor and integrity and that money invested in California is as safe as it is in New York, money will flow here so fast that you cannot use it.

"My friends, you having voted for McKinley and an American policy, you say that every man who has labor to sell shall be paid dollar for dollar in good money. You have also decided to undo the awful wrong of forcing the pensioners of the nation to take their pensions from the hands of those who made them pensioners.

"Let me say there is nothing in this silver business but an appeal to the discontented. Imagine Mr. Bryan as President with Altgeld as his chief adviser. Think of what we have escaped. There isn't a nation in the world that wouldn't put on sackcloth and ashes over McKinley's election except Russia. That's what is meant by President-elect McKinley."

When the applause had died away, Chairman Morrow rose and said:

"Fellow members of the Alliance Club I move that we make Mr. Schoonmaker an honorary member of our club. All in favor, say aye.

The loud chorus of ayes which followed testified to Mr. Schoonmaker's popularity. Then the Alliance slogun resounded through the hall and the boys were emphatic in announcing that Schoonmaker was "all right."

Mr. Shoemaker, responded feelingly. "I thank you," he said, " for the unexpected, yet very welcome honor. It is indeed flattering to be a member of such a fine organization as the Alliance Club and I shall always remember this testimonial as one of the most pleasant features of my trip.

"I hear that you boys intend to go on to Washington. I'll be there too and I guarantee that you will be gloriously treated. McKinley will be proud to have such a splendid body of loyal soldiers by his side and when I see him, I will tell him that the Alliance is "all right" as you say.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Schoonmaker paid a glowing tribute to the newspapers of the coast and to their workers.

"I am a newspaper man myself," he said, "and can appreciate the hardships and duties which fall to the lot of my fellow workers. To them much credit must be given, for to a large degree they help to mould public opinion. Newspapers are always right and newspaper men are good fellows. The California papers have helped much this campaign and have demonstrated themselves equal to the best in the land.

"I tell you, you Californians should be proud of yourselves and your beautiful country, I am in love with it and with you. I have said before that if my wife were only here with me, I would never think of going from you."

Again and again the "Hip! hip! rah!" echoed and re-echoed through the hall and the band joined in with a lively tune.

Mayor Davie then gave the key of the city to the visiting Angelenos. The key was the same one received by the Oaklanders in Los Angeles two years ago, though it then was garnished with silver. This time is was resplendent in a covering of gold and bore the following inscription: "Key to the Gate of the Athens of the Pacific. Presented to California's Noble Sons."

The Mayor made the tender to Colonel Munson of Los Angeles and in doing so said the duty was a great pleasure and that he hoped the visitors would make themselves at home. He called attention to the "handwriting on the wall, 5278 majority" and continuing, said:

"I have been a protectionist all my life, and with some mental reservation am in sympathy with Mr. Schoonmaker's remarks. I have studied for years the coal industry. The Wilson bill reduced the tariff. Was the price lowered to consumers? Not one cent. I believe in developing our own mines and placing a prohibitory tariff on foreign coals, wherever brought from. I have tried to do my duty but I have been harrassed on all sides by reformers who have nothing to reform."

LOS ANGELES REPLIES.

Colonel Munson then rose and on behalf of the Los Angeles visitors thanked the Mayor.

"I am glad to receive this key," he said "and I am thinking of the sport we will have two years from now, when we return it to Oakland. The splendid demonstration of tonight is cause for gratification and on behalf of my fellow visitors I want to thank you for our entertainment."

"I feel sure that we will be ready to guarantee a trip to Los Angeles at the close of the next campaign. I wish many more of our people had been here tonight to see and enjoy this great enthusiasm. It would make us thousands of votes; and the workers for the cause would have been increased by the hundreds."

W. R. DAVIS.

Chairman Morrow then introduced William R. Davis as one of the men to whom Alameda County owed much for the handsome majority given the Republican ticket.

GAL. THREE—BANQUET. nog

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Davis said: "We have been talking for sixty days and nights all the time for the physical and moral benefit we are to gain by this election, but man and not property is the thing. Money is the means to an end. It ought to be thus called. It is nothing else. This great California University at Berkeley is a part of the great system beginning with the barefoot boy who trudges over the dusty roads to his little schoolhouse. This is the beginning of the great American school system."

The speaker traced the growth of American institutions, and in conclusion declared that the development of man was the greatest of American industries.

Then several others spoke, among them being R. N. Bulla, Judge A. L. Frick and Frank P. Flint.

The feast of reason and flow of wit continued through the early hours of the morning, and when the gathering dispersed the visitors took with them, not only an excellent idea of Alameda County's hospitality, but a glowing impression of the Alliance Club—the crack political military organization of the whole State.

A pleasant feature of the proceedings was the election of John Britton, manager of the Gas Company, as a member of the Alliance. Mr. Britton, who, as one of the leading organizers of the Sound Money League, has done splendid work during the campaign, was in an interesting position. He has always been a Democrat, but this time worked and voted for McKinley. During a toast to which he responded during the course of the banquet, Mr. Britton said that his change of heart had been caused by the platform adopted at Chicago by the Bryanites. He could not stand the anarchistic sentiments expressed, so he took off his coat and worked for the Republican candidate.

At the conclusion of Mr. Britton's speech it was proposed to elect him a member of the Alliance, and the suggestion was received with tumultuous applause. Mr. Britton was thereupon unanimously declared a full-fledged member of the club.

Regarding the proposed trip of the Alliance to Washington, it was stated during a conversation at one of the tables that a banker of this city had declared himself willing to raise $5,000 towards the expenses of the trip.

THE TRUST AT AN END.

Wind-Up of the Legal Issues In the Merritt Case.

Proceedings Handled With Celerity in Judge Frick's Court.

The long drawn out litigation affecting the claims of James and F. A. Merritt upon the estate of their uncle, the late Dr. Samuel Merritt, was brought to a close in the Superior Court before Judge Frick last Saturday afternoon. It consisted in knocking out what is known as the Knowles trust, which, it is claimed, has operated with severity upon James Merritt and F. A. Merritt, and, as a consequence, $500,000 worth of property goes to the Purrington heirs. There is no doubt, however, that an agreement has been effected between those heirs and the Merritt nephews by which the latter will come into immediate possession of a large amount of property, which will afford a reasonable and satisfactory income.

The action was brought by H. P. Merritt and the heirs of Stephen Purrington, comprising J. S. Haskell, May J. Dalton, William L. Haskell, C. May Haley, Harriet S. Small, James W. Cone, F. J. Lovell, Willis M. Brown.

It was brought to declare the trust null and void because of the contest of Mrs. Garcelon's will by James and F. A. Merritt, and as a consequence to have the property included in the trust go in equal parts to H. P. Merritt and the Purrington heirs.

The history of the case goes back to the death of the late Dr. Samuel Merritt, who left an estate valued at $2,000,000. This estate was bequeathed to his sister, Mrs. Catherine Garcelon, the doctor's nephews, James and Fred A. Merritt, being permitted to select from the doctor's home simply a pair of family portraits, a privilege of which they declined to avail themselves. Mrs. Garcelon, however, decided to act a little more generously toward the young men. She gave them a trust deed to property valued at $500,000 and $125,000 in cash. In the deed, J. N. Knowles was named as trustee. By the terms of the deed the nephews were to enjoy the income from the property, and at their death the income was to go to their wives and children. A condition was imposed that the nephews at the death of Mrs. Garcelon should not contest their will. In the event of such a contest, the trust was to be declared void and the property was to revert to the estate of Mrs. Garcelon. Within a year Mrs. Garcelon died, bequeathing $500,000 to Bowdoin College and $500,000 for a hospital in this city.

The nephews brought suit to break Mrs. Garcelon's will, on the ground that at the time she made it Mrs. Garcelon was of unsound mind, and the case was tried in the Superior Court and later was passed on by the Supreme Court, and in both instances a decision was given against the contestant. The will of Mrs. Garcelon was further sustained by Judge Hawley in the United States Circuit Court.

In the early part of the present year Trustee Knowles died, and Attorney Emil Nusbaumer succeeded to the position.

That was the condition of the case till late last Saturday, when the plaintiffs and defendants alike appeared before Judge Frick. The complaint was filed, a couple of demurrers were made and overruled, and then an answer was filed in a very brief space of time. The voluminous record in the case before Judge Ellsworth was submitted to the court. Findings were waived on both sides, and then the decree was signed declaring the trust, latterly discharged by Mr. Nusbaumer, as null and void.

James Merritt was represented by A. A. Moore, Fred Merritt by George M. Williams, the Purrington heirs by H. C. Campbell, Harry P. Merritt by C. H. Lovell and Trustee Nusbaumer by George W. Reed.

A Tribute to Irish.

The Sound Money League of Oakland is figuring on a testimonial banquet or public meeting in honor of Col. John P. Irish, who has returned after his Eastern trip in behalf of the gold standard. He campaigned on the trail of Bryan and did good work for the cause.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache, Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.
